WET CITIES NOT HOPELESS, SAYS MRS. WILLEBRANDT

Co-operation of Federal and State Agencies Needed in Enforcement; 'Chee Chee's" Fall Traced

BY MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT

In this article Mrs. Willebrandt shows the obstacles which must be overcome before the liquor supply can be cut in the places where the need is greatest and the market most attractive to lawbreakers, namely, the cities. Here again politics raises its head, but victories already won in Attorney-General's office are held as hopeful signs for the future.)

Throughout the country there is an opinion prevalent that "it may be well enough to dry up the country and the small towns, but you will succeed in drying up the large cities."

It is a mistake, this belief has some foundation in fact. The bulk of the liquor traffic, as everyone knows, is in the larger cities. And that that traffic is of enormous size cannot be disputed. I have often been asked "How wet is the country under prohibition? What amount of liquor is being sold; how many speakeasies are there in the business."

These questions cannot be answered exactly, but we know that the country is certainly not one of dry as a desert. After only a few months of illegal liquor traffic there is more than enough money passing to a sworn enforcement officer to give to a bonding company the amount of money, which could not have been made in anything but the prohibition business. The city markets are in the hands of other millionaires who have grown rich on the profits of the liquor traffic. In one case, which I prosecuted, the bootleggers, we learned in open court, in three years they had grown from a small gang into a huge combination that controlled the government of the city. In another case, that is the record of the man who made $12,000 in taxes; another $212,000; the record of another owed $301,000; the record of another owed $500,000; the record of another owed $600,000; # CITIES WET BUT DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT FEASIBLE

Mrs. Willebrandt Says Men of High Type Can Curb Rum Traffic as Missouri Prosecutor Did

THE BIG LEAKS

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of prohibition, tells the inside story of the permit scandals which allowed the country to be flooded with industrial alcohol diverted for beverage purposes in her seventh article appearing tomorrow in The Times.

siege between bootleggers and corrupt politicians.

With the liquor operations are often combined other large city grafts. For instance, the United States Attorney at Chicago recently called my attention to some accounts seized in a Chicago Heights raid. These records constituted the book-keeping of income from slot machines only, and not from prohibition violations. The revenue over a period of three years, according to the books kept, was approximately $725,000 a year for these machines. This represented the result of slot machine operations in an area where there reside not more than 100,000 persons, a small suburban city in the southern part of Cook county. The record sheets that were seized showed in detail the revenue from each machine, and the division of the profits among the five racketeers who controlled this form of lawlessness.

STILL HOPE

The District Attorney, Mr. Johnson, said to me, "I have often wondered what the total figures might be, since there are about 4,000,000 people in this county, including Chicago, if every 100,000 population produced accordingly." We can only guess the aggregate profits from all the rackets in and near Chicago, but based on the spoils from slot machine operations alone, the total, including revenue from bootlegging, the operation of disorderly houses, and protected gambling establishments, would amount to $25,000,000 or more a year.

With possible profits of such enormous proportions, it will be seen why the job of prohibition enforcement is one of such magnitude. And the fact that those tempted to engage in bootlegging and allied activities know very well that even if apprehended the congestion of court calendars probably will give them many months to temporize and use political pull, or in the end opportunity to plead guilty and be "forgiven" with a fine of only a few hundred dollars or a term of only three or six months in jail, explains why the forces of lawlessness never lack for recruits.

FAR FROM HOPELESS

But the chances for law enforcement in the large cities are far from hopeless.

Such men as Mr. Johnson, the United States Attorney in Chicago, and Roscoe Patterson, former United States Attorney in Kansas City, Mo., and now Senator from that State, and Haveth Mau of Cincinnati, who sent literally two carloads (eighty-three) of city and county grafters to Atlanta, have proved that where there is determination to enforce the law, coupled with legal ability and high personal integrity, prohibition can be enforced like any other law to curb the operations of the criminal element of society.

The prohibition law has not given birth to any new element of lawlessness. It simply has attracted those who would in any event try to "beat the law" in some racket designed to make big money quickly. The proof of this lies in the fact that the names of Al Capone and others of his gang run through cases involving all of the many rackets. The same men who are involved in Chicago in the trade union rackets—by which legitimate business or organizations are forced to pay tribute or have their places blown up and their employees shot—are at the heads or in the ranks of the big liquor rings and involved as well in the slot machine graft, and the election fraud cases.

The type of men who descend in a swiftly moving automobile on the garage which is the headquarters of a rival liquor gang and exterminate them with a machine gun is the same as those who kidnap the poll watchers of the opposition party on election day, take them to a deserted house and kill them with a volley from sawed-off shotguns.

CO-OPERATION WINNING

And so, in Chicago, the United States Attorney has not made war alone on the bootleg ring. With the co-operation of the State Prosecutor, attack is being made, and successfully, on the whole army of the lawless.

The situation in Chicago exemplifies the difficulties in many other large cities. In the same county are ninety-two smaller communities. To one of these, Chicago Heights, there were sixty murders attributable in five years as a result of gang wars.

But when the wheel of political fortune brought into office an honest, efficient and determined United States Attorney and a State's Attorney of the same kind at the same time, law enforcement became far from a hopeless task. The information and assistants of each prosecuting officer's staff were freely exchanged. There is a co-ordination of effort similar to the co-ordination and welding of the Allied armies in the World War. When the forces of the law begin to work together instead of at cross-purposes or in an unrelated manner results are achieved.

LICENSES REVOKED

The influence and investigations of the State's Attorney obtained the revocation of the licenses of 1400 soft-drink parlors, 2864 speakeasies—places which had furnished a large part of the work for Federal officers charged with prohibition enforcement. The United States Attorney, with his limited force of assistants and investigators, and with only one out of three Federal judges available for trying criminal cases, could not hope to deal effectively with the racketeer gangs operating in the ninety-two smaller communities of the county. But the County Attorney, with his larger staff and indirect control over thousands of police, sheriffs and constables, could not only help to enforce the prohibition law but the State's liquor law, and the laws of the State which supplemented or were akin to Federal criminal statutes.

For instance, the Federal and State forces can co-operate with each other in cases involving the stealing of automobiles, liquor cases, the robbery of drug stores and other places containing post-office substations, the possession or sale of narcotics and robberies of or embezzlements from banks allied with the Federal Reserve System.

Then, too, when the State takes action where it has exclusive jurisdiction, such as in slot-machine gambling device cases, it often puts an end to joints which have also violated the Federal prohibition law. And the crooks who always asked a jury trial in Chicago, knowing that the State or Federal court docket was so crowded that such a request would bring about long delay, are now often disagreeably surprised to find that a Federal charge is substituted for a State one, or vice versa, and the desire for a trial by a jury of peers is thus promptly "gratified," and promptness was anything but what they wanted.

"CHEE CHEE" DODGES

For years Kansas City, Mo., was notorious as one of the wettest spots in America. One of the principal factors in that situation was Frank (Chee Chee) De Mayo, known far and wide as a "king of the bootleggers." He operated not only in Kansas City; he supplied liquor through his organization to bootleggers in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and other territory. He was bold enough to maintain an office in a building directly across the street from the Federal Building, the headquarters of the prohibition agents and the United States court.

His operations were so conducted through lieutenants and go-betweens that the regular force of prohibition agents could not—or did not—establish proof of De Mayo's own connection with the large-scale bootlegging operations that were flooding Kansas City and the Southwest with liquor. De Mayo's spotters and tip-off men gave warning of every trap set for him.

But when Roscoe Patterson took charge of the situation as United States Attorney he determined to bring Mayo to face the law. His first step was to obtain the detail to Kansas City of the keenest men in the Federal narcotic and prohibition investigating service. We exchanged many letters over this.

EVIDENCE HARD TO GET

De Mayo, himself, seldom handled either the money or the liquor. He largely directed the operations of a large force of makers and distributors of alcohol and whisky. Those who wanted liquor for wholesale or retail distribution might see De Mayo once and by him be placed in contact with the members of his organization, who actually handled the liquor and received the money. That made actual evidence hard to obtain on him.

But the special investigators wormed their way into De Mayo's confidence and obtained definite proof of his own participation in prohibition violations.

Even after the evidence was gathered the fight had just begun.

De Mayo was tried not once, but four times. Every legal obstruction was interposed in his behalf by a large staff of skilled lawyers. Three times conviction was prevented by the refusal of one of the jurors to agree on a verdict of guilty. Then additional investigations were made by Department of Justice operatives whom I finally was able to get assigned to the work, as well as prohibition agents, and we obtained evidence of attempted jury tampering.

The result was that when De Mayo again was brought to trial the jury which had been carefully guarded from outside approach even before it was selected and sworn in, and which was sequestered during the trial, brought in a verdict of guilty. De Mayo was sent to the penitentiary for three years.

MORAL EFFECT GOOD

Such a prosecution has a moral effect even more important than the immediate result of removing one man from active participation in violations. When the dozens of little bootleggers see their "king" go to prison in spite of the protection of political leaders and a swarm of high-priced criminal lawyers versed in every technical defense, the small crooks are frightened and either cease operations or seek other fields less dangerous. Furthermore, the public is aroused to desire and back clean government.

It was the skill, ability, courage and bulldog tenacity of the United States Attorney in Kansas City, Roscoe Patterson, which brought the important De Mayo case to a successful conclusion. The skill and resourcefulness of the agents who investigated the case and furnished evidence for the indictment would have been valueless without the services of a prosecutor determined to put guilty men behind prison bars no matter how often it might be necessary to try the case to expose jury tampering.

Prohibition can be enforced in the large cities if we can find more men of the type of Senator Patterson of Kansas City.

And such men can and will be found if political influence is disregarded or curbed by those who have the responsibility for appointments. Undoubtedly the cities are wet—but they are not hopelessly so.

(In her next article Mrs. Willebrandt will begin tracing the "big leaks," revealing the astounding abuse of the alcohol permit system and the power and corruption of the forces behind the alcohol steam roller.)

CHINESE SHOOT AT RUSS PLANES

Two Ships Reported to Have Flown Across Border

Patrols Fire, Contrary to Orders from Peiping

Red Craft Over Foe's Area for Hour and Half

BERLIN, Aug. 9. (AP)—A Telegraphen Union dispatch from Peiping says that two Russian airplanes flew over the Chinese border this morning and, contrary to Peiping's orders, were fired upon by Chinese border patrols. One plane made a forced landing on the Russian side of the border.

The planes were stated to have been over Chinese territory about an hour and a half.

TOKIO GETS ALARMIST REPORTS OF WAR DANGER

TOKIO, Aug. 9. (AP)—Newspapers here are publishing alarmist reports from Vladivostok and Manchuli of the danger of warfare as a result of the breakdown in Russian-Chinese negotiations over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The reports are largely discredited although soviet authorities maintain formal negotiations are impossible as long as soviet officials on the railway are not reinstated. Chinese representatives have attempted to arrange long distance telephones for carrying on negotiations but this has proved unsuccessful.

The Japanese Foreign Office believes resort to arms unlikely but that attempts to arrange formal negotiations will continue unsuccessful for some time.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN PARLEY DETAILS LEARNED

LONDON, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Details regarding the recent Anglo-Russian negotiations for resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries were obtained today from an authoritative source.

The soviets made some concessions about halting Red propaganda in the British empire in return for a guaranteed loan before M. Dovgalevsky, Russian ambassador to Paris, abruptly broke up the meetings with Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, it is now revealed.

The soviets agreed to end Communist propaganda in India but declined a similar undertaking in Persia or other Asiatic countries.

NO CHANGE IN PERSIA

In Persia, the soviet representative emphasized, the Russian interests are too deeply involved to permit a change in policy, nor could the Bolsheviks bind themselves to nonintervention in Afghanistan.

As for India, Russia, while willing to call a halt to its own propaganda and cease financing any sort of Communist movement there, refused to take the responsibility for what British Communists might do.

The Russian delegation emphasized that, although for diplomatic reasons the soviets are ready to end propaganda in the British Empire, they must necessarily always sympathize with the Communist movement wherever it is active.

M. Dovgalevsky demanded a loan from the British government in case diplomatic relations were resumed and it now is learned that the Labor Cabinet hinted that such a loan might be forthcoming.

BANK WILLING

It appears that Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, tentatively sounded the Midland Bank, which intimated its willingness to offer credits in the vicinity of $12,000,000 the first year.

Mr. Snowden, however, wanted an adequate guarantee from the Bolshevists and also refused to consider the loan unless Moscow offered to recognize the Czarist debts and pay something on them. The Russians finally consented to refund a portion of the prewar debt, but stated they were not ready to talk definite figures.

Great Britain finally proposed a sort of Dawes plan for Russia which would set an independent agency to control the Russian payments, but the soviets promptly rejected this.

Powers to Send Notes to China

LONDON, Aug. 9. (AP)—The British government, together with other interested powers, is about to dispatch an important note to the Chinese government on the question of abolition of extraterritoriality in China, it was learned here today.

The notes, which have been most carefully drafted after long preparation, are not identical but are similar in terms. The communications contain a reasoned statement of the position of extraterritoriality The contents will not be published until after the delivery of the notes to China.

Nun Gives Life to Save Others

PORTSMOUTH (Eng.) Aug. 9. (AP) Sister Celestine, acting mother superior of St. Patrick's Convent on Hayling Island, gave her life today to save sixty sick children and seven other nuns from fire which broke out in the island convent.

Sister Celestine, after discovering the fire, calmly directed the evacuation and then returned to the flaming building to make sure nobody had been forgotten.

She was overcome by the smoke and was found dead near the altar by firemen who arrived after all the other inmates had been saved.

ONE KILLED IN CEMETERY STRIKE RIOT

Unionist Gravedigger Shot in Attack Made on Bus Containing Workers

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—One man was shot dead when a crowd of striking gravediggers charged a busload of nonunion workmen near the Calvary Cemetery, Queens, today.

Stanley Zasadadniski, 25 years of age, of Brooklyn, one of the strikers, was the man killed.

Police said he was shot by Philip Nunsisto, a foreman of the Calvary Cemetery, who was on the bus with the cemetery workers. Nunsisto fired into the crowd of strikers when they started hurling bricks and stones at the bus as it entered the cemetery.

Between 600 and 700 men are involved in the strike at the Calvary Cemetery. First the gravediggers walked out and they were followed by members of the funeral drivers' union.

Strike demands are recognition of the union and an increase of about $2 a day in salary.

Attorney Sues Wife for Half of Inheritance

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Edmond E. Herrscher, San Francisco attorney with offices in the Russ Building, has filed suit in San Jose against his wife, Mrs. Erna Herrscher, who last year inherited more than $2,000,000 from the estate of her aunt, Mrs. Julia Grinbaum.

The suit, filed in secret on Tuesday, last, asks for an accounting for one-half of certain properties under agreement between husband and wife, and for an order restraining Mrs. Herrscher from selling or disposing of any of these properties until the court has decided.

Herrscher asserts in his suit that his wife agreed at the time of the lengthy litigation concerning the management of Mrs. Grinbaum's estate that if he would lend his legal talents to the case she would give him half of all the property she might receive as Mrs. Grinbaum's nearest of kin.

Warning Issued on Mussels and Clams for Food

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. (AP)—Dr. Walter M. Dickie, State Director of Health, today issued a stringent warning to the week-end coast vacationer to be on his guard against poisonous clams and mussels.

Dr. Dickie also announced the San Mateo coast has been quarantined against clams, as recent examinations showed these San Mateo shellfish have toxic fluids which indicate they are poisonous. The San Mateo, Marin and Sonoma county coasts are under quarantine against clams, and the coast from Monterey to Del Norte against mussels, Dr. Dickie said.

WAR LORDS GET ALL CHINA CASH

Foreign Creditors Left With Empty Hands

Military Leaders Issue Own Brands of Money

Famine Due to Plundering Rather Than Drought

BY FRED HOGUE

(The following is one of a series of dispatches being sent by mail from Fred Hogue, member of the Los Angeles Times staff, who is touring China and other parts of the Near West with a group of journalists under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation.)

PEIPING, July 11. (Exclusive)—Chiang Kai-shek, president of a republic in which the office of President has been abolished, has returned to Nanking.

Young Marshal Peng and his 1200 retainers, the best drilled and nattiest equipped troops in China, have passed out through the great wall on the way to Mukden. Gov. Yen of Shansi has added the wealthy and populous Province of Hopei, in which Peiping is located, to his "sphere of influence." It is "protected" by a division of Shansi troops commanded by one of his generals.

And what a trail of grief has been left behind! Three million dollars, including the revenues of the Peking-Mukden Railroad, have been turned over to Feng and Yen to pay their troops and the British creditors who had gathered here hoping to get something paid on account are left to depart empty handed.

ALL EMPTY HANDED

American creditors of the Peking-Hankow and the Peking-Suiyuan railways fared no better. Representatives of the General American Car Company, the Robert Dollar Company and the United States Steel Company were here to plead for some kind of an accounting on bills totaling millions for material supplied. But all they received were promises. Most of their bills are from seven to ten years past due; the lines are making an operating profit; but the surplus went again into the coffers of war lords.

An army in the field is a better collector than an attorney in an office.

Under the northern governments, before the Nationalists arrived from the south, some regard was paid to keeping pledges in nationally controlled projects, but the Kuomintang is following the example of Moscow. There is no paying teller at the foreign window in their banks.

Neither is there enough money left, after the war lords and others on the inside have taken their bit to pay cash for new equipment. I am attest to the condition of the Chinese national railroads for I have ridden over them. The engines are in a deplorable condition, the rolling stock antiquated and dilapidated and even the first-class sleepers smell to heaven.

Some of the branch lines are out of operation, and the main lines are preserved mainly for the movement of troops. Yet these main lines have more passengers and freight than they can handle. The Chinese are not finicky about the kind of coaches in which they ride; a flat car or box car without seats generally does service as a passenger coach. The lines make large profits, which seem to go mostly into the banks of the war lords.

EXPERT BANKERS

And the war lords are expert bankers. Each has a bank of his own in his capital, with branches in the cities of the territory over which he rules.

These banks issue their own currency, without any regard to a silver reserve back of it. This currency, when printed, is distributed by the division commanders of the armies among the native banks. To refuse to accept it at par is a penal or capital offense.

Foreign banks are protected by extraterritoriality from the oppression of the war lords, but the poor devils of native bankers are at their mercy. And these military despots play no favorites. They rob their own as unctuously as the foreigner.

NO NEW ISSUES

When the currency is forced on the native banks they pass it out in turn to their depositors. It has little value outside the domain of the reigning lord. The bills go from hand to hand, filthy, reeking with germs, the bits pasted together, until no one will accept them longer. The bank of issue will not give new notes for old.

I had some experience in Manchuria with the "Harbin dollar," issued by the bank founded by old Marshal Chang and continued by his son.

In Chang territory no money but the Harbin dollar may circulate. No native bank can pay out any other currency. No merchant can make change in any other money.

If yen or dollars are paid in, the bank or merchant must take them at once to a Chang bank and exchange them for Harbin dollars. The bills of the local merchants are periodically examined by Chang's men. If any foreign currency is found, the offender goes to prison, or is shot.

BROKER SHOT

Last year old Chang learned that some native money brokers in Mukden were discounting his Harbin dollars. His soldiers rounded up eight of them one afternoon, took them to Chang's headquarters and, after he had sufficiently reviled them, took them out and shot them.

Foreign banks, protected by extraterritoriality, do discount the Harbin dollars. The rate when I was in Harbin was three Chang dollars for one American dollar. The reserve back of them is a military reserve.

Naturally the native banks are haphazardous affairs. There are some wealthy Chinese banking firms but their headquarters are in the International Settlement at Shanghai, or in some other foreign concession. They do not trust their funds within the domain of the war lords. They do not favor the union of the foreign concessions.

If extraterritoriality could be abolished, the foreign banks outside the foreign concessions would come under the domain of the war lords; and any suits for recovery would have to be filed in courts presided over by Chinese judges appointed by the war lord of the district. So it is not surprising that the war lords—Chiang, Feng, Chang and Yen—are strong for abolishing extraterritoriality. Young China, students educated abroad, are pulling their chestnuts out of the fire.

MILITARY FAMINE

Neither is it surprising that there is dreadful famine in the land. Last year the farmers were despoiled of their harvest by the different armies. There was no seed wheat left for the planting. It is not a famine caused by flood and drought; so much as a military famine.

The Nanking government made a gesture to relieve the famine districts. A batch of bonds representing $5,000,000, American, were printed and deposited in the banks of the war lords, Feng excepted. He was held to be in armed revolt against the Nationalist government, so none of the bonds were allocated to Shensi and Honan, the two provinces where there has been an actual drought and where the conditions are the most horrible—a population of 30,000,000 with not enough food for 5,000,000.

RED CROSS INQUIRY

Chairman Bicknell of the American Red Cross arrived here yesterday, sent by the President, to report whether the famine is due to natural causes or to false political and economic methods.

During the present year the Red Cross has saved thousands of lives. There is a China committee headed by American bankers and business men. They buy the provisions and the Nanking government has co-operated to the extent of carrying the provisions for the famine districts free over the national railroads. The American relief money, I am told, does not go into the banks of the war lords, but to the actual relief of the suffering. How much of the Nanking government's $5,000,000 famine relief fund actually has gone to the relief of the famished is problematical.

Incidentally, my Rockefeller physicians are winning a notable victory over the parasites that took up their abode in my inner sanctuary. They assured me this morning that all but a few stragglers have been expelled, and that I can soon be on my way. The last two weeks have been so exciting here that I have enjoyed the experience even from hospital.

CENSOR BARS LUTHER FILM

Notable Englishmen Immediately Protest Against Ban on Historical Reformation Picture

[Copyright, 1929, by New York Tribune Company]

LONDON, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Several hundred guests who had been invited to a private showing of a new British film entitled "Martin Luther" arrived at the theater near Trafalgar Square today to find posted on the door of the theater a notice stating that the film had been banned by the censor. Confusion immediately ensued.

To demands for explanation from the management it was stated that the notice from the censor was received only late last night and that there was no accompanying explanation. Among the guests were the dowager Lady Wolseley and Rev. W. A. Limbrick, president of the Protestant Reformation Society, both of whom denounced the action of the censor.

Lady Wolseley and Dr. Limbrick declared that prejudiced members of the board of censors were responsible for the banning of the film, which is based on historical events in the life of Luther.

Tonight the council of the Protestant Alliance made public a letter written to the Home Secretary protesting the ban and declaring that: "It is felt that the prohibition of the film at the eleventh hour was caused by some influence of which the public is not aware. Matters of this nature should not be subject to the hasty decision of a board which has no official standing with the government, and whose chairman is known as a member of a church which would not look with favor on a film of this nature. We would like to add that in almost every film where religious ceremonies are portrayed the ceremonies take the form and nature of the Roman Catholic religion whose membership in this country is less than 1,000,000 of a total population of approximately 56,000,000."

Film goers in general are awaiting with interest the result of this letter of protest.

One Killed as Train Gunmen Steal $3000

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (AP)—A collector was killed, passengers were terrorized and $3000 was stolen tonight by three gunmen who boarded an Illinois Central suburban train at the Randolph-street terminal and fled after forcing the engineer to stop at Twenty-third street.

Delbert Suds, 33 years of age, the victim, had been making collections from local station agents along the railroad's suburban electric line, which runs from the downtown district along the lake shore to the southern suburbs. They had made a northbound trip and were on the way back for additional collections.

Just before the train reached Twenty-third-street station two of the robbers arose, approached the collector and displayed revolvers. Suds made a move to reach for his gun and was shot through the right eye, dying instantly. The robbers seized the money and fled.

Three Injured in Bay City Fire

SAN FRANCISCO Aug. 9. (AP)—Two firemen and a policeman were injured today fighting a stubborn fire in a building housing the Mutual Biscuit Company on Sixteenth street here today. The fire spread rapidly in the three-story structure and showered other buildings in the block with sparks.

Damage is estimated at $80,000.

Emigration and New Markets to Receive Attention

LONDON, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—J. H. Thomas, officially lord of the privy seal in the Labor government but really Minister of Unemployment, left London today for Canada to study ways and means of curing Great Britain's largest problem, alleviating the growing unemployment. He will remain in Canada until the end of September.

Mr. Thomas said before leaving that he not only intends to investigate the question of emigration of the British unemployed to Canada, but hopes to obtain concessions for British goods, thus indirectly relieving the labor situation here.

"I may be too optimistic, but I hope for the best," Mr. Thomas, who started his career as a laborer, said today before departing.

While in Ottawa he will confer with the Canadian Prime Minister and also meet the leading business men. Later he will make a tour of the great western agricultural regions.

QUOTA LAW TIED UP WITH TARIFF

Georgia Senator Links Sugar to Mexican Exclusion

Beet Growers Ask Open Door and High Duty, He Says

Doubts on Hiram Johnson's Stand Cause Uneasiness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—The movement to restrict immigration of laborers from Mexico was injected into the Senate today over the sugar tariff today by Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia.

Senator Harris served notice that the effort to obtain enactment of the Box-Harris bill to restrict Mexican immigration under the Immigration Quota Act, which would reduce Mexican immigration to about 18,000 a year, will be continued and opposed American beet sugar producers for employing this type of labor.

Harris's purpose apparently was to throw the light on the sugar tariff bill that being made by himself and a small group in Congress for restriction, to the advantage of the latter movement. The tariff question will again come up in the regular session beginning in December, but in view of the strong opposition to restriction on the part of the Labor and State Department it is extremely unlikely any legislation will be passed.

"PROBLEM" SOLVED

Officials, the State and Labor Departments are piling up additional proof that they can handle any "immigration problem" by merely speeding up on border patrol. Figures released today show that during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, immigration from Mexico fell off 32 per cent. Part of this reduction was due to the last six months of the year as it was not until last winter that the State and Labor Departments, through their consular and immigration agents, put into effect the present policy of more rigid inspection of Mexicans applying for entry. The number of Mexicans coming to the United States for the fiscal year was 40,154, compared with 59,016 in 1928. At the same time deportations of Mexicans increased from 8,409 in 1928 to 9,467 in the fiscal year just ended, working hand-in-hand with the State and Labor Departments, the new law providing that aliens once deported never can enter the United States has been increased not legally in this country to go back to Mexico, there is small opportunity to enter

REED SEES LIGHT

What this will mean on the part of the labor and immigration authorities that has caused Senator James A. Reed, Republican, of Missouri, to desert Senator Hiram Johnson in the fight for Mexican exclusion, and in the last Congress to join with Hayris in the Senate Immigration Committee on behalf of the Box-Harris bill. He said that Mexicans were pouring into the United States of his State and taking jobs away from Americans.

Johnson, observing the retirement by the State and Labor Departments, the Pennsylvania Senator came to the conclusion that the bill, by legislation, which is offensive to the country south of Rio Grande, was not necessary and he announced this conclusion in a public statement. The withdrawal of the cause by Reed, who is one of the leaders on the Democratic side of the Senate, removed a source of strength from the ranks of the restrictionists, and contributes to making their fight hopeless in so far as the near future is concerned.

HOW ABOUT HIRAM?

There is considerable speculation as to what interested in the Mexican question as to what attitude Senator Hiram Johnson of California, chairman of the Senate Immigration Committee, will take when the matter is again brought before the committee. Being frankly a Johnson is familiar with the fact that the farming industry of the State depends upon Mexican labor; and he also is aware that Mexicans employed there do not compete with American workmen, and that the "Mexican problem" as viewed by proponents of the Box-Harris bill is mostly bugaboo.

Despite this, Johnson last session showed little if any interest in restricting the Mexican immigration in its true light and in opposing back restrictive legislation. The fate of the legislation now before committees during the session of Congress will depend largely on whether he opposes it or not, and how he is about it.

A statement issued today by Senator Harris follows:

HARRIS PLATFORM

"We can defend the exorbitant duty on sugar in the tariff bill which is claimed as necessary to sustain this industry. It is far more expensive to the consumer and to the public for the government to pay a bounty to the beet sugar producers. This would tax the people very little compared with this exorbitant duty proposed on the tariff bill.

"Sugar producers are not satisfied with this exorbitant tax, but they greatly raise the cost of sugar and increase the cost of living to every person in the United States, but they are demanding that the immigration laws be changed so that many thousands of cheap Mexican laborers may come into this country and work in the beet sugar farms. This cheap Mexican labor will come into competition with American labor and will force it to work for wages which will necessitate the lowering of the standard of living of the American working man.

ON THE OTHER FOOT

"While Mexican labor is responsible for a production produced, the price of cotton is a pound. It is far more important to protect the millions of American laborers and consumers of beet sugar producers.

"I am interested in raising the price on sugar to protect the beet industry have opposed placing Mexico under the sugar quota, which would admit thousands of Mexicans to this country instead of 75,000 that cheap Mexican labor is necessary to the beet

Two Hurled Out of Car And Other Driver Gets "In Bad"

Two policemen yesterday were hurled out of a squad automobile when it was rammed in the rear by another car while the officers were halted by traffic on Pico street at West Boulevard.

When the policemen, Churchill and Kinder of the Georgia-street division, had scrambled up after being bumped fifteen feet ahead, they arrested L. G. Beverly, 33 years of age, an advertising man of 6078 Franklin avenue. His car was wrecked by the impact. In it the officers report they found a bottle of gin.

They took Beverly to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Lopovich certified he had been drinking. Beverly was booked for reckless driving, possession and transportation of liquor.

RED LETTER AWARDED TO CALIFORNIA

State's Namesake Wins Efficiency Prise Among Battleships of Navy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—The U.S.S. California, flagship of the battle fleet, showed the greatest improvement in engineering during the year ending June 30, last, it was revealed today by the Navy Department in announcing results in the engineering division of the battle-efficiency tests to which America's war vessels annually are subjected.

For its achievement the California wins the privilege of painting a red "E" on her foreward smokestack and the personnel of her engineering department are awarded prise money. The vessel competed in the battleship class. Capt. C. C. Bloch is the California's commander and Lieutenant-Commander H. A. Seiller her engineer officer.

In the same class, the engineering trophy for general first place in this competition was awarded the U.S.S. Wyoming, flagship of the scouting fleet.

The Raleigh, which has been in European waters as flagship of the naval forces there, was awarded first in the light cruiser class.

The red "E" was awarded to the U.S.S. Milwaukee, which has been on temporary duty with the Asiatic Fleet, for attaining 98 per cent of the Raleigh's merit in the same class.

In the cruiser class, the aircraft carrier Langley stood first. In the same class the Galveston was awarded the greatest improvement prize.

The Somers, Division 31, battle fleet, stood first in the destroyer class, and the McCawley came within 2 per cent of the winner.

One Expires and Three Ill After Meat Poisoning

SOMERSET (Ky.) Aug. 9. (AP)—A boy who took home meat he had been hired to throw away was dead today from eating part of it, and three members of his family were seriously ill.

The boy, Samuel Stevens, 12 years of age, died yesterday. His grandmother, Mrs. William Stevens, is not expected to live, and two brothers, 10 and 4, are reported in a serious condition. His grandfather, who also ate the meat, is ill but will recover.

Investigation revealed that the boy had been given 10 cents to haul away discarded meat from a chain store. He found some hamburger in the lot, took it home and it was cooked and served by the grandmother.

Ice Cream Wage Walkout Begun

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (AP)—Demanding increased wages and better working conditions, 500 men and women workers in thirty-five ice-cream factories of Chicago went on strike today.

The workers voted the strike last week and awaited warm weather as a condition favorable to their program.

Officers of the ice cream makers' and helpers' union have demanded a minimum of $80 a week for skilled workmen, $27 a week for women packers, and a graduating scale for other classes.

McKeon cut the other loose and managed to pull the plane out of a tail spin before it reached earth.

PRUSSIA TRYING NEW PENAL IDEA

Education of Convict Sought, in Lieu of Punishment

'Conditional Pardon' Another Feature of System

Prisons and Penitentiaries Distinct Institutions

With widespread crime persistent in the United States, it is of interest to see how Europe deals with crime and criminals. Accordingly an investigation of foreign prisons and penology systems has been made by the North American Newspaper Alliance. The results are given in a series of dispatches, of which this is the sixth.

BY HENRIETTA W. BINGHAM

BERLIN, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Although the principle of educating rather than degrading criminals is finding widespread support in Prussia, even today a convict may lose his civil rights.

An increasing number of "conditional pardons" is being granted to save the early offender the stigma of prison.

Recidivism is only 20 per cent and prison population dropped from a daily average of 70,000 in 1923 to 32,000 in 1928.

In Prussia as in all Germany penitentiary and prison are distinct institutions. A darker stigma, often accompanied by loss of civil rights, attaches to the penitentiary.

There are minor differences in the treatment of the two classes of prisoners. Prison dress is blue or gray; that of the penitentiary is brown. Prison convicts may smoke; those of the penitentiary must not, save in exceptional circumstances.

LABOR DISTINCTIONS

Eight to nine hours' daily work is required of prison inmates, nine to ten hours in the penitentiary. Those in prison don't have to do agricultural work; penitentiary convicts have no choice. But in respect to individual treatment no distinction is made.

In 1914 there was a daily average of 47,000 convicts in the penitentiaries and prisons. In 1923 the number had increased to 70,000. This was due largely to abnormal conditions in Germany then.

In days when it took millions of marks to buy a stamp and housewives lined up before shops by the thousand, hoping through an all-day vigil to obtain a quarter-pound of something to stave off hunger, no wonder prisons were crowded with wretches who took what came their way without regard to the legal aspect.

As soon as the mark was stabilized the number of prisoners lessened. The year 1924 showed a daily average of 54,000, and in 1928 there were only 32,000.

CONDITIONAL PARDONS

Various causes contributed to this sharp drop—15,000 below 1914. The conditional pardon granted an ever-increasing number of smaller offenders doubtless plays an important role. Probation of three to five years, according to the crime, is allowed. If within this time the culprit's conduct is exemplary he is not compelled to serve his term. But if he transgresses in any way during this period he must serve the entire time of the first sentence, in addition to the second.

The Prussian Ministry of Justice regards this innovation as productive of very good results and hopes for further decrease in crime through persistent, intelligent application of modern theories.

The old idea of revenge for crime has passed. It is no longer the aim of penitentiary and prison to disgrace or degrade the prisoner, but to educate him. The prisoner must not be treated as an outcast, but he is educated along lines best enabling him to cope with life when released.

TAUGHT TO WORK

Imprisonment must be utilized in every way to convert the criminal into a law-abiding citizen. He must be taught to work, but this must not be regarded as punishment. He must be brought to see that work is essential to success in life. Hence all work required of him must have a constructive, positive value.

An important, recent advance in Prussian penal administration was the introduction of the gradation system. The basic idea is gradually to moderate the rules of prison life and to increase the freedom of the prisoner according to diligence and good behavior. Every prisoner starts in Grade No. 1. Those in the penitentiary remain in this grade at least nine months, those in prison at least six months, juveniles at least three months.

No privileges are granted during this time. At the end, if general behavior admits, the prisoners are promoted to Grade No. 2. In this grade various privileges are granted. The prisoners may have visitors, write letters more frequently, receive packages on their birthday anniversaries as well as at Christmas, have mirrors on their cell walls and photographs of family and friends; also they may have a plant to cultivate. Sunday afternoons they are allowed an hour's chat in a common sitting-room without supervision.

The third grade gives very considerable liberty. Receiving visitors, the prisoners may wear their own clothes instead of prison dress. They may spend three marks a month on additional food. During the entertainment hour they may listen to the radio or play games. They may have light in their cells till 10 o'clock. Also a certain amount of self-government is allowed, whereby they appoint their own officers, held responsible for order.

WOMEN'S PRISON

These facts I obtained from the Prussian Ministry of Justice. A permit was given me to visit a women's prison, a formidable, barred-window building in the heart of Berlin.

I was escorted into the office of the superintendent, a refined, intellectual-looking woman belonging to one of the oldest aristocratic families in Germany. She conducted me through the huge prison. Scrupulously clean it was, with an abundance of light and air. I saw women at work in the kitchen, in the laundry, washing windows, painting walls. I saw their individual cells, the bathrooms, school, hospital, chapel, exercise grounds. I took a bit of their dinner—it tasted good. Certainly it was wholesome. Beef stew with potatoes and sauerkraut, well cooked, well seasoned. For the sick there was boiled rice with sugar and milk.

Style Dictator Will Sail to Modern-Mode Mecca

Maybe She'll be Boss-ess in Manhattan Some Day

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

PARIS, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—The future center of feminine fashion is destined to be New York, not Paris, according to Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, former wife of Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, who is sailing for America tomorrow in order to help transplant the scene of style dictatorship.

"For many years the fashion center has been gravitating toward New York," she said today. "The women of Park avenue are better dressed than the women of the Rue De La Paix.

"What America needs is not a slavish imitation of styles originated by French couturiers, but styles of its own as expressive of its own life as the skyscraper and jazz music. This evolution is slowly taking place, but needs some one to direct it to create real American fashions."

Duchess Marie intimated that despite her Russian origin, she is the "some one" who is going to do the job. She was in New York a year and was so impressed that she hopes to spend the rest of her life there. The Duchess, who is attractive and still under 40 years of age, came to Paris a dozen years ago, starting the vogue of Russian embroidery, for the production of which she employed refugees. In New York she is to be associated with Bergdorf Goodman on Fifth avenue.

Death of Prohibition Agent in River Investigated

DETROIT, Aug. 9. (AP)—John M. Heath, aboard whose cruiser Richard J. Sandlands, Federal prohibition agent, is believed to have fought before his death in the Detroit River, early Saturday, was arrested at the Michigan Central Station by special customs agents this morning as he stepped from a Chicago train. Heath was taken to the District Attorney's office for questioning.

Heath, a Detroit elevator mechanic and skipper of the cruiser "Maxine," had been missing since Sandlands disappeared Monday night. He gave his version of the affair to Federal authorities through his attorney and made an appointment to appear in person the next day. When he failed to appear a search was instituted for him by Federal and local officers who redoubled their efforts after Sandlands's body was found floating in the Detroit River early Wednesday.

This action follows payment of $30,000 by Massee.

BUNKO VICTIMS CHASE CLARKE

New York Federal Building Scene of Wild Dash

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—James Rae Clarke, senior partner in Clarke Brothers defunct private bank, today was sentenced to eight years in the Federal prison in Atlanta on his plea of guilty to a Federal indictment charging use of the mails to defraud.

A crowd of angry depositors led by a middle-aged woman who screamed, "You took my money!" chased Hudson Clarke, Jr., one of the younger partners in the bank, through corridors of the Federal Building today and forced him to seek refuge in a corner of the postoffice money-order department.

Philip L. and Hudson Clarke, Jr., brothers of James Clarke, and Bouker, each was sentenced to one year and one day in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. The sentences of Philip Clarke and Bouker were set to begin Monday, while that of Hudson Clarke, Jr., was commuted to two years probation. All had pleaded guilty to both Federal and State indictments.

"I Never Knew There was Such a Place"

60 Boulevard Minutes from Hollywood

"What a beautiful lake!"

"Imagine! A spot like this only a short drive from Los Angeles!"

"Why haven't we heard of Lake Sherwood before?"

Thousands have thus expressed themselves since Lake Sherwood Estates, the new, all-year, outdoor, freshwater playground was opened to the public 30 days ago.

This idyllic setting, 32 miles out Ventura Boulevard from Hollywood, had long been held as a private estate. Only the great motion picture companies had made use of its gorgeous virgin beauty.

Now you can have a part of this natural Eden as your own. You can own a bit of the scenic splendor you saw in such plays as Robin Hood — Don Juan — Tess of the Storm Country — Red Eagle — Ashes of Vengeance — What Price Glory — Hearts in Dixie.

Come up this week and secure for yourself a villa site on Lake Sherwood. Build a lodge for recreation, or a permanent home as others are doing. Don't miss this opportunity to own a part of Los Angeles' most beautiful, closest-in, restricted, fresh-water playground.

Warm Winters
Quarter-Acre Estates
$1000 and up

Villa Sites are large, a quarter-acre or more. All are served by roads, electricity and water. Each carries with it a membership in Lake Sherwood Country Club, with full privileges of Sherwood Lake, Sherwood Forest and the beautiful new $75,000 clubhouse. Architectural restrictions, enforced by an art commission entirely divorced from the selling organization insure an enhancement of beauty and a guarded environment.

Tennis, horseback riding, boating, swimming and fishing are some of the sports to be enjoyed. In the great 2500-acre empire surrounding you will find majestic hilltops, oak-clustered hillsides, fern-covered canyons, and wide open valleys where beauty and quiet reign.

Call HOllywood 1191... and ask for the privilege of picnicking with your family in quaint Sherwood Forest, at the edge of Sherwood Lake. Plenty of pure water. Protected fire-pits. Music every Sunday afternoon.

BYRDITES HAVE BOOKISH FEAST

All Manner of Volumes Get Readers Attention

son. This beautiful story has been passed from hand to hand all winter, and some are still waiting for it. Whether it is the exotic setting in the South American jungle, which is so great a contrast to our life or the characterization of the book itself, it has been a joy even to those of us who have read it for the second or third time.

DONN BYRNE POPULAR

The most widely-read author is probably Donn Byrne, although Joseph C. Lincoln—an odd contrast—runs him a close second. Byrne's poetic fancy seems to strike a responsive chord in most everyone here. And Lincoln's stories of Cape Cod, with their atmosphere of quaint people and comfortable homes, makes us homesick. Conrad is read a great deal, and so are Mark Twain and Booth Tarkington.

The greatest reader probably is Harold June, the Navy aviation pilot, who devours books, mostly stories of adventure and activity. Tom Mudrey, the chief engineer, is not far behind and close to him are Frank T. (Taffy) Davies, the physicist, Dean Smith, another flyer, Kenneth Bubler, an aviation mechanic, and Charlie Lofgren, our personnel officer.

The last three wander widely in their reading. But nearly everyone reads a good deal and there is only one who has not read at all, this being Christopher Brasthen, a seaman and all-man, who has been building a boat.

ODDEST FANCY

But Brasthen's bunk-mate, Arthur Walden, the veteran dog driver, has perhaps the oddest fancy in camp. One finds in his selections Castiglione, Chaucer, "Muses Pageant" the "Chief Sage" and "Peer Gynt." One book which for a time caused a lot of discussion was Konrad Bercovici's "Alexander," which went the rounds and caused numerous arguments as to whether Alexander was that sort of a man and how Bercovici knew so much about him.

But everyone liked it and when they started it they could not put it down until it was finished. It stopped Commander Byrd's work a day or two.

The commander has two weaknesses in reading—philosophy and detective stories. He sticks to philosophy most of the time but now and in a while he gets off on a swift detective story reading and dozing in to browse around and fing one he has overlooked.

"This is awful," he says, "I mustn't get this habit again," but for a few nights he will take a new murder to bed with him and try to figure out who did it and then swear off for a while.

DETECTIVE FEVER

We all get the detective-story fever occasionally and rummage through the shelves in the hope of finding a new one. Just now Larry Gould is going through a spell of criminal hunting as an antidote to his usual diet of poetry, Shakespeare, the Bible and books like "Green Mansions," "Messer Marco Polo" and the "Crock of Gold," by James Stephens.

Incidentally the reception of the "Crock of Gold" is one of the most interesting studies down here. Nobody just likes it. They either rave about it or don't like it at all. And for some it is an ever-failing delight.

Another odd thing is that so few read Kipling or Dickens although we have an excellent set of each. It is probably because so many already have read both so often. But that cannot be the only reason.

The set of Harvard classics is used a great deal and for some reason a set of "Modern Eloquence" volumes containing modern speeches has appealed to some very much. And the Encyclopedia Brittanica and the World Almanac bear the marks of hard usage.

That Encyclopedia exercised a curious fascination on a few when it first was opened and one man rashly stated that he was going to read it all through. He started but didn't get very far.

GOOD POLAR LIBRARY

The polar library is unusually good for Commander Byrd searched for a long time to get some of the books which now are difficult to purchase. It contains volumes of both North and South polar exploration.

That fascinating work of Nansen's, "Farthest North," which is unique, is one. Then there are the books of Peary, Greely, Amundsen and Rasmussen on the north and those of Charcot, Scott, Shackelton, Mawson, Amundsen and others on the south.

The best story is generally conceded to be Shackelton's "South," but Scott's splendid story, "Voyage of the Discovery," and Mawson's book as well as Cherry Garrard's "Worst Journey in the World," are read a good deal.

There always is some one looking through the pages of some story of Antarctic adventure and a few men have read little else. Their books mean much more down here than they ever did in civilization for only after living here is it possible to appreciate what the men of those expeditions went through. But of course the polar book most carefully studied is that of Amundsen, for we live near Framheim, his base, and his route to the Pole will be that of our southern sledging party to the mountains and also the route of Commander Byrd's flight to the Pole. There are many other books, thirty of them at least, devoted to the polar regions, the Arctic books going as far back as the cruise of the Belgica.

MANY OTHER BOOKS

We also have the largest part of the Everyman's library—some of it having been injured by water on the way down—and the Haldeman Julius blue books are scattered in every bunk.

Nearly every man has a book shelf over his bunk in which he keeps a few books of his own, favorites which he likes to turn to again and again in quiet moments and these are borrowed occasionally on the solemn promise that they will be returned.

There is little that a man cherishes as much as the books he carries with him, and some of these have been in strange places. Larry Gould has some he had with him in Greenland and Baffin Land and Dr. Coman has some books which he carried in the trenches during the four years he was with the French army as a private soldier.

AMUNDSEN BOOKS

Martin Ronne, the sail maker, who was with Amundsen, has some of Amundsen's books in Norwegian, which the explorer presented to him and some Norwegian magazines and newspapers which he pores over at times. He can read English a little, but not enough to enjoy it. The only English book he has read is Commander Byrd's "Skyward."

Bernt Balchen's private library consists almost entirely of works on aerodynamics and airplane engineering and from after dinner until he goes to bed he generally is busy with his slide rule and cross-section paper. He reads occasionally polar books, consisting of Nansen's the Sagas, or some of the humorous books of which we have a good number.

Reading has filled a large part of our life this winter and the library is as good as could have been chosen. It offers opportunity for study as well as amusement and it is astonishing how many men have been studying very seriously this winter.

CAPITAL INTERESTED BUT SILENT ON SLUMP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Official Washington looked on with mounting interest but in complete silence today as yesterday's increase in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate produced its series of repercussions in the security markets of the world.

The absence of official interpretation of the rate increase was in accordance with the tradition of the Federal Reserve Board not to comment during periods of financial transition. The board met today but made no announcement of the topics under discussion.

CLEWS AT HAND

In the background, however, were certain elements which appeared to disclose partially what may have prompted the change from 5 to 6 per cent in the rediscount rate of the New York bank, and to indicate some of the things which may follow within the reserve system itself.

It was recalled that usually an increase by the New York bank has preceded similar step-ups in the rediscount rates of the other regional banks of the system. It was pointed out also that seasonal purchases in the open market of commercial bills and acceptances, financed by the funds of the board, sometimes have served to cushion the shock of these increases. Recently such purchases have increased.

PUBLIC MUST GUESS

The board left the financial public to look between the lines for the reason the New York rate was boosted at the very moment when the usual index to public interest in stock-market speculation, brokers' loans, produced for the first time a weekly total above $6,000,000,000. The law under which the Federal Reserve banks operate makes such loans specifically ineligible to the rediscount privilege, and the amount of banking funds in consequence going into the field has not increased materially.

With the steady maintenance of high interest rates for collateral loans, however, there has been built up by private and corporate money lenders a volume of non-banking funds now in excess of $3,000,000,000 for stock exchange lending. It has been the obvious effort of the board and of most banking organizations throughout the country to maintain a level of interest for loans to business borrowers at 6 per cent or below, though borrowers on collateral have been willing to pay 10 per cent and more.

LONDON LOSES GOLD

The international effect of high interest levels current in the United States also is a factor. Gold has been flowing to this country from all points of the world, notably from London in response to the magnet pull of high interest rates and the Bank of England particularly has been a loser of gold.

The French Central Bank has been conserving a very large gold stock, although some of its stock is understood at present to be used in American money markets. German rates of interest are higher than those in the United States and have been so for many months.

In Senate and House discussions, however, legislators, defending the Reserver Board, have placed the burden of blame for high interest on the speculative activities and have advanced tentative legislative proposals for restricting operations so labeled.

Medical Witnesses Attack Premeditation Theory

Hammer and Knife Wounds Both Blamed in Death

Confessed Killer Worn Down by Ordeal on Stand

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 9. (AP)—Four medical experts were introduced by attorneys for Dr. James H. Snook in his first-degree murder trial late today to discredit the charge that he premeditated the killing of his co-ed mistress, Thelora K. Hix.

When Dr. Snook had brought to a close three consecutive days of testimony, in which he denied any remembrance of slashing the girl's throat after beating her with a hammer on the night she was killed, June 13, last, the expert witnesses were called.

Each of them testified as to a description of the hammer wounds on the girl's head and the knife wound on her throat. They said they could not tell which of the wounds had caused her death. Their opinions were an attack on the assertion that Dr. Snook deliberately severed the jugular vein of his young mistress to put her out of misery. The witnesses were Drs. Jonathan Ferenseu, I. B. Harris, L. H. Vanbuskirk and Eugene McCampbell, all Columbus pathologists.

ORDEAL ON STAND

Dr. Snook was excused from the witness stand, somewhat tired from his fight against the questions of Prosecutor Chester.

Snook repudiated nearly every detail of a confession obtained from him one week after the girl's mutilated body was found on the New York Central rifle range, and adhered persistently to the story he told yesterday, when he said his mind went blank after he had struck Miss Hix four times with a hammer.

To each resounding question of the youthful Prosecutor and Chester's allusion to the conflict between his testimony and the details of his signed confession, Dr. Snook answered with an emphatic denial or an "I don't remember."

Chester handed Dr. Snook the blood-stained hammer that was used in the killing and told him to demonstrate on the arm of the witness chair the force of the first blow he said he inflicted to loosen the girl's grasp on him as they sat in his automobile on the darkened range. The defendant toyed with the murder weapon and answered that the blow was so light he could not demonstrate it.

BLOWS ILLUSTRATED

"Then indicate the force of the next two blows," instructed the Prosecutor, referring to the doctor's testimony that he struck the girl twice as she was getting out of the machine, supposedly with the intention of shooting him. The witness made a light tap with the hammer.

As Chester's command he stood up before the jury and illustrated the "hard blow" that landed on the girl's head just behind the ear as they struggled outside the car. This was the wound which the defense asserts caused the co-ed's death, and not the throat slashing, of which Dr. Snook said he has no recollection.

With an unimpressive swing of the hammer the defendant remarked:

"That was the blow that knocked her flat."

MORE SEA FLIGHTS IN PROSPECT

Five Soviet Flyers Start Second Lap on Journey as Others Prepare to Hop

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—Following closely on the successful trans-Atlantic flight of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, a new series of trans-oceanic flights by airplanes appears in prospect today.

Five soviet flyers took off today on the second lap of a 12,200-mile flight from Moscow to New York, via the Aleutian Islands. Their amphibian plane, the Land of the Soviets, made the first 1368 miles at an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, Dieudonne Coste and a Swiss flying combination of three men are preparing for flights from Europe to New York. While Coste merely announced he will take off on a "long-distance flight" it generally is assumed he will head for New York.

The trio of Swiss airmen, Kaeser, Tscochopp and Luscher, left Le Bourget Field, near Paris, yesterday for Lisbon, Portugal, to await a favorable opportunity for a take-off. They hope to reach New York in forty hours.

Proposed Labor Law in Mexico Stirs Employers

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—The Mexican Light and Power Company and the Mexico Tramways Company, Canadian interests serving Mexico City and vicinity, will incur a yearly loss of 3,000,000 pesos if the proposed labor law goes into effect, declares G. R. G. Conway, managing director of both companies, in a statement that it is anticipated will be followed by others from representatives of large foreign labor employers in Mexico.

Only one solution to meet this deficit is seen by Conway and that is great economies in personnel and service, which would "not be in the interest of the public." Conway says that the proposed new labor law now before Congress for action, unless considerably modified, will not work out in the interest of the workers.

State Workers Who Drive Cars Will be Insured

ITALY HAS NEW BOOK BAN

American and Russian Writings on Barred List Because of "Bad Effect" on Fascist Youth

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—American and Russian literature makes bad reading for the youth of Italy, the Ministry of the Interior has decided, placing the works of Jack London, Tolstoi, Turgeneff, Gorky and Dostoievsky on the proscribed list.

Book sellers are instructed not to place the books of those authors on sale because they are "polluting the moral climate in which Fascist youths must be nurtured."

Acting on the instructions of the Ministry of the Interior, the police of several cities confiscated copies of the banned American and Russian books with such zeal that a protest was raised by the Federation of Italian Book Sellers. The federation asserted that the police were exceeding the limits intended by the Ministry.

In reply the Undersecretary of the Interior today issued a second circular condemning the Russian and American authors, but announcing that the police would enforce the prohibition order against them with discretion.

The circular points out that it is evident that the morbidness of the Russians and the reckless adventurousness of writers like London have a bad effect on the Italian youth and promote delinquency. It also declares the American and Russian books deliberately were put on sale by interests adverse to the present regime in Italy in order to thwart the purpose of the Fascist regime in educating the new generation along rigid lines.

PACIFIC CRUISE WONDERS TOLD

Yale Graduates Find New America at Sydney

Members of Original Party Left En Route

SYDNEY (Aus.) Aug. 9. (AP)—"To be in Sydney is for all the world like being back in the United States," in the opinion of E. H. Dodd who, with two other Yale graduates, A. C. Brown and T. Marshall, and Capt. Jean Richam and E. Sandstrum, recently reached Sydney in the thirty-three-ton auxiliary yacht Chance after cruising more than 12,000 miles in the Pacific.

"The vastness and the wonders of the Pacific," Dodd said, "baffle description, and without the insight this trip has given us we never could have realised the supreme part it is going to play in the world's history in the centuries immediately ahead. But we are not here to talk high politics. We're just struck dumb at finding another New York away down here and are tickled to death at our wonderful welcome."

MANY PLACES VISITED

The voyage has been hailed by the press as a wonderful achievement. Places visited included the Galapagos group, Society group, the Marquesas, Tahiti, Fiji and Noumea.

Changes in the crew occurred at Tahiti. Up to arrival there, the Chance was commanded by Lieut. Alexander Gray, United States Navy, a retired submarine officer. His health was indifferent, and he was obliged to return to the Pacific Coast. Clyner Brooke, a graduate of Yale, who undertook the trip with his colleagues, became so entranced with the charms of Tahiti that he "signed off," and it is understood that he became the owner of a copra plantation.

Capt. Jean Richam, a Frenchman, who is reputed to know every inch of the Pacific, was then engaged as commander. He was last in Sydney as captain of the American yacht Speejacks when on a world tour.

YACHT BLOWN ASHORE

While lying at anchor off one of the small islands of the Society group the Chance was unexpectedly caught in a storm, and was blown ashore. Fortunately, little damage resulted, and with the assistance of natives, the ship was safely refloated.

Three weeks was the longest period the Chance was out of sight of land. That was on the run from Galapagos to the Marquesas. "We seemed alone in the world then," observed Mr. Dodd. "There was no sign of a ship, not even a cloud to break the monotony of green sea and blue sky. Our average speed was 100 miles a day, the log registering 205 miles on one day. But that is no indication of the speed throughout the cruise. Sometimes we progressed only five miles.

"We visited many islands where there was not one white person," stated Mr. Marshall. "Nevertheless, the welcome given us at such places was no less sincere than at more civilized islands. Our plans for the future are uncertain, but I think our cruise is now finished."

Boy Scouts Save Reds in England From Lynching

BIRKENHEAD (Eng.) Aug. 9. (AP) Communists engaged in distributing literature at the Boy Scout jamboree at Arrow Park were saved from serious injury by some English Scouts, it was learned today when four men were charged in court with distributing Communist literature and were bound over to keep the peace.

"If it had not been for the Boy Scouts these men would have been lynched by the public," declared the police superintendent.

When a Boy Scout witness supported this statement one of the defendants asked. "Why do you think that?"

"You would have been pretty badly damaged by the Dominion Scouts alone, who probably did not understand you as well as we do," the Scout replied.

Mexico Blames Corrupt Officials for Large Debts

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9. La Prensa declares that in the investigations made it has been ascertained that exclusive of the revolution "no fundamental reason for the decreased revenue was found." Weeding out of undesirable officials is to take place as a result of the investigations.

British Officer Wins Acquittal

LONDON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Lieutenant Commander H. P. K. Oram, commanding officer of the submarine L-12 at the time of its collision with the H-47 on July 9, last, resulting in the loss of more than a score of lives, today was found not guilty of negligence and was acquitted by a court-martial.

The two British submarines collided in St. George's Channel and the H-47 sank in 270 feet of water.

By a general court-martial July 26, Lieut. C. S. G. Keen of the L-12 was held responsible for the disaster, ordered severely reprimanded and dismissed from his ship.

MUMMY FOUND IN HUNGARY

"Vanity Bag" and Jewels Discovered in Tomb With It on Site of Old Roman City of Acquincum

BUDAPEST, Aug. 9. (AP)—In the old historic Roman city of Acquincum, now known as Taber Hill, half an hour distant from Budapest, a mummy has been excavated which is believed to date from the second century A.D.

The tomb is lined with elaborate stone slabs illustrating episodes of animal life which are believed to have formed the ceiling of the sanctuary. The mummy, believed to be that of the wife of a rich merchant, suffered considerable damage after it was exposed to daylight. The embalming was done with resin and is so perfect that experts attribute it to an Egyptian who had been summoned from Alexandria for the purpose.

In the stone coffin were a pair of rubber sandals, elaborate jewels, food vessels, a "vanity bag," containing various beauty ointments, a carved silver comb, bronze hairpins, an oil-lamp and some coins of bronze.

Acquincum in the days of the Roman empire was a vast cemetery. It is intended to continue the excavations as it is believed highly valuable discoveries will reward the effort of the diggers.

the French capital. Average speed if airline only were considered was better than seventy-five miles an hour. As a matter of fact, deviations in the Zeppelin's route from the Great Circle course made its actual mileage somewhat greater, with a consequent rise in its average speed.

TO BE HOME SOON

Paris is about 306 miles east and slightly south of the Scilly Islands, where the Zeppelin was sighted at 12:05 a.m., G.M.T. (7:05 p.m., E. S. T.) Friday. The distance was covered with an average speed of just less than seventy-five miles an hour.

From Paris to Friedrichshafen is about 350 miles. If the dirigible maintains its speed it might expect to cover the distance in less than five hours, arriving over the German city at about 11:30 a.m., mid-European time (5:30 a.m. E.S.T.)

GERMANY READY TO WELCOME AIRSHIP

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) Aug. 9. (AP)—The trans-Atlantic airliner Graf Zeppelin tonight appeared making good progress as she neared the European coast on the first leg of her round-the-world flight with the likelihood that she will reach Friedrichshafen by tomorrow night or early Sunday.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, himself hopes to reach his home port some time tomorrow. In a message to the Ministry of Communications, he said he will be unable to fly over Berlin on Sunday, Germany's Constitution Day, as he expects to land Saturday.

WHAT HE SAYS

His message read: "Hearty thanks for your invitation but the airship will, as far as can be foreseen, already be in Friedrichshafen by the 10th inst."

The Graf's progress on her return voyage across the Atlantic thus far has been entirely satisfactory to Dr. Ludwig Duerr, chief constructor of the Zeppelin works.

"By Saturday morning we will know pretty definitely whether our expectation is justified that the Graf will return to her home hangar in the course of the night of Saturday or Sunday," he said. "Judging by the progress thus far, which has been quite fast, the airship should be able to make it by then."

Once the dirigible is safely back home her land forces hope to have a sufficient reserve for her to take off for the jump to Tokio within three days.

READY FOR WORK

"Should any motor prove defective on examination here we can build in a substitute within half a day," Dr. Duerr said. "We have sufficient reserve motors ready for all emergencies. Blau gas (the fuel used by the dirigible) is here in sufficient quantities, while the manufacture of hydrogen gas at our plant is proceeding with all speed."

Dr. Duerr expressed the opinion that such minor patching of possible tears in the hull as are unavoidable during long voyages also can be done easily.

"Within two or three days after landing here all should be ready for the start for Tokio," the Graf's constructor remarked.

OBSERVER AWAITS VISIT TO LOS ANGELES

What appeals most to Lieut. Jack C. Richardson, now aboard the Graf Zeppelin as official observer for the Navy Department, is the fact that the giant ship will remain in Los Angeles for three or four days on its around-the-world trip, according to a letter received from him by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Richardson of the Southland Hotel, 605 South Flower street, parents of the flyer.

Notification of his appointment to make the flight in the interests of the United States Navy was communicated to his parents several days ago, his father said last night.

Richardson, who is navigator for the dirigible Los Angeles, is a senior lieutenant and is stationed at Lakehurst, N. J. While living in Berkeley in 1914 he was appointed to the United States Naval Academy by Judge Works, and graduated in 1917, a year in advance, due to the World War. During the war he was attached to the destroyer Tripps, following which he was given command of submarines at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.

For a period he was stationed at Philadelphia, where he was married. Since the arrival of the Los Angeles from Germany, where it was built, he has been attached to the dirigible. He is 33 years of age and the father of a daughter, 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have lived here for four years and are connected with the management of the Southland Hotel. Mr. Richardson also is assistant district sales manager of the Lion Match Company. Lieut. Richardson has not seen his mother for four years. He was visited by his father for a short while in New York some time ago.

insville. It was checked just before it reached the town.

Yreka was in semidarkness and half strangled with smoke, its streets were deep in ashes as if from a volcanic eruption and the roar of the forest fire could be heard plainly.

United States rangers estimated 2500 acres of brush and young timber have been burned over, with the fire eating its way toward a valuable stand of mature trees.

Fifty special patrols are established just outside the fire zone to arrest campers who leave camp fires burning or automobilists who throw lighted matches or cigars or cigarettes from their cars.

A dying wind brought hope of controlling the fire, which made its way to the edge of the Pacific Highway, showering auto tourists with ashes as they drove half blinded through clouds of smoke.

The Groveland fire is regarded as the most disastrous in Tuolumne county in years, destroying 10,000 acres of grazing and pasture lands and destroying the ranch homes and buildings of Julius Murphy, William Gray and the Cochran ranches.

All buildings of the Jumper mine, near Stent, were destroyed in another Tuolumne county fire, at a loss of $50,000. The mines recently had been reopened by John Cencevich.

PACIFIC-NORTHWEST BLAZES UNCHECKED

SEATTLE, Aug. 9. (AP)—Forest fires blazed uncontrolled on three fronts in the Pacific-Northwest late today.

The most serious outbreak reported was in British Columbia, where the mill town of Allenby was menaced by a serious blaze, fanned by a high wind which had jumped intrenchments. Highway communication between Princeton and Copper Mountain has been cut off.

Crews under the direction of Glenn Mitchell, Chelan National Forest dispatcher, expected to control the Wolf Creek fire near Wenatchee by tomorrow or Sunday. The conflagration has covered about 2000 acres of spruce land and fanned by a wind was spreading out of the fire lines.

Breaking out anew and jumping southern fire lines, two regular forest fires in the Rainier National Forest Reserve today caused fire fighters to establish new lines.

The flames had invaded Rainier National Park and park rangers were pressed into action. One thousand acres have been burned along the eastern border of the park.

In the Mt. Constance fire in the Olympic Mountains thirty men were reported cut off from outside contact and were expected to miss a few meals. Their predicament was not considered dangerous.

Flyer Freed by Mexicans Who Keep His Plane

YUMA (Ariz.) Aug. 9. (AP)—William Kane, pilot and civil engineer of San Diego, who was arrested by Mexican officers recently on landing his plane near San Luis, Son., was released today, but his airplane is being held, authorities were informed here.

Kane is expected at Algodones, Mexican border town near here, to confer with Mexican customs officers on the release of the plane. Mexican officials said the plane will be held until a satisfactory explanation of its presence in Mexico is received. Kane originally was held on suspicion of smuggling.

The flyer said he was en route to Chicago, but encountered strong winds which forced him off his course, and formed a landing in Mexico.

Cotton Representation to Appear Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP) Questions relating to the possibility of creating an advisory commodity council for wool under the terms of the Farm Relief Act were discussed today by a group of men prominent in the industry and the federal farm board.

The organization of the wool co-operative marketing association is considered to be a step toward the advisory council which would pave the way of amalgamating the various co-operative interests of the country and the board members desired to have the facts.

An advisory council would function as the spokesman of the entire wool co-operatives and would be able to bring about a maximum of efficiency in the marketing of the commodity and in promoting the most approved practices in the production and handling of wool.

The board had planned previously to hear a group of cotton men today, but the cotton representatives now have arranged to appear next Tuesday. Several members of the cotton industry also are advocating the creation of a commodity council for their product.

Dr. William Porter, director of the division of the Pacific Coast for Economics Research, is quoted as saying in the economic survey of the country, United Business, that the year as "the chief agents of the economics of hope," and says that the year he should be able to put forth a project for extensive entrenchment which will remove much of the present danger.

RESIDENTIAL properties are of varying value. Their intrinsic worth is based on very definite and obvious fundamentals.

Guesswork, prejudice, sentiment and persistent sales-effort have no place in the vital selection of your homeplace.

You may buy for an investment. You may plan to build immediately. You may be planning for the future. In any event, it is important that you check your contemplated selection against these ten Favorable Factors. Upon them the happiness and contentment that you anticipate depends.

Each of these Favorable Factors will be dwelled upon individually in the series of messages we have prepared.

While we believe that Huntington Palisades represents the nearest to the ideals of all Southern California homeplace property, we aim to guide your selection, wherever it may be, into channels that will bring you as much of the ideal to which you attain as possible.

Experts have carefully weighed Huntington Palisades against these Favorable Factors. That it comes closer to an average of 100% in every instance than any other property anywhere, is indicated by their findings.

In view of this, it is logical that before you buy a homeplace you should at least consider and investigate Huntington Palisades.

We will be glad to assist you in an inspection of this property. Our sales department is manned by gentlemen who are more desirous of seeing you pleased than in simply making a sale. We do not tolerate 'high pressure' methods, neither do we assume a 'high hat' attitude. We do urge an early visit. Sales are increasing because of the many beautiful homes already established and many others contemplated and each sale means a narrowing of choice.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In half an hour they came stealthily upon a small party of black warriors filing toward the west. As Tarzan saw them he gave a cry of delight. It was a band of his own Waziri. Bunali was there and others who had accompanied him to Opar. At sight of him they danced and shouted in exuberant joy. They had been searching for him for weeks.

The blacks exhibited considerable wonderment at the presence of the white girl with him, and when they found she was to be his woman, they vied with one another to do her honor. With the happy Waziri laughing and dancing about them, they came to the rude shelter by the shore. There was no sign of life, and no response to their calls.

Tarzan clambered quickly to the interior of the little tree hut. There he found the still, emaciated form of Clayton. Lines of suffering were upon the once young and handsome face. Clasped in his dead hand were some sheets of faded yellow paper. Tarzan of the Apes drew a fold of cloth across the upturned face. Then he beckoned Jane to come up.

For a moment they remained kneeling there, the girl's lips moving in silent prayer. As they arose Tarzan handed her the dead man's pitiful diary, day by day sentences filled with the tragedy of his situation until he was too weak to write more. Through her tears the girl read the tale of suffering and devotion to her. And as she read her eyes went very wide.

GETZ IS NAMED ON COMMISSION

Two Chicagoans Picked by State Governor

Will be Chairman of Boxing Rulers

Business Men Are Chosen in Group

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
United Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (U.P.)—A millionaire sportsman, a regimental leader in the World War, and a banker, all Chicagoans, are the new members of the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson at Springfield today named Gen. John V. Clinnin, lawyer, soldier and ardent devotee of athletics, as chairman.

George F. Getz, wealthy sportsman, big-game hunter, who was associated with the late Tex Rickard in the promotion of the Dempsey-Tunney battle at Soldier Field years ago, and Frederick [illegible] president of the Illinois Merchants Trust Company, were appointed as the other members.

MAL CHOICES

Gen. Clinnin's appointments were announced at the beginning of a meeting of the commission today. The new commissioners represent the highest type of citizenship and business ability in Chicago, with all interests and qualifications of boxing, each has a reputation for strict disciplinarian and each stands upon his friends with an iron hand.

"Well, instead," Gov. Emmerson said, "that the commissioners were business men, and that we have that in our state we are extremely fortunate to have men, who will gain nothing by boxing in Illinois."

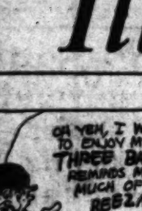
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9. (A.P.)—The Cubs opened their final eastern invasion with a 12-to-6 victory over the Phillies here today in a one-game stand. Guy Bush yielded six hits and five runs in the second, when the Phillies took the lead, but through the rest of the game allowed just two hits and one run, while his mates pounded out the decision for him. It was Bush's tenth straight and his sixteenth victory of the season.



Rogers Hornsby and Riggs Stephenson led the Chicago attack with home runs. It was Hornsby's twenty-fourth. The Cubs totaled thirteen hits against five Philadelphia pitchers, and made expert use of ten bases on balls and one hit batsman.

The triumph enabled the Bruins to retain their lead of six and one-half games, as the Pirates also won. The Chicago club departed tonight for Boston, where a series will be opened tomorrow.

Guy Bush, he's the guy, and if his team gets into the world series he will have had a whole lot to do with it.

Yessiree, Guy T. (Joe) Bush is having the best season of his career, and when he beat the Giants on July 10 in the first game of the "crucial" series between New York and Chicago, he won his eleventh victory in twelve games, and was ranking right behind Burleigh Grimes of the Pirates among the National League pitchers.

Guy joined the Cubs' pitching staff in 1924, after a season with Greenville of the ill-fated Cotton States League, which blew up with a loud bang the previous year. Chicago used him in sixteen games, then farmed him to Wichita Falls where he won nine and lost three, and was recalled by the Wrigleyites. Six victories and thirteen defeats was the best he could do in 1926, but from then on he began to show something, and in his next three seasons he had a score of thirty-eight wins as against twenty-five losses.

SHEIKS CHECK SERAPH SPURT

Circuit Clout With One on Comes in Eighth

Spectacular Fielding Plays Feature Struggle

Victory Puts Hollywood in Second Position

BY BOB RAY

The meek may inherit the earth, as the saying goes, but Mr. O. Vitt's Hollywood Stars have tired of waiting for results.

The Sheiks, after being meek for three straight days and receipting for an equal number of defeats at the hands of the Angels, turned on Jack Lelivelt's athletes yesterday and flapped out a 6-to-4 victory in a spectacular struggle.

Cleo Carlyle was the fair-haired boy of the Hollywood contingent, for it was his home-run drive into the right-field bleachers with one on in the eighth that enabled the Sheiks to win. Carlyle's circuit clout broke a 3-to-3 tie that had existed from the first half of the fourth. A double by Bassler and a single by Wetzel gave the Stars a third run in the eighth and it looked as though they were going to need it in the ninth when the Angels filled the bases with one away but only got one run out of it.

The game was filled with plenty of sensational fielding performances, Jigger Shirk making a catch in the fourth inning that was as wonderful as you could ever relish to see. Dud Lee was the victim. Lee drove out a low liner to left-center in the fourth that looked labeled for extra bases. Shirk, however, came tearing over and, with a superlative effort, reached across with his gloved hand and picked the ball off his right shoe while going at break-neck speed. We'll back that catch against any ever made in baseball.

TOLSON ALSO SHINES

Slug Tolson also made a sensational as well as comical play in the third to rob Heath of a hit. Micky slashed a terrific grounder toward Tolson, who was in between hops and had to back up to make the catch. The force of the drive bowled Slug over on his back until he almost did a complete backward somersault. While standing on his neck Slug tossed the ball right over to first base, where Plitt was waiting to make the putout.

And there were other fielding features. In the seventh Lee jumped about three feet off the ground to snare Ray Jacobs's drive with one hand and turned what looked like a two-bagger into a double play. Howdy Burkett also made a leaping catch of Haney's line drive in the second to stop an Angel rally.

By their victory the Stars went back into second place, going a half-game ahead of the Angels and Missions. Hollywood is two and a half games behind the leading Seals.

Although he was lifted after walking two men in the ninth, Buzz Wetzel chalked up the victory for the Sheiks. It was Wetzel's thirteenth victory of the season. Frank Shellenback replaced Buzz in the ninth and quelled an Angel uprising that

TWO HELENS VICTORIOUS IN OPENING MATCHES

English Doubles Team Wins Over Wills-Cross Combination in Two Straight Sets

BY ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Aug. 9. (A.P.)—The American Helens of tennis from Berkeley, Cal., asserted their skill today to give the United States a lead of two matches to one over Great Britain in the battle for the Wightman cup, emblem of supremacy in women's competition.

World's Champion Helen Wills overpowered Mrs. Phoebe Watson, 6-1, 6-4, after which Helen Jacobs staged two sensational rallies to conquer Betty Nuthall, youthful star of the English team, at 7-5, 6-2.

Thatend of faltering after these two setbacks, the British forces gathered strength and romped off with the doubles match, third and concluding contest of the day, when Mrs. Watson combined with Mrs. Peggy Saunders Mitchell to defeat Helen Wills and Edith Cross, 6-4, 6-1.

The two-day series for the trophy, now in possession of the British after an even split in six years of competition, will be decided tomorrow with four matches. The American team is counting on another twin triumph from the California Helens to win back the cup.

Miss Wills today was harder pressed to win than possibly in any match she has played in the last three years. Mrs. Watson forced nine of the seventeen games to deuce, fought back to even terms after trailing at 3-0 in the second set and three times was within a point of forcing

COMBINE AQUATIC TEAMS

Swimming teams of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach will be combined for the men's outdoor championships, to be held at San Francisco from the 22nd to 26th inst., it was announced last night by L.A.A.C. athletic officials.

Hollywood A.C., another member of the new chain of clubs under the L.A.A.C. organization, will enter the national meet as a single team.

According to a ruling handed down by the local division of the A.A.U. last week, all athletes of the Pacific Coast, Hollywood A.C. and Santa Monica A.C. are eligible to compete under L.A.A.C. colors if they are properly registered with the A.A.U.

Dick Rutherford, coach of the Pacific Coast Club team, has three stars who will materially aid the combined Mercury and Long Beach teams at San Francisco. Norm Kettering and Earl Piccola in the sprints and medley swims, and Paxton Kinnee in the breast-stroke event are the trio.

These stars will hook up with Mickey Riley and Dutch Smith, champion L.A.A.C. divers, and will form a fairly balanced team. "Doc" Gunter, breast-stroke artist, and Johnny Riley, diver, will also compete.

FARWELL FIGHTS FOR LIFE

YOSEMITE, Aug. 9. (A.P.)—Lew Farwell, former catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, is battling for his life in Yosemite Hospital, where he lies, stricken with peritonitis. His home is in Hucheon, Cal. Farwell played with the Cards a year ago, but due to an injured shoulder was unable to play this season.

Southern California Yachtsmen Race From Local Port Today to Santa Barbara

CHANNEL CITY SAILING TILTS OPEN TUESDAY

Largest Field in Coast Yachting History Expected to Take Part in Championship Series

BY FRANK ROCHE

Los Angeles Harbor's contribution to the ninth annual Southern California Yachting Association's picture which will be presented at Santa Barbara next week is scheduled to streak out of the local port today at high noon when thirty slick looking sailing craft hoist canvas and nose into the briny in the direction of the Channel City. All day yesterday yachtsmen were completing the work of getting their boats in shape for sailing championships Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week and today's run for the coastal city.

With its newly completed yacht club and breakwater, which cost, in the neighborhood of $300,000, Santa Barbara will be dressed up like Mrs. Astorbilt's pet horse to play host to yachtsmen from San Francisco, San Diego, Los Angeles and other Southland cities. Yachting officials believe that more than 200 boats will be anchored in the harbor Tuesday morning when the eight-meter, six-meter and R-class series gets under way, officially opening the racing program.

J. PARK DOUGALL

START AT NOON

At a point off the Los Angeles Harbor lighthouse the thirty or more trim sailing boats will take the gun on the first leg of the race to the regatta. California Yacht Club officials headed by Commodore Dr. J. Park Dougal predict the race to Santa Barbara this year will be the greatest in history and that a new sailing record will be established when the fleet drops anchor. The race is being staged under auspices of the California Yacht Club.

Last night yachtsmen were gathering from San Diego to Los Angeles in preparation for today's sea battle. Southern California will have by far the largest number of boats in the regatta. Southland sailing sportsmen are eager to make the event the greatest ever staged and have left no stone unturned in order to insure its success.

Although the twelve-meter sloop Pandora is favored to cop the race to the Channel City, the old sea dogs at the harbor contend it is any man's race. One thing they all agree on that the record set by Al Christie's Heather two years ago of 23h. 54m. 18s. is more than likely to be history when the racing boats bob into Santa Barbara.

Owen Churchill's King of Spain Trophy winner, the Babe, an eight-meter sloop, is going to be watched very closely by racing skippers. The Babe has won nearly everything she has entered during the last six months and with Ted Conant again at the stick she is looking for new worlds to conquer.

W. W. Pedder's Diable, the perennial wonder of the Pacific Coast in her class, is another boat the sea dogs claim will have to be reckoned with in the sail to the northern port. Stuart Haldera's Menidah of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco, which had a thorough overhauling at the local port during the past week, will race with the southern boats today.

A huge collection of outboards will be taken to Santa Barbara for the regatta, Commodore O. K. Hunsaker announced. Most of the six-meter entries will be towed to the harbor at Santa Barbara. Tommy Lee and his Times Trophy winner, the Harpoon, are out to snatch the honors won by the Ayayay of San Francisco last year.

Valley Meet in Semifinals

Semifinal matches in all classes were played off yesterday in the first annual San Gabriel Valley tennis championship tournament now being conducted on the courts of the San Marino grade school, with the exception of one men's singles match and one mixed doubles match. In the singles, Frank Westsmith, net star of the University of California at Los Angeles, reached the finals by registering an easy victory over Dick Charnock in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3.

In the ladies' singles, Gladys Patz defeated Jane Sharp in easy straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, and will play in the finals. In the men's doubles, Sisson and Parker won their semifinal match against Wheldon and Dick Charnock, after experiencing some difficulty in the opening set, 9-7, 6-1. In the ladies' doubles tourney, both semifinal matches were played off yesterday. Gladys Patz and Robinson downed Goulter and Lee, 6-4, 6-4, and Violet Doeg and Reed won their way to the finals by conquering Northcote and Rathburne in easy fashion, 6-1, 6-4. All finals matches will be played Sunday.

Yesterday's results:

Men's singles—Frank Westsmith defeated Dick Charnock, 6-2, 6-3.

Men's doubles—Sisson and Parker defeated Wheldon and Dick Charnock, 9-7, 6-1.

Ladies' singles—Gladys Patz defeated Jane Sharp, 6-1, 6-2.

Ladies' doubles—Gladys Patz and Robinson defeated Goulter and Lee, 6-4, 6-4; Violet Doeg and Reed defeated Northcote and Rathbourne, 6-1, 6-1.

Today's Schedule.

1:30 p.m.—Leonard Deerlin vs. Parker, semifinal round men's singles; Violet Doeg and Dick Charnock vs. Gladys Patz and Robinson, semifinal round mixed doubles.

DUNDEE AND GUERRERO MIX IN RING TONIGHT

Dominick Dundee, Omaha lightweight, will make his bid for local fistic recognition tonight when he meets Joe Guerrero, Mexican lightweight champion, at the Main-street Athletic Club. Dundee is a protege of Tom Jones, famous as a manager of world's champions, and is regarded by his mentor as another Ad Wolgast.

Ray Ortega, 175-pound kayo puncher, and Laurel Curtis clash in the semi-wind-up. Young Brown, who has won five straight bouts in his comeback attempt, will face Howard Fritz, rugged 146-pounder, in the special event. Three preliminaries complete the card.

TUCSON TO BUILD ATHLETIC COLISEUM

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 9. (AP)—Within sixty days Tucson is to have one of the finest athletic coliseums in the Southwest. A group of business and professional men headed by Paul Monier and O. B. Perkins, have formed a syndicate to erect a $25,000 athletic arena having a seating capacity of 2000.

Financing has already been arranged by Perkins and a site on which the arena is to be erected has been purchased.

ENGINEERS CLASH TODAY

Pacific Coast Municipal Technician Baseball Championship at Stake

This afternoon at the White Sox Ball Park, Thirty-eighth street and Compton avenue, the Los Angeles City Engineers play the San Francisco City Engineers for the Pacific Coast championship of municipal engineers.

In 1927 and 1928 the San Francisco boys took home the bacon and reports from the north indicate that their team this year is stronger than ever before. In fact, they are in wonderful condition and come down here confident of winning.

The local boys are determined to run away with the cup this year. A wealth of material has been worked over by Coach Art Fromme, former New York Giants' pitcher, with the result that Los Angeles will be represented by one of the best municipal teams in the country.

The winner of the Pacific Coast municipal engineers' championship will receive the beautiful silver trophy donated by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce. The boys at the City Hall are counting on having it in their trophy case this next year.

Substitutes: Cox, catcher; Ryles, outfielder; Beitler, pitcher; Barry, pitcher; Wilkins, pitcher; Vignes, Friedman, Miller.

The game is scheduled to start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. For a half-hour before the game, Nick Lutze, the local mat idol who last Wednesday evening defeated Joe Malcewicz, and is now a real contender for the wrestling championship of the world, will be there with Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, to entertain their friends and fans with wrestling and boxing exhibitions. Lutze will probably draw a big hand because of the fact that he will soon meet Stecher, and for his work this summer as a volunteer life guard at Venice with credit for nineteen lives saved. The "Ace" is always popular as the uncrowned middleweight champion of the world since his bout with Mickey Walker.

The ball game will be officially opened when Mayor John C. Porter pitches the first ball to City Engineer John C. Shaw with Hugh J. McGuire, president of the Board of Public Works, at the bat.

Official Los Angeles will be there to welcome M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Engineer of San Francisco, and his ball tossers.

These games have developed a real friendship between the two largest cities of the Sunshine State and should be supported by the people of Los Angeles.

Music will be furnished by the Los Angeles Playgrounds Boys' Band, under the direction of Mr. E. E. Suman.

RABBIT PUNCHES

PAUL LOWRY

GOOD-BY SHARKEY

"IT'S Jack Sharkey's death knell. He's all washed up when he goes through with that fight."

Jimmy Dougherty, the Baron of Leiperville, was the speaker and he was referring to the Sharkey-Tommy Loughran bout which is to be held in New York September 26 and takes the place of the originally scheduled Sharkey-Max Schmeling imbroglio.

"Loughran will box Sharkey's ears off," continued the Baron, "and the big yellow stiff will be through for good as a heavyweight contender.

"The same goes for Schmeling.

"Loughran will be the next white heavyweight champion of the world with George Godfrey the black heavyweight king.

"And then you will have the queerest heavyweight situation that ever existed.

"Godfrey weighs 240 pounds, Loughran at the best slightly over 190 pounds.

"No boxing commission in the country will sanction a match between the two.

"And yet no one can say Loughran will be undisputed heavyweight king when he can't beat the most feared man in the ranks—Godfrey."

A BLACK THORN

THOROUGHLY wound up on his favorite subject by this time the Baron then proceeded to prove that Godfrey is now worse than a menace.

"He's a thorn in the side of the boxing commissions.

"Chairman William Muldoon, the militant chairman of the New York body, has flatfootedly refused to pin approval on matches which give Godfrey a disparaging weight advantage.

"The same thing happened in Pennsylvania, home State of Loughran.

"Boo Boo Hoff wanted to stage a match between Loughran and Godfrey this coming October.

"Chairman Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania commission said 'no, not a chance. Such a bout would be a travesty.'

"At the same time he refused Loughran's bid to be recognized by the Pennsylvania commission as heavyweight champion because of the Godfrey situation.

"They like Loughran back there in Pennsylvania, but the Black Shadow disturbs the serenity of their desires to do something nice for Loughran."

CHANCE FOR SCHMELING

AMUSED by the attitude of the German papers in proclaiming it an American trick in shelving Schmeling for the Sharkey fight the Baron says he has a proposition for the German heavyweight.

"I'll give Schmeling a chance to earn more money than he ever made before in his life," he declared.

"Let him sign for a fight with Godfrey at Agua Caliente or any other place.

"I'll guarantee him $50,000 just to step into the ring with the Black Shadow.

"And all he has to do is to waive all claims for damages as the result of injuries he will suffer at Godfrey's hands.

"Schmeling can have his own referee, Let Joe Jacobs, his manager, be the third man in the ring.

"Or if he likes it better he can have the Kaiser in there.

"George Godfrey is an American citizen. If they want the German to be turned back just feed him to the Black Shadow."

MAY TURN RASSLER

INTERESTED in the terrific turnouts of the cash customers for Lou Daro's grappling soirees Dougherty now threatens to make a rassler out of Godfrey.

"And that isn't half as funny as you may think it sounds," he says. "Godfrey has done some wrestling in Pennsylvania, and has learned a lot of tricks.

"If I can't get action for him with the heavyweight fighters I'm going to give him a thorough tryout with the toe twisters.

"Why, George is one of the strongest men in the world, and he could break some of those guys in two.

"So, don't be surprised some of these fine days to hear of the Black Shadow wrestling Sonnenberg or one of the other topnotchers in the mat ranks.

"I understand the good rasslers can work as often as once a week if they want to. That's more work than I can get Godfrey as a pugilist."

Yankee Track Stars Sparkle at Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (Sweden) Aug. 9. (AP)—American athletes repeated their triumphs over Europe's stars today in the second day of the international invitation track and field meet of the Goeta Sporting Club. Eddie Tolan of the University of Michigan, scored his second sprinting triumph, turning in the best time in the 200-meter dash. Tolan came close to record time, covering the distance in 21.1s. Gillmeister of Germany was clocked in 21.3s, and "Pete" Bowen of Pittsburgh in 21.4.

Fred Sturdy, Yale pole vaulter, scored an easy triumph in his event, clearing the bar at 3.95 metres (12ft. 11 1-8in.) Dick Rockaway of Ohio State won the 200-metre hurdles in the time of 24.5s. Leo Lermond, the Boston A.A. middle distance ace, added a fourth triumph for America by winning the 3000-metre run. His time was 8:36.4.

The discus throw went to Stenrud of Norway, with a heave of 46.37 metres (151ft. 9 80-128in.) Otto Peltzer, German ace, won the 800-metre run in 1:55.8.

Cohn and Hunt Capture Title

DELAFIELD (Wis.) Aug. 9. (AP)—William Jacobs and Henry Clabaugh, of Baltimore, won the junior doubles title in the western junior and boys' tennis tournament here today when they trounced Hugh McArthur of San Diego, Cal., and Nate Ganger of Cleveland in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Earlier in the day Jacobs and Clabaugh had eliminated John Sheidon, Glencoe, Ill., and W. Schommer of Milwaukee, the first ranking junior doubles team in the West, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

The sensational California boy stars, Jay Cohn of Santa Monica, and Charles Hunt of San Francisco, won the boys' doubles title in straight sets when they beat Caldwell Russell of St. Johns Military Academy, here, and Robert Hutchinson of Lawrenceburg, Ind., 6-1, 7-5.

The finals in both the singles events are slated for tomorrow morning, with McArthur opposing Karl Kamrath of Austin, Tex., in the junior division and Hunt and Cohn bracketed in the boys' match.

McArthur won a hard-fought three-set match from William Schommer this morning, 9-11, 6-3, 6-2, to enter the finals.

KNOCKDOWNS PAY DOUBLE

Churchill Offers Hawkins $1000 for Every Time He Puts Godfrey on Floor at Olympic Tuesday

Long Tom Hawkins has a new target to shoot at Tuesday night. He meets Giant George Godfrey for the negro heavyweight championship of the world at the Olympic.

Frank Churchill made Hawkins the proposition to pay him $1000 every time he knocks Godfrey down. And this is one case where Churchill hopes to lose a lot of money.

GEORGE GODFREY

"If Hawkins beats Godfrey he will be worth a small fortune and if he knocks the Black Shadow out he'll be worth a big fortune," says Churchill.

The contract of Hawkins was recently bought by Churchill for $10,000. Churchill said yesterday he had already seen enough of the giant black man in the gymnasium to show him he had made a good bargain.

"Today I wouldn't sell Hawkins for $25,000," says Churchill. "He will make a million dollars under my management if he can beat Godfrey."

Hawkins is rounding into the best shape he has ever reached. Churchill is in the gymnasium with the black fighter every afternoon watching him and teaching him some of the heavyweight tricks.

The sparring partners are roughing it up and all ordered to shoot their best with the big gloves on. Hawkins has scored knockdowns all week over them, indicating he is letting his punches ride, too.

Max Schmeling ducked into a storm cellar and called off all negotiations to fight at Agua Caliente when Promoter Jack Dempsey suggested Godfrey as his opponent.

Joe Jacobs is said to have made a prohibitive price for such a match. He asked the cool sum of $2,000,000 to let the German get in the same ring with Godfrey, which is another way of saying Schmeling wouldn't fight the giant at all.

When Dempsey received this information he immediately abandoned plans for a border fight.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams yesterday sent out a feeler for a Schmeling bout to be staged here. Among the possible local opponents Les Kennedy is the outstanding white boy.

Frankie Campbell, the San Francisco boy who is making such a big hit with Jim Dougherty in his workouts with Godfrey, is another candidate.

The Olympic has signed James J. Braddock for a reported guarantee of $7500 and Schmeling would be offered more in accordance with the opponent selected.

Jacobs is in the market for a spot for his German Dempsey and told Wadhams when he was here for the exhibition that the German would like to fight here after the Jack Sharkey fight in the Black Shadow.

Since the Sharkey fight is out as far as Schmeling is concerned it will be easier to book him here.

That there is interest in the heavyweights here is indicated by the big advance sale on the Godfrey-Hawkins go.

HESS-MACK RING SCRAP ON HORIZON

Bout Tentatively Set for September 3; Winner Gets Date With Tod Morgan

A Goldie Hess-Eddie Mack fight is in the making and has been tentatively set for September 3, next, it was revealed last night.

According to present arrangements, the winner of this bout will then be pitted against Tod Morgan, the junior lightweight champion, in a title bout later in September.

Originally the Olympic management had planned a championship bout between Eddie Mack, who has scored two sensational knockouts in as many starts here, and Morgan for September 10.

Now it is said that Morgan will not be ready to fight by that date, and Hess and Mack, who have been bidding violently against one another for the crack at Morgan's title, will settle their arguments with gloves.

The winner against Morgan makes a natural of the first degree, it is declared.

The championship battle will be staged as soon after the September 3 date as practicable to get out of the way of the onrushing football season.

Hess was to have fought Wildcat Carter here last Tuesday, but developed a bad case of boils on his right arm and has gone to a hot springs for treatment. The fight was indefinitely postponed.

Carter left for Seattle the day after the postponement and refused overtures by Matchmaker Wadhams of the Olympic for the September 3 date with Hess.

DOEG ENTERS FINAL ROUND

of the Meadow Club invitation doubles.

The scores were 4-6, 14-12, 5-7, 11-8, 6-2.

Then in the singles semifinals Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., outlasted the Newark star, Gregory Mangin, in another memorable five-set tussle, 8-10, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5, and Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., turned back Norman Farquharson of South Africa, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

Tilden and Hunter battled grimly against what at times appeared to be sure elimination. Hanson and the lithe Appel forged into a lead of one set to none, then made it two to one, but were unable to withstand the rush of their more experienced adversaries.

Previously the veterans had beaten James Lee and William Richardson, schoolboy members of the Southampton Colony, 6-0, 6-3, and had come from behind to defeat Bruce Barnes of the University of Texas and Eddie Jacobs, University of Pittsburgh, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Both college boy combinations caused plenty of trouble for Tilden and Hunter who will clash in the final tomorrow with the winner of a match between the Mangin-Berkeley Bell team and a foreign pair—Farquharson and Paul De Ricou, of Cambridge and Oxford universities, respectively.

Bell of the University of Texas and Mangin of Georgetown, sprang a surprise by defeating the second-seeded team of Fritz Mercur and J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, in the quarter-finals.

OLYMPIC KINGS DEPART TODAY

cording to advices received from the island folk, a royal welcome will be accorded the youngsters when they step from the gangplank in the city of the mid-Pacific isle.

One of the great thrills of the trip will be the visit to Halemaumau, the volcano on the Island of Hawaii, which interpreted in Hawaiian means "house of everlasting fire." Things are breaking right for the boys even on this trip, for the great molten pot is putting on one of its best shows now.

The party will stay at one of the beautiful hotels on the beach at Waikiki. Delegations from the various sections in and near Los Angeles represented by the Junior Olympic champions, will be on hand at the steamer to wish the youngsters bon voyage.

Legion Junior Nines to Mix at Pasadena

The State baseball championship will be at stake this afternoon at Tournament Park in Pasadena, when two Junior American Legion baseball teams, Mill Valley and Long Beach, meet for the right to represent this State in the western States district play-off at Salt Lake. Mill Valley won the Northern California title by turning back Madera and Oakland in the final play-off. San Diego won the southern title, but had to relinquish it because of the ineligibility of some of its players. Long Beach and San Bernardino played Thursday to decide who would meet Mill Valley today.

STABINEAU IS KAYOED BY DOMAN

Vijo Stops Heavyweight Rival in Fourth Round at Hollywood Stadium

Vijo Doman, hard-hitting heavyweight, made short work of Tony Stabineau in the main event of the Hollywood Legion last night, putting Stabineau down for the count in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-rounder. Big Tony had made two trips to the canvas before the fatal fourth, however, once in the first round and again in the second. The bout was a wild, rough slugging match while it lasted. Abe Roth refereed.

Frankie Forbes and Carmen Tuscolina went six rounds to a draw in the semi-wind-up.

Hymie Miller and Harry Wallinder boxed six fast rounds to a draw in the special event. Teddy Palacio outpointed Johnny Cardoza over the four-round route. Cardoza was on the floor when the bell marked the end of the fight. Krepis Hernandes beat Pastor Manola in the four-round curtain raiser.

Swim Record Set at Hawaii

MEMORIAL POOL (Waikiki, Honolulu) Aug. 9. (AP)—Eleanor Holm of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, retained her national 300-meter medley title in the national A.A.U. meet here tonight, and set a new world's record for the event of 4m. 48 4-5s.

Marion Gilman of the Western Women's Club, San Francisco, as second, and Lisa Lindstrom of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, the national backstroke champion, finished third.

Miss Holm held the lead throughout the race, which is one-third backstroke, one-third breaststroke and one-third free-style. Miss Gilman, who specializes in backstroke swimming, held second place throughout. Miss Lindstrom was in fourth place during the first and second laps, but made up for last time in the free-style section to take third place.

Adelaide Lambert of the W.S.A.N.Y. and Jane Walls of the New Coliseum A.C., St. Louis, the western free style champion, were slated for participation in the race, but withdrew before the start.

The Medley title was one of the two national championship events on tonight's program, the other being the 880-yard club relay.

Cooper Shows Iron Shot

BY SOL METZGER

Not long ago I was speaking of the lesson that could be learned from watching a fine player like Harry Cooper at the United States open. One thing that became clear to me in following him was that for long wood shots he took a full pivot that pulled his left heel off the ground, whereas for long approach shots the heel remained down. There was a slight turning in of the left foot at the ankle, a la Joyce Wethered, who does nothing else, even on her long tee shots. Also a bending in of the left knee.

The pivot for the long iron is almost entirely a shoulder turn. In other words, it is a compact swing. Cooper starts his hit with the straight left arm. As he does he straightens his left leg and braces against it as he swings on through. This brace anchors his body and forces him to hit on through with an arm swing entirely. Naturally, the braced left leg tends to make the shot accurate. Monday—differentiation between the chip and pitch shots.

A golfer is no better than his iron shot. Sol Metzger has prepared a free illustrated leaflet on the art of driving. Send for it in care of The Times and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

ZORILLA VICTOR IN MURPHY RING TILT

SAN FRANCISCO., Aug. 9. (AP)—Santiago Zorilla, 126½, flashy featherweight from Panama, won an easy ten-round decision from "Dynamite" Joe Murphy, 125, of Oakland, in the main event at Dreamland Auditorium tonight. Zorilla danced around the slow-footed Murphy shooting in left jabs to win every round but the third, which was the Oakland featherweight's and the fourth, which was even.

RAY McINTYRE BEATS VARNER AT VENTURA

Ray McIntyre won the decision over Claude Varner in the ten-round main event at the Ventura Athletic Club last night. Johnny Ramirez outpointed Leonard Allen in the six-round semi-wind-up. Pat Varner won on a technical knockout over Earl Carter in the sixth round of the special event.

JACKSON WINS SCRAP

BARRACUDA RUNNING OFF SANTA MONICA

The run of good-sized barracuda which has been favoring anglers at Santa Monica for several months continues with no let up in sight, it was stated yesterday by Capt. Jack Dugan at the Santa Monica Municipal Pier. Hundreds of anglers have been going aboard the big barge Billings during the warm spell and returning with big catches.

Capt. Cliff Morris announces that on last Sunday in order to handle the many anglers an extra ship was put in use to care for the all-day anglers. This ship carried a capacity load. In addition to barracuda, the anglers have been landing halibut, sculpin and bass.

CLAWSON PLAYS HOLE IN THREE UNDER PAR

M. V. Clawson, assistant professional at Sunset Fields, yesterday played the sixth hole of the No. 1 course, 465 yards in length, in "3," three strokes under par. He was playing with J. A. Dougherty and Jack Cushing. He hit a screaming long drive and followed this with an iron shot which hit short of the pin, rolled to the flag and into the cup. A hole made in one stroke under par is a birdie, in two strokes under par is an eagle and in three strokes under par is a double or a golden eagle.

Stars, Angels Clash in Two Games Today

It will be bargain day out at Wrigley Field this afternoon with the Angels and Stars hooking up in a double-header. The extra contest will be a "king's-x" affair that was postponed from the second week of the season and will not count in the second-half standings. The Sheiks and Seraphs have been playing great ball this week and drawing large crowds. It is expected that 6000 fans will turn out for today's twin bill. Clyde Barfoot will oppose Joe Marty on the mound in the opener, while the "king's-x" affair will pit two youngsters, Harry Child and Letty Lorentzen, against each other. Lorentzen is the young left-hander from the University of Washington who was recently picked up by Hollywood. The first game starts at 1:30.

ENTRIES POUR IN FOR SWIM

Ryan Keppen by filling out the coupon which appears daily in The Times sport pages. No prospective entrant should fill out the official blank until he or she is registered with the A.A.U. This can be done with Eddy Neat, the University of Southern California. A nominal fee is charged for registration, entitling the applicant to a full year of membership.

The two entrants are attracting attention from amateur swimmers all over Southern California. Both men's and women's swims are open to any registered amateur athlete, and suitable prizes will be awarded to the winners and runners-up. A number of those writing in for entry blanks have announced that they are in daily training at the various beaches, building up their speed and endurance for the long grind.

The men's swim is seven-eighths of a mile, just slightly shorter than the longest Olympic swim of 1500 meters. The women's event is a half-mile.

SHEIKS TURN ON SERAPHS

Carlyle's Homer in Eighth Beats Angels, 6 to 4; Wetzel Turns in Victory for Hollywood

threatened to pull the game out of the fire.

Ed Baecht started for the Angels but was taken out in the second. Deacon Plitt replaced him and pitched great ball until the fatal eighth, when Carlyle's homer caused his downfall.

BERGER GETS FOUR HITS

Walter Berger had a perfect day at the plate, banging out half of Angels' eight hits. Berger's last safety was a drive off Umpire Perle Casey's kneecap that forced the arbiter from the field.

The Stars got off to a one-run start in the opening round, when Red Rollings doubled to right center after Lee had been retired, took third on Funk's infield out and scored on Bill Rumler's single to right. Rumler stole second but Baecht fanned Heath to end the inning.

Los Angeles tied it up in the second with the aid of some slip-shod fielding on the part of the Stars and Wetzel had to pitch brilliantly to get out of the spot with only one run scoring. Berger started it with a single to left and Tolson followed with a hit to right when Rumler lost his high fly in the sun. Jacobs bunted to Wetzel, who rushed in to scoop up the ball quickly. For some reason or other, Rollings drew many in on the bunt and neglected to tell Wetzel he was right in back of the pitcher. Wetzel wheeled and whipped to third in an effort to force Berger, but there was no one to receive the ball, which went into the Angel dugout, Berger scoring. Tolson taking third and Jacobs second on the mixplay. Lee threw out Jones and held Tolson on third. Sandberg was purposely passed to fill the bases. Baecht struck out and then Haney lined to Burkett for the third out.

Hollywood scored two more runs in its half of the second and drove Baecht to the showers. Baecht was lifted after he had walked Carlyle and Bassler, the first men to face him. Deacon Plitt's first official act was to pick up Burkett's bunt and throw wide at first, clogging the cushions. Plitt then walked Wetzel to force Carlyle in with a run. Lee hit to Haney, who made a nice stop and threw to Sandberg to force Bassler at the plate. Rollings drove a sacrifice fly to Statz and Burkett came home after the catch. Wetzel failed to take third after the catch and it cost the Sheiks a run, for Funk followed with a hit to center that filled the bases again. Plitt fanned Rumler for the third out after the count had reached 3-and-2.

CHERUBS TIE SCORE

Wetzel weakened in the third and the Cherubs tied the score on singles by Webb, Berger and Jones, Tolson's sacrifice fly and a walk to Jacobs. Jones's hit drove in both runs. Sandberg ended the rally with a line drive to Carlyle.

Plitt and Wetzel mowed down the opposition scorelessly for the next four frames, but the Stars staged a winning rally in the eighth. After the Deacon had disposed of Rumler, Mickey Heath smacked a single to right. Carlyle then slammed one into the lower tier of the right field bleachers for a home run to score Heath ahead of him and break the tie. Johnny Bassler, after fouling off several offerings, doubled to left center and came home when Wetzel further cinched his victory by driving a single to center.

The Angels caused Skipper Vitt no little annoyance in the ninth when they filled the bases with only one out, but Frank Shellenback, who had come to Wetzel's rescue, got rid of Slug Tolson on a sacrifice fly to Funk and retired Jacobs on a left to Albert to get out of the jam with but one run scoring. Albert had replaced Rumler in right field for defensive purposes when Shellenback took the mound.

Wetzel began the final frame by walking Haney, who was forced at second by Statz. When Buzz also passed Webb, Vitt sent Shellenback to the mound. Berger promptly smashed an infield hit off Umpire Perle Casey's kneecap to fill the bases. Casey was badly hurt and was assisted off the field. Had the ball not hit Casey it probably would have been turned into a double play.

When the game was resumed, Tolson sent a sacrifice fly to Funk that scored Statz. Jacobs, after working the count to three-and-two, lifted a fly to right field that Albert snagged near the foul line for the final out.

Foul Tips

It was a tough day all around for Jack Luttrell. Luttrell's Angels lost to Hollywood and his car was damaged in a collision at the Wrigley Field auto park.

Dave Wetzel is nearing the number of victories required for a bonus. Fifteen is Wetzel's bonus-seeking goal and his win yesterday brought his season's total to thirteen.

Walter Berger will hoist his batting mark up over the .360 mark this week if he keeps up his great hitting. The Sheiks left fielder has gathered nine hits in thirteen times at bat so far against Shaik pitching this week.

Bill Rumler came out of his batting slump yesterday, banging out a single and a double.

Jake Lorentzen, the big southpaw from the University of Washington, will make his Hollywood debut today in the second game of the doubleheader. Harry Child, one of the Angel youngsters, will oppose Lorentzen on the mound.

Clyde Barfoot and Joe Marty will be the hurlers in the opener.

Perle Casey is having plenty of tough luck. Casey has been on the bum with a split knee cap for the past couple of weeks and yesterday Haney's hard drive smacked him on the kneecap. The umpire will probably be on the hospital list for two or three days.

Fans who say Jimmy Stats hasn't that old-time speed on the base paths any more this season will always remember the play as one of the most sensational catches of baseball.

There seems to be no love lost between Rube Wetzel and Harvey Webb, Angel shortstop. Webb's spike cut one of Wetzel's fingers in a recent game and the pitcher had to do some quick duckling to get out of the way. Rube is the only pitcher in the league since Hod Perry's days.

Deacon Plitt's Wrigley Field jinx seemed dead again yesterday when the intoxicated hurler lost another game.

Fred Haney looks pretty good on short. In the second game he made a sparkling great play on Lee's slow roller and threw Rumler out at the plate.

INDIANS HIT BUT FAIL TO WIN FROM OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Aug. 9. (AP)—Oakland beat the Seattle Indians today in a close-fought battle, 6 to 5. Both teams used seven more men than the regular line-up. Although Seattle had 11 hits to the Oaks' 9, the northern team was unable to make them count. The score:

MALONE TO BATTLE IN PASADENA RING

Jock Malone, veteran St. Paul middleweight, yesterday signed with Promoter Morris Cohan of the Pasadena Arena to meet Charley Long, negro puncher in the ten-round feature bout of next Thursday night's program. Malone recently held Hans De Vos, the Belgian star, to a draw in San Francisco. The midwesterner will be handled by Kid Herman, manager of Vince Dundee, in his local engagements.

UPLIFTERS POINT FOR POLO TILT

Local Malletmen Face Santa Barbara Riders Here Tomorrow

Uplifters' pololsts will practice up to the last minute today in an effort to be in the very best shape for the opening of the two-game series tomorrow with the Santa Barbara four, led by Long Jim Colt. The polo series which opens at Rustic Canyon field is expected to decide the mallet leadership for the summer in Southern California. Uplifters and Santa Barbara are the only clubs now staging a full summer program and can thereby claim recognition for the winning four in the intercity series.

LYELL PUCKETT

Hal Roach, Will Rogers, Snowy Baker and Clair Brunson have worked hard during the past week, and will continue to polish their mallet shots almost up to the time of the game. Uplifters officials announced. Rogers's field looked like a real polo battlefield yesterday as the horsemen galloped up and down in their practice session.

Jim Colt, former Midwick Country Club Coach, and his three team-mates, Red Tower, Gordon Cronkhite and C. H. Jackson, are scheduled to arrive here today. They will play a practice round on Rustic Canyon field before tackling the Uplifters.

Although it has been rumored that Max C. Fleischmann would play with the Channel City four, Uplifters claimed yesterday that there was little possibility of this happening. Fleischmann would make the invading team a little bit too strong for the Uplifters to get by, experts claim.

SPORTS SKETCH BY FEG MURRAY

Bean" is in form, he is a hard man to beat. He is almost always in command of the situation, and has the enemy eating out of his hands with his pet drop ball. Tall, wiry and strong he scarcely ever gives his opponents good balls to hit at, and he has most of them going after bad ones in a ludicrous fashion.

PICK KAUFFMANN TO WIN

Two-Time Winner of Public Links Title Meets Soncrant in Finals Match Today

FOREST PARK, ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9. (AP)—Carl Kauffmann, the poker-faced shotmaker from Pittsburgh, will battle for his third straight national public links golf championship tomorrow by meeting Milton Soncrant, a Toledo mailman, in the thirty-six-hole final at Forest Park.

Displaying the same steady brand of golf that has made him the perennial champion of the nation's public links, Kauffmann entered the final round today without much difficulty, defeating Johnny Boyd of Philadelphia, 7 and 5, this morning, and John Hornaby, a Topeka railroad clerk, 5 and 3, in the semifinals. Soncrant crushed Frank Connally of Detroit, 5 and 3, in the morning eighteen-hole round and then fought to the twenty-first hole before he conquered Wesley Casper of Louisville, former Kentucky amateur champion, 1 up, to become a finalist.

Kauffmann and Soncrant were tournament naturals. They tied with Patsy Tiso of New York City for medalist honors, each ending the thirty-six-hole test with 151 totals, or seven over par for the tricky championship course. Tiso was eliminated in the second round by Hornaby.

Of the two, the champion goes into the finals a heavy favorite.

ELLIOTT-HORNE EXPANDS SCOPE

Pacific Finance Subsidiary to Increase Capital

Plans Entrance in General Investment Banking

Baer Chosen as President Under New Set-up

With plans under way for increasing the capitalization of the Elliott-Horne Company, a subsidiary of the Pacific Finance Corporation, by $2,000,000, an official announcement was made yesterday that a decision had been reached to extend the scope of the Elliott-Horne Company's financial operations into the investment banking field.

F. S. Baer, one of the well-known investment bankers on the Coast and at present vice-president and director of the Security-First National Company, will become president of the expanded Elliott-Horne organization, and will also later be elected a vice-president and director of the Pacific Finance Corporation, according to Lee A. Phillips, president of the Pacific Finance Corporation.

The new capital will consist of $1,000,000 preferred and $1,000,000 common stock, it is understood. Pacific Finance Corporation owns the Elliott-Horne Company's capital stock, having acquired it in 1926. No public offering is contemplated under the expansion plans, the new capital to be supplied by the parent company.

FOUNDED IN 1904

The Elliott-Horne Company is the oldest and largest house on the Coast specializing in municipal improvement bonds, having been established in Los Angeles in 1904. Its expansion into the investment banking field automatically expands the operations of the Pacific Finance Corporation, it was pointed out, and affords additional opportunity for participation in the further development of Pacific Coast industry and commerce.

Not only are Coast industrials expected to benefit greatly by the expansion, but the addition to the Elliott-Horne facilities will result in the creation of another complete Pacific Coast financial investment organization equipped to handle business national in scope, it was said. One of the primary results will be the attraction of large blocks of eastern capital for investment on the Coast, with a consequent strengthening of support for Pacific Coast manufacturers and a further stabilization of employment conditions in the West, it was declared.

PHILLIPS'S STATEMENT

Commenting on the appointment of Mr. Baer as head of the expanded Elliott-Horne organization, Mr. Phillips said that he and his associates considered themselves fortunate in being able to secure his services. Such an expert was needed, Mr. Phillips added, inasmuch as the enlarged company, backed by the Pacific Finance Corporation and its affiliated interests, will automatically take an active part in the national investment field through its operations in United States government, State and municipal bonds as well as corporate bonds and stocks.

Officers of the enlarged corporation, which will probably be renamed in a few days, will include Lee A. Phillips, chairman of the board of directors; L. L. Elliott, chairman of the executive committee; F. S. Baer, president; O. Roy Rule, vice-president and treasurer; H. G. Martin, vice-president; George R. Stillson, vice-president; Fred S. Baker, vice-president, and W. Watson LaForce, secretary.

Present quarters of the Elliott-Horne Company on the ground floor of the Pacific Finance Building will probably be extended to accommodate the concern's expansion.

WALL-STREET EDITOR LUNCHEON GUEST HERE

Kenneth C. Hogate, vice-president of Dow, Jones & Co., and managing editor of the Wall Street Journal, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given yesterday at the Biltmore by Frank C. Mortimer, vice-president of the Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank. Mr. Hogate informally discussed business and stock market conditions and commented on the current Federal Reserve policy relative to speculation.

ARIZONA SEEKS DATA FOR WATER SURVEY

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Aug. 9. (AP)—Having for its purpose the securing of an oil and water survey of Arizona by the United States Geological Survey, a movement has been started here to get a record of the log of all wells available in order to promote a more general drilling for water through undeveloped territory. Robert Thomas of Globe, who has one of the most complete well logs in Southern Arizona, is heading the move.

Paramount to List New Stock

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—Paramount Famous-Lasky Corporation has made application to the New York Stock Exchange to list 369,-350 additional common shares, which will be exchanged for stocks of several theater chains, and for 50 per cent of the common stock of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer of Paramount, stated that the new acquisitions should bring additional profit of about $3,500,000, or about $6.75 per additional share of stock, during the first year, and should show increasing profits in subsequent years.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

...ld Rally Overcomes Uneasiness to Again Turn Stock Prices Upward

...and other sinking further in line with the break late yesterday, yesterday's prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange opened and with the support continuing throughout the session the market closed with a majority of issues showing net gains for the day and three at least, at new high levels. The vigor of the rally which developed around noon clearly manifested confidence on the part of the market.

Pacific Lighting dropped 1¼ to 115, and Western Continental, a point to 34½.

Industrials were stronger. Pacific Clay Products reached a new peak at 37 1-4 when it closed, up 3-4. Jantzen Knitting Mills scored a new high at 31 1-4, up 1-8. Fractional improvement was shown in Goodyear and Moreland Truck while Emsco Derrick, Douglas Aircraft and Byron Jackson closed slightly off on the day after recovering from lower levels.

Security-First National Bank; less active than usual, and California Bank, each moved fractionally higher. Transamerica acted in a similar manner.

Sales totaled 40,725 shares valued at $1,091,172; previous day, 41,176 shares valued at $2,022,740.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—The boosting of the Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate from 5 to 6 per cent released a flood of selling orders on the Curb Exchange today that carried active stocks down 4 to many more points.

The break at the opening was one of the most severe in the exchange's history, but the low prices for the day were not reached until afternoon, when a second break followed a rally at midday. Closing prices were above the day's lowest levels, were generally under the opening quotations.

The widest breaks were in the utilities and specialties that have chalked up the most spectacular gains of the recent advance. Such issues as Electric Investors, Middle West Utilities, Central States Electric convertible preferred, Duke Power, Grigsby-Grunow and Marconi International broke in to nearly 50 points. Although the list leaped regained nearly 10 points of its loss at the close.

Marconi International Marine, into which the Curb Exchange ordered an investigation, opened at 35½, moved up to 39¾, and then started tapering off, settling down to 15 ½ recovering from lower levels, off 20½ points. The curb investigation was started when it was revealed that the stock was selling in London for 15 and above 27 here.

Large blocks of shares were dumped on the market at the opening. Commonwealth and Southern, on a block of 50,000 shares, dropped 3 points to 20, and closed at 24½, for a net loss of 1¼. A block of 25,000 Consolidated Gas of New York rightly changed hands at 54 at the opening and then closed at 54 for a day's gain of 2 points.

Losses of 6 to more than 12 points were chalked up at the close against American Superpower preferred, American Gas & Electric, Buffalo Niagara and Eastern, Eastern States A, Electric Bond and Share, Northern States Power B, Public Service of New Jersey, United Light and Power "A" and United Gas Improvement.

Most of the investment trusts lost ground, but the decline was more orderly. Insull Utility Investment dropped 5, Utilities and Industrial 3¾, Standard Power and Light 2¾ and the "A" stock 5. Financial sold down 10 to 74½ and closed at 80½, for a net loss of 7.

The oils were not spared and Gulf broke 5½ points. Cities Service Line 4. Dunlop only lost a fraction.

Vacuum Mining sold off 7½, losing practically all of its recent gain on reports of an improved copper outlook.

Crocker Wheeler, an electrical stock, was the outstanding development, climbing up to a new high at 39 and closing at 38½, for a net gain of 3½ points. Elsmere Power & Light dropped 4.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—The bond market had another severe sinking spell today. Not only were convertibles sharply depressed by the weakness in stocks, but mortgage obligations, especially in the railroad and industrial classifications, reacted sharply and the close saw the average for the groups not far above its low for the last hour's range.

Time money climbed to 9 per cent for all maturities and neither lenders nor prospective users were to make purchases in the face of unfavorable views of the immediate credit situation. Liquidation in most instances was moderate, even in the volatile issues which may be exchanged for stocks. However, some of the higher grade rails were offered in liberal quantity, which gave indication of the market sentiment.

Convertibles declined from 2 to 13 points, closing a little above the day's lowest quotations. American Telephone 4½s showed the maximum loss on heavy selling, dipping to 105. Their lowest price was a point above that figure. Chicago & Northwestern 4½s sold at 74½, for a net decline of 11½ points, and International Telephone 4½s and 5s suffered similar losses. Other issues which were off 5 points or more at the close were American T. & T. Convertible 4½s lost 6, Gen. Electric 3½s 5, Kansas City Southern 5s 5, Missouri Pacific 5½s receded 2½, New Haven 6s 5, Pittsburgh Consolidation 5s and Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron 5s made net declines of 4.

The weakest rails included several of the low-priced issues and one or two of the issues classed as full paid. Chicago and Northwestern reserves, St. Paul and Wabash Chicago and Burlington and Quincy 5s, Great Northern and Northern Pacific and Reading General 4s, Kansas City Southern and Texas and Pacific 5s, Missouri Pacific 5½s and Southern Railway general 4s.

Liberty bonds and United States Treasury certificates listed in the restricted list were unchanged. Foreign dollar offerings were moderate. Liberty 4¼s and 4s and Fourth 4¼s touched new high for the year.

Columbia Gas and Electric 5s, of the April maturity, made new minimum at 97½ early today, utility stocks, Pacific Gas and Electric 6s and United Electric Light and Power 5s also declined. Foreign dollar bonds generally firm in a restless market.

The quotations represent sales of bonds for cash or deliver and the prices in the order given, are expressed in percentages of par. Accrued interest when the same is paid, is added to both low and close when same is high.

San Diego Man Held With Girl in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. (AP) Murray Johnson, 30 years of age, was arrested here today in company with 15-year-old Catherine Balckshaw. Johnson was accused of bringing the girl here from San Diego, Cal., where he is said to have a wife and family.

A five-week search for the pair led Federal officials and police into several States and Mexico, where it was believed the man had taken the girl to escape arrest. Johnson was held as a vagrant and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The girl was placed in custody of juvenile authorities. Her mother is said to operate an automobile camp in San Diego.

Freedom Given to Drug Addict

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Fred Walters, one of the drug addicts who escaped from the State Narcotic Hospital at Spadra, arrested here Thursday, was given his liberty last night on advice from Sheriff Traeger of Los Angeles that charges against Walters have been dropped by hospital authorities. Walters spent the night here with his wife and baby and said this morning he will find a job as quickly as possible, and that he is "all through with dope."

Walters went to the hospital from Hanford a few months ago. He said he went voluntarily to overcome the drug habit that he was cured, and left the institution because "I was tired of it."

DAMAGE ACTION FILED OVER WRONG NUMBER

PHOENIX, Aug. 9. (AP) — Five thousand dollars for a wrong telephone number. That's what L. P. Black, local salesman, asks from the telephone company for asserted printing of a wrong telephone number in the local directory. Black filed suit today, asserting he has been damaged in a business way to that extent. The company assigned Black to the number 23363 when he rented his telephone, but when the directory came out his name was listed, he says, with the number 32962.

RUM CRAFT ENGAGES IN GUN FIGHT

Liquor Runners Battle With Coast Guardsmen on Detroit River

DETROIT, Aug. 9. (AP)—Coast Guards and rum runners engaged in a spectacular pistol and revolver battle in the Detroit River early today with craft of the rival forces racing along the middle of the river less than 100 feet apart. No casualties were reported, although two of the guardsmen had narrow escapes. The rum runners escaped to Canada with their cargoes.

The Federal forces were under command of Jonah T. Haggiove, chief boatswain's mate.

Haggiove hailed three men in a speedboat, ordering them to halt. A volley of shots was his answer. Haggiove and the two Coast Guardsmen under his command emptied their pistols twice before the runners escaped toward the Canadian shore.

One of the rum runners' bullets scorched Haggiove's neck slightly while another knocked the uniform cap from one of the guardsmen.

DORAN PLANNING CURB ON RIFLE USE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran said today he is preparing to bar the use of rifles by prohibition agents in several communities.

Doran said his decision still will permit agents to use their service revolvers in the densely populated communities.

In sparsely settled districts, especially in the mountains, the agents, he added, need rifles for protection.

The situation in the Detroit area where one of the agents recently lost his life, he continued, is well in hand.

"We are better off there than we ever have been," he said.

BANK AUDITS SHOW THEFT OF $100,000

Veteran Employees Held in New York on Charges of Clever Peculations

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP)—Two employees of a branch of the Bank of the United States were arrested today charged with conspiring in the theft of more than $100,000. The men are Joseph V. Price of New York, former manager of the Columbus-avenue branch, and August O. Siegmann, 41 years of age, of Harrison, N. Y., paying teller in the Columbus branch.

The men, officials said, cashed checks for fictitious depositors, then changed the figure in the accounts of large depositors to cover up the money appropriated, a different large account being used each month to cover the defalcations during that period. They had been operating the scheme more than two years, it is said.

The two employees had been with the branch, formerly the Colonial Bank, for more than twenty-seven years. The Colonial was merged with the Bank of the United States in April and audits incident to the change of name and ownership brought the peculations to light.

SEA FLYERS DISAPPEAR IN MYSTERY

Nothing Heard from Three Swiss Aviators Following Take-off at French Field

LE BOURGET (France) Aug. 9. (AP)—Three young Swiss aviators flew away from this field yesterday and, as far as this vicinity is concerned, vanished into thin air. They said that they were going to Lisbon, Portugal, preparatory to an attempt to fly across the Atlantic.

There has been no news of them from any source and there is much speculation as to whether their plane has cracked up or has landed near some small town without wire communications.

When they arrived here Monday from Zurich, they said nothing about their plans for a trans-Atlantic flight. The curiosity of custom examiners was aroused by the large extra fuel tanks. The aviators then admitted they intended to fly to New York from Lisbon.

The aviators are Oscar Kaeser, pilot; Kurt Luescher, the backer, and a mechanic, and Alfred Tschopp, navigator and mechanic. They had a Farman plane.

Northwest and Northeast Will be Linked by Air

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 9. (AP)—A new transcontinental air line having Halifax, N. S., as its eastern terminal, and Vancouver, B. C., as the western is to be started soon. It was announced today by C. F. Herzfeld of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce air service committee after a conference with Col. L. H. Brittin of Northwest Airways.

Milwaukee will be the base of operation, he said, and the line will be operated by Northwest in conjunction with Western Canadian Airways.

REPORT ACTRESS MARRIED IN EAST

Lenore Ulric

Lenore Ulric, stage and film actress, and Sidney Blackmer, her former leading man in a Broadway production, were married nearly three months ago at Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., according to a report at the First National Studios last night, where Blackmer is employed as an actor. Gilda Gray, now appearing on the vaudeville stage in Los Angeles, is said to have been the matron of honor and Bruce Bairnsfeather, the British cartoonist, was witness. Miss Ulric would not comment on the marriage last night. Blackmer could not be reached for a statement.

Miss Ulric and Gilda Gray are said to have been schoolgirls together in Cudahy, a suburb of Wilwaukee, and although the latter said Miss Ulric was her bridesmaid at her wedding many years ago, she could not remember any details of the Blackmer-Ulric wedding.

Both Miss Ulric and Blackmer are registered at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel. Miss Ulric will leave shortly for New York to keep a theatrical engagement, while Blackmer will remain in Hollywood.

Realty Brokers Will Not Have to Take Tests

"Real estate brokers who already hold a license from the State will not be required to take an examination under the provisions of the recent amendments to the California Real Estate Act," said State Real Estate Commissioner Barnson yesterday, correcting an impression among brokers that the examination would be required. "All new applicants for brokerage licenses, as usual and heretofore will be required to pass an examination."

The present program does call for the examination of all real estate salesmen, however, whether they possess a license or not. The commissioner pointed out that the examination fee of $3 in cash must be paid before the salesman will be permitted to take the test and that a person failing may be permitted to retake it without further fee. He also explained that it will be not necessary for all to present themselves at the first two or three examinations which will commence in Los Angeles the 23rd inst., at the Transportation Building.

Temperatures to be Moderate

Moderate temperatures are promised for the week-end by the United States Weather Bureau, which, after noticing that the mercury had climbed to 82 at 1 p.m. yesterday, relented in favor of those who are planning beach trips today and tomorrow.

At 5 a.m. yesterday the mercury was down to 66 deg., but the humidity topped it and mounted to 85 per cent. At 5 p.m. yesterday the humidity was 59 per cent and the temperature 76 deg.

CHAMBER GROUP BACKS FIRE BILL

Prevention of Forest Blazes Held Paramount

Regional Council Approves Fruit Fly Survey

Dyas Named as Promoter of Winter Sports

Unqualified indorsement of the Englebright forest fire prevention bill, to be introduced in Congress, was voted by the Southern California regional directors of the California State Chamber of Commerce, formerly the California Development Association, at the bimonthly council at the Alexandria yesterday. A resolution, directed to President Hoover and Congress, indorsing the bill and pointing out the advantage of an appropriation of a large sum for forest fire prevention, as opposed to forest fire fighting, was adopted at the council, which was attended by approximately eighty regional directors and members of the various committees.

In explaining the bill and the desirability of its indorsement by the council, C. E. Kelsey of Santa Paula, chairman of the conservation committee, declared that by its terms approximately $4,500,000 would be available to eleven western States for forest fire prevention and that $600,000 would be alloted to California annually for the next ten years as its share for this important work.

FRUIT SURVEY UNDER WAY

Progress of the various agencies working with the agricultural committee of the Southern California group in the State-wide campaign against the fruit fly was reported to the council and approved. It was revealed that the most intensive survey of the fruit-producing areas of Southern California ever undertaken now is in progress as a result of the fruit fly menace and that this survey has furnished the committee and the county horticultural agencies with invaluable information concerning other pests inimical to California fruits.

It was reported that no Florida fruits have been intercepted at the Southern California borders since July 17, last, and that 120 men now are engaged in border inspection of both automobiles and trains to ward against the importation of infected fruits into the Southland. The major crops, with the exception of the peach crop, have all been inspected and various territories have been mapped out as completed, it was stated.

DYAS HEADS GROUP

Winter sports in Southern California were given an added impetus yesterday with the appointment by the regional directors of B. H. Dyas, prominent Los Angeles sports authority, as chairman of a winter sports committee. This committee was organized as a subagency of the publicity committee.

Mr. Dyas, it was announced, will organize three subcommittees to function along definite lines for the furtherance of the State Chamber of Commerce's winter sports program. One committee will make a survey of Southern California with a view to establishing good locations for such sports. The second committee will work out a program for stimulating the organization of winter sports clubs in the Southland and the third committee, it was explained, will formulate plans for intercommunity sports contests for the coming winter.

RIVALRY TO BE URGED

It is expected, it was said, that the winter sports idea will be developed to the point where not only intercommunity rivalry but intersectional rivalry will be created and Southern California will take a prominent place in the world of cold-weather sports. Ski-jumping, tobogganing, ice skating, ice hockey, snow shoeing and similar winter sports will be fostered and developed under the general plan, it was said.

A report of the industrial committee revealed that as a result of the State Chamber's program for further developing the mineral resources of Southern California, a large number of mineral products of San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, Inyo and Mono counties are being further developed along commercial lines. The program has for

LITTLE GIRL SAVES PLAYMATE

But Cars Hit Them in Ice Wagon Chase

Helen Parker and Lewis Gordon

THE irresistible lure of a dripping ice wagon in the heat of a noonday sun yesterday endangered the lives of two little children and made a neighborhood heroine of one, 7-year-old Helen Parker of 641 East Thirty-seventh street.

With Lewis Gordon, 4, who lives a few doors away, Helen was playing on the lawn in front of her mother's home when the boy espied the ice wagon. Unmindful of the approach of two automobiles from opposite directions, he started toddling across the street.

Helen saw his peril at a glance and scampered after him. There was a loud screeching of brakes as she overtook the child, but the drivers' efforts to avert striking the children came too late. As Helen was about to drag Lewis from the danger zone the two machines sideswiped each other, one of them striking the boy a glancing blow the other ripping the dress completely off the girl and sending her spinning to the roadway.

The motorists, Jess Johnson of 629½ East Santa Barbara avenue and a man whose name was not learned, rushed the children to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where Police Surgeon Jacobs found on examination that they had escaped miraculously with minor cuts, bruises and sprains. An hour later they were taken home, where Lewis's first act was to make a bee line for the family icebox, while Helen was being acclaimed the heroine of her neighborhood.

TWO ADMIT THEIR GUILT IN RAIL CASE

Attempt to Wreck Train Confessed by Youths Held at San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—Responsibility for an attempt to wreck the Santa Fe Chief, transcontinental limited passenger train, fifteen miles west of San Bernardino on the night of the 1st inst. was fixed today by the confessions of two Mexican youths of Pontana, who gave their names and ages as Juan Acosta, 19 years of age, and Mariano Alvarez, 20, according to Sheriff Shay. The youths were arrested late last night at their homes and questioned for several hours before Acosta broke down and admitted the placing of four railway ties across the tracks.

This morning Acosta and Alvarez signed a formal confession before Dist.-Atty. Johnson and railway officers who made the arrests.

"We did it just for fun," Alvarez told the officers. He was unable, he said, to explain any other motive for the attempt to wreck the fast train. The officers, however, are continuing their investigation. Alvarez was arrested a year ago as a suspect in an arson case.

Roaring along the straightaway at a pace between sixty and seventy miles an hour, the Chief struck an obstruction a short distance west of Pontana, according to the report made by Engineer J. B. Jensen of Los Angeles. When halted at San Bernardino at 11:30 p.m. the locomotive pilot was found to have a railroad tie lodged firmly in its protective guard.

State of Iowa Shifts Today to Bixby Park

Former residents and visitors from Iowa will gather today in the annual summer picnic and reunion of the Iowa Association of Southern California at Bixby Park, Long Beach.

The largest crowd in the history of the association is expected to assemble. A register for each of the ninety-nine counties of the State will be provided and the usual trees again will be placarded with the names of the counties. College reunions of the thirty-five educational institutions of the State also will be held.

All couples who have been married for more than fifty years will be seated on the platform and it is expected that at least 100 couples will be present. Mayor Porter of Los Angeles, Mayor Caves of Pomona, City Councilman Ward, Federal Judge Wilbur and others, will speak.

WIDENING DESIRED

A request for a petition to be circulated asking for the straightening and widening of Venice Boulevard from Jasmine avenue to Catteraugus avenue was filed with Council yesterday by property owners and referred to the City Engineer and Street Opening and Widening Committee.

MYSTERY IN HART DEATH UNRAVELED

Long Beach Man Found by Wagner to Have Been Victim of Peritonitis

Removing all possible suspicion that might have been directed toward any person, Dr. A. F. Wagner, County Autopsy Surgeon, yesterday completed an autopsy upon the body of Todd L. Hart of 901 West Fourth street, Long Beach, and found that the man had died from peritonitis as a result of a ruptured appendix.

An investigation into Hart's death was precipitated Thursday when Mrs. Nan Hart, his former wife, and Dr. V. R. Killen, Long Beach physician, intimated that Hart might have been poisoned by some enemy.

The funeral was conducted Thursday afternoon, but interment was deferred until autopsy surgeons could complete their examination of the body.

Upon the receipt of Dr. Wagner's report, Dist.-Atty. Fitts ordered the case closed, announcing that no further inquiry will be made.

PICNIC FOR TWO STATES

All former residents of Kentucky and Tennessee are invited to the annual picnic reunion all day Saturday, the 17th inst., in Sycamore Grove Park. The program will include old-time songs and there will be southern oratory by several speakers.

ASSESSMENTS CONSIDERED

Council yesterday referred to the Public Works Committee the assessment district map for the improvement of the Bundy Drive and Norman Place district.

NEW YORKER CONCLUDES CALIFORNIA ISN'T SO BIG

There is one man in New York who will never be convinced that California is quite as large as the fancy advertising folders say it is. He is a special officer at the New York Stock Exchange.

Recently Isidore B. Dockweiler, Los Angeles attorney, made a trip to New York, and while there visited the stock exchange. One of his escorts through the great mart was the special officer. During the visit the officer turned to the Los Angeles man and inquired:

"Where you from?"

"California," was the reply.

"Do you know Dailey Stafford out there?" asked the officer.

"Yes," Dockweiler replied, "he is a judge in my town."

"Do tell!" exclaimed the guide and added: "Dailey was in my company during the war."

And, Dockweiler likewise left wondering if the world is so large after all.

DEATH GRASPS PEN OF WITWER

Nationally Known Humorist Ill Several Months

More Than 125 Stories Were Written for Screen

Prize Fight Series and Slang Tales Bring Fame

H. C. Witwer, nationally known as a humorist and writer, and author of the famous "Leather Pusher" stories, died at his home at 350 North McCadden Place yesterday at 6 a.m. He had been ill for several months, according to report. His widow collapsed following his death and could not meet interviewers last night. Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh was the attending physician. A death certificate had not been filed late last night.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret Lewis Nannery, is en route to Los Angeles, having been called by the news of his illness. She is not expected to arrive until some time tomorrow and efforts were being made yesterday to reach her and in a measure prepare her for the news of her son's death before she arrives. Witwer leaves his widow and one son, Allan H., besides his mother.

FUNERAL MONDAY

The funeral services will be Monday at 10 a.m., from Pierce Brothers' chapel, 720 West Washington Boulevard, where the body now lies.

Witwer was known chiefly for his humorous and prize fight stories. He wrote more than 125 stories for the screen and was familiar to the followers of the silver sheet as well as to the readers of the printed page.

In 1926 he took up his residence in California and wrote several articles on the joys of life on the west coast. He was fighting to regain his health at that time and one story was entitled "Fighting Back to Health in California." He was active in sports of all kinds and apparently he had won the fight. Friends say that he had been in ill health again the past three months.

BORN IN PENNSYLVANIA

He was born at Athens, Pa., March 11, 1890. He attended St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia in 1908, and was married to Sonia Schagrin of Yonkers, N. Y., in 1912. He commenced his career as an errand boy in a butcher shop and later was a bell hop and manager of prize fighters. He was a reporter on the St. Cloud (Fla.) Tribune in 1911, and for the New York American a year later. Later he worked on the Brooklyn Eagle and other eastern newspapers. He was war correspondent for Collier's Weekly in 1917. He was a member of the Authors' League of America and of the American Forestry Association. He also belonged to the Masons, the Adventurers' Club, the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Edgewater and the Fox Hills Country Club of this city.

Among the more widely known of his writings are: "Baseball to Bosches," "Smile a Minute," "Alex the Great," "There is no Base Like Home," "Kid Scanlon, the Leather Pusher," and the "Rubaiyat of a Freshman." He also wrote "Fighting Back," "Love and Learn," "Roughly Speaking," "Bill Grimm's Progress" and "Classics in Slang."

He was a contributor of 375 short stories to magazines and author of two comic strips, "Samson and Delia" and "Switchboard Sally" and a play, "So This is Harris."

John G. Wray, Film Director, Leaves $100,000

John G. Wray, film director who died July 15, left a $100,000 estate, it developed when a petition for probate of his will was filed yesterday.

Heirs and bequests were: Ardel Wray, $3250; Kitty Wray Miller, sister, $5000; Jane Miller, niece, $5000; Bradley King Wray, widow, 1647 Fifth avenue, the residue.

SIX CONVENT RAIDERS GET DISCHARGES

Fitts Reduces Dry Squad as Aftermath of Search of Belvedere Dwelling

Coming as an aftermath to a raid conducted upon a convent in Belvedere on June 12, last, Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday discharged six members of his prohibition enforcement detail.

In the liquor raid in question, six officers, asserted to have been members of the District Attorney's dry squad, kicked down the door to a convent at 4127 Flaber street, Belvedere, and searched the place for liquor upon a "tip" that a still was in operation there.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday admitted that O. L. Childers, formerly a sergeant in the police department, is one of the six men discharged, but refused to disclose the names of the other five.

At the same time the District Attorney stated that he had been faced with the need for reducing his dry enforcement detail by six men and, following the convent raid, he decided that the six men participating in it should be the first to go. The raid was conducted without a search warrant.

WILL GIVES YOUTH BULK OF ESTATE

Million-Dollar Fortune of Mrs. Kenoyer Goes to Her 16-Year-Old Son

The $1,000,000 estate of Mrs. Felicia M. Kenoyer, 810 Roxbury Drive, Beverly Hills, who died June 29, last, was filed for probate in Superior Court yesterday, naming the decedent's 16-year-old son, Harold, principal heir, and disinheriting Samuel A. Kenoyer, from whom the testator had obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Household goods and life estate in property at 1950 Virginia Road, were willed to Waneta Cardin Davis, and Mabel Lucile Davis gets $75 a month until she completes her college course. The Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank is trustee of the estate, and McClure, Griffin & Yokum attorneys of record.

It was explained in the will that a property settlement had been made between Mrs. Kenoyer and her estranged husband.

CRENSHAW BOULEVARD SETBACK LINES DUE

The general ordinance establishing fifteen-foot setback lines in Crenshaw Boulevard between Wilshire Boulevard and Tenth street was adopted yesterday by Council.

PARK COMMISSIONER NOMINATION MADE

Mayor Porter's nominations of Raymond L. Haight to the Board of Playground and Recreation Commissioners and George H. Barnes to the Board of Park Commissioners were submitted to Council and immediately referred to the Parks and Playgrounds Committee, where, under Council rules, they will repose for one week before coming up for confirmation.

HIGH BOULDER DAM URGED

Water and Power Board Forwards Plea to Wilbur Asking Height Increase of Twenty-five Feet

Acting on the recommendation of its engineering advisers, the Board of Water and Power Commissioners yesterday adopted and forwarded to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur a resolution recommending that the Federal government increase the proposed height of Boulder Dam from 550 feet to 575 feet.

It was pointed out in the board resolution that increasing the height of the dam twenty-five feet will effect three major benefits:

(1.) It will provide for larger water storage behind the dam, and will thus give better flood protection.

(2.) It will provide for better river regulation in the use of water for irrigation and hydro-power generating purposes.

(3.) It will make possible the generation of a larger quantity of hydro-power than would be possible from a 550-foot dam.

WEYMOUTH SUGGESTS

The suggestion of increasing the height of Boulder Dam first was made yesterday by Frank E. Weymouth, chief engineer of water works for the Department of Water and Power and chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water District.

Weymouth designed Boulder Dam as head of the reclamation service a number of years ago. In commenting upon the suggestion of increasing the proposed height of the dam, he stated that the reclamation service originally had proposed 550 feet in order to be extremely conservative. He stated that he believes that it will be to the advantage of both the government and the people of the Southwest to increase the height to 575 feet.

BOARD MAY ACT

Just what disposition will be made of the request to increase the height of the dam could not be foretold, of course, but it is assumed that the matter will be turned over to the government engineers for study and recommendation. Inasmuch as the Silbert commission of engineers made a study of the original Boulder Dam plans and declared the 550-foot dam safe and feasible as an engineering project after recommending a number of changes in design for safety's sake, it was thought not at all improbable that the question of increasing the height now might be referred to such commission.

Along with benefits that will accrue from increased height, it was pointed out that there will come the disadvantage of increased evaporation. A rise of twenty-five feet would increase the reservoir surface area considerably.

CIVIC WARFARE SMOLDERS

Break Between Mayor and Public Works Head Marks Time While Forces Intrench

The opposing forces of Mayor Porter and Public Works Commissioner Delorey, whose resignation the former has demanded, rested in their trenches yesterday, scouting the enemy and consolidating their positions, which is a manner of saying that there were no public developments.

Open warfare between the Mayor and some of the city commissioners, who resent his sweeping suggestion for wholesale resignations, appears at last to have broken forth after six weeks of rumor and report. Mayor Porter's demand on Delorey created the greatest sensation in the fifteen months' history of the new City Hall and it was discussed yesterday almost to the exclusion of public business or any other topic.

TO LAST DITCH

Mr. Delorey had nothing to add yesterday to his statement of Thursday, following his interview with the Mayor. He plans to resist the Mayor's effort to oust him, however, it is believed. Mayor Porter pursued his policy of declining to discuss his reasons for removing Commissioner Delorey or his plans in regard to the matter. Numerous persons visited him yesterday to discuss the Delorey ouster, while the commissioner's friends swamped the Board of Public Works switchboard with offers of aid and statements of respect for his long public service.

In connection with the general subject of ousters, Fire Commissioner Werdin yesterday issued the following, his interpretation of the charter:

AGAINST CHARTER

"If press reports to the effect that Mayor Porter is desirous of retirement, either by resignation or removal, of all members of all boards are carried this procedure is absolutely contrary to the spirit and intention of the charter as it now stands, of permitting an incoming executive to place in charge of a department new commissioners who have no knowledge of the needs thereof, or its personnel, and ignorant of the provisions of the various ordinances regulating the functioning of such unit of the city government.

"The intent of the charter is to protect commissioners the same as civil service employees are now guarded—all with a view to protecting the interests of the city.

"The fact that almost all com-

by Harry Carr

AT THE risk of becoming impertinent it must be admitted that the personal diet announced to the world by Mr. Samuel G. Blythe is a shock.

I the dynamic brilliancy of his comments on men and affairs are nuture.i on milk three times a day, on; is forced to wonderment as to how he might function on three good cups of coffee and a dish of applejack or hard cider.

GOOD REPORTERS, BY HECK

Sam Blythe and John McGroarty have one odd vanity in common.

Tell them they are brilliant playwrights, novelists, historians and what not of the richer reaches of literature and they are bored and obviously begin to wonder how much longer you are going to stick around talking.

But tell either one of them that he is a darn good reporter—and he will fall on your neck with gratitude.

After all, the greatest achievement—as it is impressed upon your mind in a newspaper office—is to go after something and come back with what you went after.

HELPING THE INDIAN

It is ghastly to learn from the carefully considered reports of the special commission investigating Indian affairs that one out of every four Indians in the United States has tuberculosis.

This wholesale murder can be laid to the stupidity of the Indian Bureau. In the days of the tepees lung troubles were almost unknown among Indians. They were moved into wretched houses which were in effect germ boxes. The irony of this tragedy is this: That all modern ventilation systems are copied from the Indian tepees of the plains tribes. These pork-barrel morons looked upon the most perfect ventilation devices that have ever been invented and moved the Indians out of them.

THE LABOR MARKET

Section gang jobs at $4 a day are going begging in Chicago. The complaint is made by the railroads that the stoppage of immigration is creating an industrial embarrassment. But when any country comes to the point where it must depend upon aliens for its labor, it is facing something sociologically more serious than embarrassment.

GENE'S PLAYMATES

When Gene Tunney's two dirty damage suits come to trial in New York it will be interesting to see whether his little playmates, George Bernard Shaw, Thornton Wilder and Prof. William Lyon Phelps, are there to hold his hand.

MRS. WATSHERNAME

Mlle. Adrienne Guyot, the Belgian young lady who—at 33—has been married fifty times, is another argument for the Lucy Stone system of a gel keeping her own name. There just isn't room on the family silver for so many monograms.

Alexander Pantages Placed in Jail When Young Girl Accuses Him of Statutory Offense

THEATER OWNER SAYS "FRAMED"

Dancer 16 Years of Age Tells of Asserted Attack

Her Screams Send Group to Private Office

Vaudeville Man Declares He Was Set Upon

Alexander Pantages, vaudeville magnate, was booked at Central Police Station last night on a charge of suspicion of a statutory offense and spent the night in a cell as the result of an asserted attack late yesterday afternoon on 16-year-old Eunice Pringle, a dancer, of 417 Acacia street, Garden Grove.

ALEXANDER PANTAGES

The girl, in an official report made to Police Policewoman Katherine Bellis of the Juvenile Division late last night, charges that Pantages assaulted her in his private office in the Pantages Theater Building, Seventh and Hill streets, yesterday afternoon.

Pantages entered a counter-report, denied all accusations of the girl dancer, and declared the affair a "frame-up."

Dist.-Atty. Fitts said that a formal complaint will be filed this morning against Pantages.

GIRL'S STATEMENT

An attempt was made last night to have Pantages arraigned in Night Court, but Capt. Bruttig of the juvenile division refused to allow his removal from City Jail until the formal complaint is filed. The charge is a felony.

In her statement to Juvenile authorities and detectives, Miss Pringle said she went to Pantages's offices early in the afternoon to see him regarding a vaudeville booking, and was asked by him to wait and then was invited by him to enter his private office for discussion of the stage act.

After a few preliminary remarks, she asserted that Pantages seized her and that, she regained consciousness a few minutes later with her clothes disordered and that she fled from the office.

Detective-Lieutenants Rathbun and Baker of Central flying squad reported that there was enough evidence of disarray of Pantages's and the girl's clothing to take Pantages to the station for questioning, and after nearly five hours of questioning the theater magnate was booked.

FINGERPRINTED

He gave his address as 500 North Vermont avenue, said he is 54 years of age, and that his nationality is Greek. He was fingerprinted and went through the usual jail booking procedure.

Only his attorney, W. I. Gilbert, and several of his office attaches, accompanied Pantages during the investigation and subsequent formal arrest.

Mrs. Lois Pantages, his wife, will go on trial for murder before Superior Judge Carlos Hardy on September 2, next, for the death of a Japanese, whom she is asserted to have killed in a traffic crash recently.

Miss Pringle was taken to her home in custody of her mother. She exhibited several abrasions on her arms and back when she confronted Pantages at police headquarters following the asserted assault.

PANTAGES'S VERSION

Pantages's version of the asserted attack was in direct contravention to the girl's story. He told police the Pringle girl came to him seeking booking for her act, but after viewing it he declined to engage her for his circuit. He said he told her, however, that he would use his influence with a booking agent in San Francisco, with a view of obtaining some "time" for her in some of the less-important vaudeville houses in the north.

The interview ended, police say he charged, Miss Pringle seized his coat and forcibly removed it, then violently tried to render the rest of his attire in a state of suspicious disarray. At the same time she screamed.

Nine persons were taken to Central Station and detained as witnesses.

They are Fred Weise, who described himself as a literary worker of 1137 West Eleventh street; W. C. Hale of 1729 Sycamore street; W. L. Gordon, a chemist, occupying offices at Room 309, Pantages Theater Building; John Slattery, an advertising man, and the following employees of the Pantages Theater: Catherine Stone, switchboard operator; Rose Fowler, secretary to Pantages; Ruth May, auditor; William Jobelman, publicity manager, and Carl Walker, house manager.

According to Chief Taylor, Weise, Hale and Gordon reported having heard a girl's screams while they were in the vicinity of Pantages's private office on the mezzanine floor of the theater. Weise rushed to the street and summoned Traffic Officer A. L. Courtney, while the other two hurried toward the office door to investigate.

ACCOUNT GIVEN

As they did so, Taylor quoted them as saying, the door opened and the Pringle girl fell fainting into the arms of Hale. A moment later Courtney arrived at the office, and, according to his report to Taylor, found Pantages, coatless and with the rest of his clothes in disorder, lying on the floor in the act of explaining to his assembled employees his version of the affair.

Courtney detained all pending the arrival of Detective-Lieutenants Rathbun and Baker from Central Station. Then all were taken to headquarters for questioning.

In the office of Chief of Detectives Taylor, Pantages re-enacted the scene, according to his story, while the Pringle girl was sent to Juvenile Hall for examination.

The Pringle girl is reported by police to be the daughter of Dr. Lewis A. Pringle of 1976 South Oxford avenue, and Mrs. Irene J. Pringle, a teacher in a high school at Garden Grove.

Appeals Court Reverses Crash Damage Verdict

Judgment won in the Superior Court of Orange county by Mrs. Verna Bowman against the Motor Transit Company, for $19,976.90, as the result of a suit growing out of a highway accident was reversed in the District Court of Appeals yesterday. Presiding Justice Conrey, in Division One, held that Superior Judge Ames committed a prejudicial error in his instructions to the jury on the point of contributory negligence. The point was raised by the defense at the trial to show that Fred O. Bowman, driver of the automobile and husband of the plaintiff, was equally responsible for the collision of the Bowman automobile with a Motor Transit bus.

In instructing the jury the trial court declared, it was contended, that evidence of contributory negligence must be such as to produce conviction in the minds of the jurors. The Appellate Court held that such instruction may have led the jurors to believe that the facts constituting contributory negligence had not been proven. Associate Justice York concurred.

Long Beach Jury Returns $35,000 Verdict as Balm

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 9. (Exclusive)—A verdict of $35,000 damages was returned today to Judge Haight in Department D, Superior Court, in the suit of George Wolf against Leon Eccles charging alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's wife, Elizabeth Wolf. Of the amount awarded $20,000 is for actual damages and $15,000 punitive. Wolf is a Long Beach property owner and oil-lease holder. Eccles is a used-car dealer of Wilmington.

The jury, eight women and four men, was out two hours and voted 9 to 3 for the plaintiff. All the women and one man voted for the husband, Wolf.

Dentist Facing Court Action Found Lifeless

G. N. Treat, a dentist of 3717 Brighton avenue, was found dead in his office at 3601 Beverly Boulevard, last night following a search made at the request of his wife who reported to police her husband has been missing for twenty-four hours. Mrs. Treat first appealed to a garage employee, John McCormick, to call her husband in his office. McCormick found the dentist stretched on a couch in his office. Treat was scheduled to appear in court today to answer a charge as a "hit and run" driver. The body was taken to the morgue for autopsy.

FLYERS AIM AT WORLD RECORD

Two Endurance Marks Draw Local Aviators' Fire

Reid and Rocheville Out for Nonrefueling Crown

'Tex' Rankin Plans Hop from Canada to Mexico

Two air-record attempts are scheduled over Southern California this week-end, one a nonrefueling endurance flight from the Long Beach Municipal Airport and the other a nonstop hop from Vancouver, B. C., to Agua Caliente.

With the world's record of sixty-five hours and twenty-five minutes as their objective, Jack Reid, chief test pilot of the Emsco Aircraft Corporation, and Charles F. Rocheville, vice-president and general manager of the organization, will go aloft at 6 a.m. today from the Long Beach airdrome in a new Emsco B-3 cabin transport monoplane. They plan to wrest the world's nonrefueling endurance record away from Germany.

J. G. (Tex) Rankin, president of the Rankin School of Flying, is ready to take off from Vancouver at 3:45 a.m. tomorrow and plans to set his plane down in the border resort thirteen hours later.

Airplane carrying blackboards plan to meet Rankin in his nonstop flight biplane at Portland, Or., Medford, Or., Redding and Fresno to inform him of weather conditions ahead.

This flyer is scheduled to pass over Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport and Grand Central Air Terminal about 4 p.m. tomorrow. A squadron of planes from local ports will escort the Canadian plane to its border destination. Rankin will take off with 162 gallons of gasoline and seven gallons of oil as fuel for the 1200-mile flight.

The Emsco high-winged eight-place monoplane will carry 850 gallons of gasoline and thirty gallons of oil in special tanks installed in the passenger cabin when it takes off from Long Beach. A 300-horsepower Wright Whirlwind J-6 motor is in the nose of the completely stream-lined plane and the pilots estimate that they can break the world's endurance record by at least twelve hours.

CAN'T RISK TURN

At the take-off this morning the flyers will head for San Diego before attempting to bank their heavily loaded plane on a turn, but after sighting their home port again will circle it for more than three days and three nights—if everything goes along smoothly.

Joe Nikrant, official timer for the National Aeronautic Association, will be on hand to check the take-off at Long Beach.

The record which Reid and Rocheville are shooting at is one of the "big four" which the National Aeronautic Association regards as official for international competition, refueling endurance records being classed as "miscellaneous" on the association's books.

Capper Guest at Luncheon in Film Studio

Motion-picture celebrities and State and county leaders yesterday paid honor to Senator Capper of Kansas at a unique luncheon marking his visit to California.

The Senator was the guest of Louis B. Mayer at a luncheon at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, followed by a tour of inspection of the plant. Gov. Young, Representative Crail, Dist.-Atty. Fitts and others, as well as screen celebrities, aided in welcoming the visitor.

The luncheon was held in the executive bungalow of the studio, where the table was decorated in the California colors of blue and gold. An impromptu program was contributed by talking film performers.

The guests invited included Senator Capper, Gov. and Mrs. Young, Julia Faye, Representative and Mrs. Joe Crail, Mr. and Mrs. Buron Fitts, Mr. and Mrs. David Mulvane, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carlin, Col. Frank Knox, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Werner, Mrs. Ida Koverman, George Young, Harry Chandler, Dr. Frank Barham, E. W. Dickson, Cliff Edwards, Catherine Dale Owens and Carlotta King.

by Council.

BAND PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Killgrove's Los Angeles Band will play at Hollenbeck Park tomorrow at 2 p.m. On the program, which is sponsored by the Los Angeles Park Commission, will appear Ada Fay Tuttle, contralto soloist, and Willis Schellhous, baritone soloist.

STREET LANDS WANTED

The city of Glendale yesterday requested the Los Angeles Council to dedicate for street purposes certain land in Griffith Park, to become part of the proposed river truck highway. The matter was referred to the City Engineer and Parks and Playgrounds Committee.

its aim the stimulating of new markets here and elsewhere for the mineral products of Southern California. It was revealed that as a result of the State chamber's activities along this line several commercial minerals have been made available for various industries, including manganese, flourspar, feldspar, bayrites and numerous other minerals.

FOREIGN TRADE SOUGHT

In the belief that Southern California is not getting its full share of foreign trade and that foreign interests should be stimulated in Southern California's products, the Regional Council yesterday decided to impress James Smiley, Los Angeles representative of the United States Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, into service to work with the State chamber in developing additional foreign markets and compiling information on these markets for use of the various Southern California industries.

Steps also will be taken by the State Chamber, it was revealed at yesterday's meeting, to urge the United States Bureau of Standards to establish a cement testing laboratory in Los Angeles. This move was determined upon after learning that the Bureau is to extend its activities in the West. Such laboratories already are established at Denver and San Francisco.

Yesterday's bimonthly conference was presided over by Dr. T. O. Young of Glendale, regional director for his district.

DIRECT AGUA CALIENTE SERVICE BEGINS TODAY

Direct flight between here and Agua Caliente, without stopping at San Diego for customs inspection, will be inaugurated today by Western Air Express, officials announced yesterday. Heretofore passengers have been flown to Tia Juana, and taken from there by bus to the resort.

Western Air Express officials announce that arrangements have been made for the large trimotor Fokker planes to land at the airport which is directly in front of the hotel.

The trip, it is stated, will be made in one hour and nine minutes. For the present planes will leave here each Saturday at 12:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 10 a.m. Daily service is planned for the near future.

DEMONSTRATOR CHOSEN

EL CENTRO, Aug. 9.—Miss Florence Glenn, graduate of the Iowa State College at Ames, is to assume the position of home demonstration agent for the Imperial County Farm Bureau September 1, according to Farm Adviser Frank Beyschlag. Miss Glenn will take the place of Mrs. Mary Little Thomas, who resigned on July 1, after a year's service in the valley.

SHE TAKES AIR LINE ON WAY TO SCHOOL

Patience Mullendorf

Co-eds are coming to college in airplanes now. At least, Miss Patience Mullendorf of Cleveland, Okla., has taken the local lead-off in air travel to pursue a university education.

The Oklahoma miss landed here yesterday from El Paso in a Standard Air Line transport after an air and rail trip from her home to enroll in the post-summer session at the University of Southern California.

"When I decided I wanted to come here to school a few days ago I couldn't see any use in spending nearly a week on the way, so here I am, two days and a night away from home," the co-ed explained.

Miss Mullendorf is residing with her cousin, Miss Catharine Berry, at the Pi Beta Phi sorority house, 647 West Twenty-eighth street. She is a niece of Clint Mullendorf, local attorney, and also expects to enroll at the Trojan institution for the regular fall semester next month. Miss Mullendorf is a graduate of Ferry Hall at Lake Forest, Ill., and will major here in English and public speaking.

GOV. YOUNG SAYS SOUTH TO BENEFIT

Reapportioning Will Mean Lion's Share for This Area, He Declares to Club

GLENDALE, Aug. 9. (Exclusive) Southern California will receive the greatest amount of benefit from the reapportionment of the State Congressional districts, Gov. Young stated today in addressing the Verdugo Woodlands Breakfast Club. Gov. Young attributed the Southland's rapid development and its consequent advantage in Congressional representation to the growth that has followed as a direct result of the spirit of community co-operation that has done so much to build up this part of the State.

Mayor Porter also spoke, confining himself to relating his difficulty in making an acceptable Movietone for one of the studios, when the showing of the first picture showed that the knees of the city's executive perceptibly quivered while he faced the camera. Mayor Kimlin welcomed Gov. Young on behalf of the city of Glendale and Supervisor Wright also greeted the Governor as representative of the Board of Supervisors. Official delegations from Burbank, Beverly Hills and San Fernando were present to hear the address of the Governor, who was introduced by City Manager Charleville.

BEACH GROINS PROTESTED

Santa Monica Canyon Chamber Says Sand Area Shrinking and Gravel Spoils Bathing

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 9.—Dismayed over asserted damage to the beach at Santa Monica Canyon, attributed to the installation of groins above, the Santa Monica Canyon Chamber of Commerce is making a concerted effort to correct the situation.

In reporting the matter to the Los Angeles County Supervisors, a large portion of the beach being county-owned, J. A. Edmundson, secretary of the chamber, declared that the sand area is shrinking in width each year. Coarse gravel is covering the heretofore fine sand on the bottom, where thousands of surf bathers revel.

F. E. Wadsworth, superintendent of recreation camps and playgrounds, after investigating the matter, reported that both gravel and large rocks are making the beach difficult for bathers. He attributed this to the groins to the northwest, declaring that these groins, while increasing beaches above, take their material from those below. At a depth of twenty feet below the surface, sand is not moved by currents changed by the groins. He recommended that not less than four groins be constructed at the canyon beach.

Santa Monica property owners along the beach declared today that the construction of groins involves an endless chain. If one is built, others must follow to save the beaches from ruin.

GUNS OF PEACE AIMED AT WAR

Author Schomer Tells Plans for Intellectology

Great Mass Meeting Will be Held in City Soon

Fund of $10,000,000 Listed as Being Assured

BY ALMA WHITAKER

A great mass meeting is to be called at Shrine Auditorium. A $10,000,000 fund will be raised easily. And the new science of intellectology will be launched in the cause of the abolition of war. Ex-President Coolidge will be invited to accept the chairmanship of a strong committee . . .

ABRAHAM SCHOMER

These are statements made yesterday by Abraham Schomer, now resident at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel. Mr. Schomer's new book, "War and Peace in the New Light of Intellectology," is just off the press . . . a subject to which he has given twenty-six years of study.

Last November a meeting was held at the Roosevelt in Hollywood, attended by numerous influential persons, heads of universities, judges, presidents of clubs and chambers of commerce, ministers, business men . . . including Buron Fitts, Judges Charles W. Doran and Charles W. Fricke, Prof. Aaron Rosanoff, George L. Eastman and others, all of whom have promised to serve on this committee, says Mr. Schomer. Dr. Rufus Von KleinSmid is specially interested. Either he or Dr. Robert Millikan will preside at the meeting, when the international committee will be formed, stated the author.

FINANCING PLANS

"And the $10,000,000?" I wanted to know.

"I expect Henry Ford to contribute $1,000,000, Julius Rosenwald of Chicago another. Edward Bok, Thomas Edison . . . and myself . . . we will start the fund. It will be used for promoting international conferences in a truly honest, scientific effort to solve the problem of war. The tentative committee has suggested that I receive $100,000 for my life study of the subject . . . but any personal tribute of the kind would immediately be dedicated to the fund. Money is no object," insisted Mr. Schomer.

"We are dealing with a mystery," he added. "No one wants war . . . and yet . . . Then why war? In my book I quote many celebrated writers on the cause of war. All the answers to the riddle offer explanations, reasons, not causes. I have reduced the riddle to a problem . . . problems can be solved."

In the book Mr. Schomer, by a clear system of deduction, brings the cause of war down to the superiority complex of nations. Each warrior nation believes itself superior, divine, with the right to conquest and enslavement . . . even while proclaiming the right to "Liberty." He considers the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States sacred documents, in which the authors rose nobler than themselves. They essayed to found a true democracy . . . without any divine rights . . . "even the divine right of the mate to dominate the female," smiles Mr. Schomer, who has high hopes of the women under his intellectology plan of campaign.

BORN IN RUSSIA

Mr. Schomer was born in Russia but now is a passionately devoted American. He feels that Bolshevism means well but is on the wrong track. He is a member of the New York Bar Association and also is a well-known dramatist, some of his best known plays being "The Yellow Passport," "The Inner Man," "Today," "The Ruling Passion," "The Sacred Flame" and "Hidden Light."

His remedy for war and basis for peace is a campaign of thought-agitation, designed by scientific methods, to prove that warriors are criminals; just as pirates, once accepted as mere "foes," now are recognized internationally as criminals. He makes a fine distinction between preparing for war and against war . . . and dissects the motives of every nation under this head. The United States of America comes righteously in the latter class, and Mr. Schomer cites William Penn, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln as noble examples of his theories.

The date of the great mass meeting, says Mr. Schomer, will be announced within the next few days.

Fraccia Rites Announced for Next Monday

Funeral services for Orestes Fraccia, steamship agent and insurance broker with offices at 714 North Broadway, who died Thursday night at his home, 815 Lookout Drive, following a short illness from pneumonia, will be conducted Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple at 1220 West Washington street. The obsequies will be in charge of members of the Masonic order.

Born in Italy in 1876, Mr. Fraccia served as an officer in the Italian army for five years. Then he came to America, going to Mexico first and coming to Los Angeles in 1909. In 1911 he was married to Maria Valsecchi. He was agent for the Orsatti steamship line for nine years and later entered into partnership with F. Morricci.

He was Past Master of Vale de France Lodge No. 329, F. and A. M., and was a thirty-second degree Mason. He leaves his widow.

Biscailuz, [illegible] of the new California State Motor Patrol.

The new motor chief spoke yesterday at the [illegible] Club at the Biltmore where he and his former chief, [illegible] guests of honor.

"It will be the policy of this department to establish safety on California highways," he said. "We want happy motorists and this department will see to it that drivers are not harassed. The efficiency of motor patrolmen will not be measured by the number of arrests made, but rather by the number of accidents which they can prevent through safe and sane driving.

EUGENE BISCAILUZ

"The same courteous treatment will be State-wide, so that a motorist passing from county to county will not detect a difference when he passes county lines. The department will try to take drunken and reckless drivers to the bar of justice quickly and without fear or favor."

He also commended the road-building work in the mountains which now is being undertaken by Sheriff Traeger.

"I am particularly gratified over the success of the road building being done by 400 prisoners under the direction of the Sheriff.

This work is opening up the mountain regions to the public and represents a great gain. The work also is of great benefit to the prisoners. I also commend the work of the contact officer who finds work for worthy prisoners on their release."

Sheriff Traeger said "good-by" to his former aide and wished him success in his new work. The Sheriff asked for close co-operation and support from the public as being highly essential to the establishment of the policies outlined by the motor patrol.

"I cannot find word to express my appreciation of the character of the man who aided me during the reorganization of our office," the Sheriff said. "His loyalty, intelligence and understanding have set a standard for the position of undersheriff which will be hard to fill."

Biscailuz told of his twenty-two years of service in the Sheriff's office. There were but twenty-seven men employed at the time of his start and but six departments of justice. He recalled the time when the calls had to be responded to from the office by horse and buggy or by street car. The meeting was broadcast through KHJ.

MRS. HOLLAND'S TRIAL SET OVER

[illegible]ance to October Granted by Court

Prosecutor Asks More Time to Investigate Reports

[illegible]ility of Dropping Case Hinges on Study

The case of Mrs. Thelma Holland, [illegible]-year-old expectant mother, who [illegible] weeks ago pleaded guilty to [illegible] sentenced to San Quentin pen[illegible] clemency and later was allowed [illegible] withdraw her plea on a charge [illegible] manslaughter, yesterday was [illegible] to October 9 by Superior [illegible] McComb, before whom [illegible] was called for trial.

The continuance was granted [illegible] request of Chief Trial Deputy Dist[illegible] Attorney Beecher, who told [illegible] court his office desires more time [illegible] which to investigate the circumstances of Mrs. Holland's past life, [illegible] her reported physical condition. It was indicated the District Attorney's office will make a thorough study of numerous reports before definitely decides to prosecute or drop the case.

BAIL STANDS

[illegible] C. Davis, attorney for Mrs. [illegible] did not oppose the motion for delay, declaring his client had nothing to fear from any investigation. Judge McComb then set the case over without ocmment, as did Mrs. Holland's present bail [illegible] to stand until the date of the next court hearing.

Mrs. Holland was arrested last [illegible] with her husband, Charles Holland, and Walter Payne, 19, on the possession charge. All three pleaded guilty before Superior Judge [illegible], but Holland assumed responsibility for the still, waived [illegible] and was sentenced to Folsom for from one to five years.

PROBATION DENIED

Mrs. Holland and Payne applied for probation, but Judge Wilson denied their pleas, sentenced Mrs. Holland to San Quentin and ordered [illegible] to Preston State School until [illegible] attains his majority.

Notification of the fact that upon the terms of her sentence Mrs. Holland expected baby would be born in San Quentin created widespread interest in the case, and reporters in Mrs. Holland being allowed to enter a plea of not guilty to the charge after Judge Wilson had set aside the sentence he previously had imposed. The case was to have come to trial yesterday before [illegible].

Mrs. Holland asserts she pleaded guilty before Judge Wilson only to [illegible] that her husband operated the still and in the belief she would be given probation [illegible] of her condition.

[illegible] of taking part in an assault on two film actors at the [illegible] Brothers' studio, Eddie [illegible] of 5555 Hollywood Boulevard was arrested yesterday and booked on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Detective Lieutenant Darnell, who made the arrest under orders from Detective Captain Hynes of the Intelligence bureau, asserts that Welch is one of the six men who beat up Goddard and Harry Dean, actors. Goddard is at Georgia Receiving Hospital in serious condition as result of being kicked in the abdomen.

Goddard and Deck were assaulted Thursday near the main entrance of Warner Brothers' studio on Sunset Boulevard and Bronson avenue. Deck said that Goddard, in his aid when six men set upon him, Harvey G. Parry and [illegible] R. Wilson were arrested last night and are charged with suspicion of assault to do great bodily harm.

Goddard, who is 36 years of age and lives at 1836 Cahuenga avenue, was operated on at Receiving Hospital following the assault.

JULIAN OIL JINX STILL RE-ECHOING

Latest Aftermath of Old Sensation Heard at Court in Damage Suit Appeal

Echoes of the famous court battle resulting from the asserted attack by H. J. Kimmerle on Arthur M. Loeb, Julian stockholders, as a result of which Loeb was awarded more than $50,000 damages against Kimmerle and DeKalb Spurling, another Julian stockholder, were heard in the District Court of Appeals yesterday when Kimmerle and Spurlin filed an appeal from the verdict.

Transcripts of the clerk's transcripts and the reporters' transcripts of the trial, held in Superior Court in March of this year, were filed yesterday by Tanner, O'Dell & Taft, attorneys for Spurlin, and by Kimmerle, acting as attorney in person. No briefs had been filed in the appeal action up to a late hour yesterday.

At the trial of the damage suit brought by Loeb against Kimmerle and Spurlin it was asserted that Loeb was attacked by the defendants in offices established by a committee of Julian stockholders, organized to protect their interests after the bottom had fallen out of the C. C. Julian boom. Loeb sustained a fracture of the skull, loss of the sight of one eye and other injuries during the melee, it was asserted. The jury awarded him $50,000 compensatory damages and $2948 special or actual damages. It is from this judgment that the defendants have appealed.

EQUITY VOTE IN FILM ROW DUE TONIGHT

Everybody Silent as They Await Session That May End Hollywood Strike

Hollywood is primed for tonight's closed meeting of the Actors' Equity Association at the American Legion Stadium which may result in an end to the strike of the players. Frank Gillmore, president of Equity, is to lay before the members for vote the agreements said to have been reached at conferences with representatives of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers.

Producers as well as Gillmore, remain silent and all the Equity president has to say is that the result of the conferences with producers will not be disclosed until after tonight's meeting. The producers also declined to issue statements concerning the terms of settlement. The Equity and producers committees did not and will not meet again until after the closed meeting.

The conferences were started a week ago. The Equity strike began June 4, last, when the Equity contract was announced by Gillmore.

"Impersonator" Accused Again

James P. Parkinson is strong for punishment, it was indicated yesterday when he appeared before United States Commissioner Head on a second charge of impersonating a government officer.

The defendant, it is reported, recently had been released from the County Jail, where he served a sentence of six months for impersonating an officer of the Department of Agriculture.

The charge on which he appeared yesterday was that he represented to Ezekiel Kan, a jeweler of 228 West Fourth street, that he was a government narcotic agent here. On the strength of the representations, it is charged, Parkinson bought a watch for $80, giving an asserted bad check for $90, and receiving $10 in change.

Commissioner Head held the defendant to the Federal grand jury under $5000 bail.

ATTORNEY LA PLANTE SUES FILM CONCERN

In an effort to recover $2650 for legal services asserted to have been performed, William La Plante, a Mayoralty candidate in the recent city election, appeared before Superior Judge Anderson yesterday with a lawsuit against the Berwilla Film Corporation. La Plante, represented by Attorney A. Brigham Rose, contends he was employed by the defendant company to contest several civil suits and perform other services in connection with the company's income tax returns. In its answer the company denies the assertions made by La Plante.

DIVORCEE GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Mrs. Johnson Given Term in San Quentin for Plot to Kill Grandmother

Mrs. Irene Johnson, 29-year-old divorcee convicted of attempting to murder her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah J. McDonald, 60, of Whittier, yesterday was sentenced by Superior Judge Hardy to life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary.

Judge Hardy also sentenced Mrs. Johnson on one count of forging her grandmother's name to a check for $65, and it was pointed out that with three previous convictions against her Mrs. Johnson is considered by the law to be a habitual criminal and subject to life imprisonment.

Sentence was imposed after the court denied the woman's motion for a new trial.

According to testimony at her trial, Mrs. Johnson was residing with her grandmother at 315 Pickering street, Whittier, at the time of the attempt to end Mrs. McDonald's life. Evidence showed that an open gas hose had been run from the kitchen to Mrs. McDonald's bedroom and there propped up on a chair next to the woman's bed.

The plot was discovered when she was awakened by the sound of escaping gas and summoned neighbors by her screams. As a motive for the crime the State offered the theory that Mrs. Johnson wanted to inherit Mrs. McDonald's estate. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Barnes prosecuted the case.

Beer Found by Thief Hunters

A robbery complaint yesterday led to the discovery by police of 150 bottles of beer at the address where the complainant said he lost his money.

Albert Valencia of 1230 South Gage street early yesterday reported that during the evening two strangers guided him to 448½ East Twentieth street, where they treated to a bottle of beer. Valencia said he became drowsy, and when he woke up, he was minus $90 he had carried. He led Detective Lieutenants O'Connor and Hurst to the place, where the officers report finding the beer, which they destroyed.

Detective Lieutenant Shomaker, head of the vice squad, obtained John Doe warrants for the asserted tenants.

Fahy to Fly in Colorado Races

Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy, holder of the world's solo endurance record, took off yesterday for Colorado Springs, Colo., to fly his Lockheed-Vega monoplane in a series of air races scheduled there today and tomorrow.

The flyer will compete in the commercial plane races. His ship is powered with a Pratt-Whitney Wasp motor of 425 horsepower and is capable of doing 150 miles an hour. Sam Breder of the Lockheed Aircraft Company accompanied Fahy.

WITNESS FLAYS RUSH MEADOWS

Woman Attorney Says He Did Nothing for Osborne

Mrs. Foltz Testifies How She Sought Pardon

Ex-Grid Star Accused of Fraud Takes Stand

Testimony of Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, attorney and sister of United States Senator Shortridge, yesterday featured the trial in Judge Fricke's court of George, Rush Meadows, former football star charged with a $25,000 swindle in connection with his asserted fraudulent representations that he could procure a parole for John R. Osborne, Los Angeles promoter, now serving a Federal sentence of ten years.

Mrs. Foltz described her efforts to obtain a commutation of sentence for young Osborne, interpolating her remarks on several occasions, however, to state that Meadows played absolutely no part in the application for a commutation she had submitted to the authorities at Washington in benalf of the convicted promoter.

TESTIMONY DISREGARDED

At one point in her testimony, Mrs. Foltz charged that Meadows had "taken $31,000 from Osborne's relatives and didn't do a thing for him." Judge Fricke instructed the jury to disregard this and several other portions of Mrs. Foltz's testimony on the ground they were not admissible under the rules of evidence.

It was brought out earlier in the trial in the testimony of United States Pardon Attorney Finch that Mrs. Foltz was the only person who ever had filed a regular application for commutation in behalf of young Osborne. According to Finch, the application was premature as Osborne had not served the minimum portion of his sentence, and the application still is an "open matter" in Finch's office.

"I never worked harder on anything in my life than I did in that case," said Mrs. Foltz. "I was actuated by my sympathy for the boy and his parents, because I had known them for a long time and because I believed that the boy had been dominated by another party."

MEADOWS ON STAND

Meadows resumed his testimony in his defense during the afternoon session. He still was on the witness stand when court adjourned and it is expected his examination will continue the greater part of Monday, when the trial will be resumed.

The defense is seeking to establish through his testimony that at least part of the money advanced to him by the Osbornes was used to further the interests of a colonization project in which he and John E. Osborne, father of the promoter, are said to have been interested.

The case, which has been on trial for more than three weeks, was drawing toward a close yesterday. It is expected testimony will be concluded Tuesday and with two days reserved for arguments to the case probably will be submitted to the jury the latter part of the week.

Meadows is specifically charged with eleven counts of grand theft of various sums ranging from $100 to $5000 from Mrs. Edith May Osborne and Laura C. Osborne, mother and wife, respectively, of the promoter, who was convicted in connection with the promotion of Valhalla Memorial Park.

The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Menzies and Pemsey.

Dollar Sent Via Mails on Mercy Errand

One of Uncle Sam's new $1 bills drew the nicest assignment of its career yesterday. The engraving of Gen. Washington was almost smiling when it slipped out of a letter addressed to The Times.

An unsigned note accompanied it. This note said:

"Please give this small donation toward helping this poor family, or if too late give to some other deserving ones."

Accompanying the note was a newspaper clipping from The Times relating the work of Detective Lieutenant Beeson in aiding a stranded mother and her family of three, at Central Station recently. This family, from Amarillo, Tex., was stranded, broke and hungry. The woman is Mrs. Ethel Richardson, whose husband is an invalid in a hospital at Amarillo. Police officers contributed $50 toward helping the family.

Low Fares Made for Fiesta Days

Special passenger fares have been established to accommodate visitors to Santa Barbara's "Old Spanish Days" fiesta, it was announced yesterday by C. L. McPaul, assistant passenger traffic manager for Southern Pacific. Round-trip tickets for the price of the one-way fare and one-tenth will be sold on each of the four days, the 14th to 17th inst., at all points between Los Angeles and San Luis Obispo. Tickets are good for departure on day of purchase only, with a return limit to the 18th inst.

In addition to the pageant depicting Santa Barbara's history from Cabrillo's landing in 1852 to modern times, public dancing, strolling players and singers, the arrival of the first passenger train forty-two years ago will be celebrated the 17th inst. On that day the Southern Pacific will run into the station a duplicate of the first train with pioneers who attended the original celebration as passengers and greeters dressed in costumes of the period.

Former Trojan Co-ed Finishes Paris Art Study

With a background of four years' study in Paris with noted sculptors and coupled with an art training which started in Los Angeles, Ada May Sharpless, of Santa Ana, has returned to Southern California with the hope of fixing some of its beauties in stone.

Miss Sharpless graduated from the University of Southern California and studied for a time at the Otis Art Institute in this city and left four years ago for Paris where she studied under Antoine Bourdelle. Before leaving Paris she maintained a studio on Rue Boissonnade and exhibited a number of her works at the Tuilleries and also at the Salon des Independants.

Miss Sharpless is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, pioneer residents of Orange county.

WATER ROW INJUNCTION SUGGESTED

Action Aimed at Glendale and Burbank Proposed in River Use Controversy

In response to an inquiry from the Board of Water and Power Commissioners for a legal opinion, W. B. Mathews, general counsel for the board, yesterday recommended that the city of Los Angeles institute injunction proceedings to prevent, if possible, the further withdrawal of water from the Los Angeles River channel by the cities of Burbank and Glendale.

Mathews pointed out in his letter that Burbank and Glendale for some time have been withdrawing water for use within those cities from the Los Angeles River channel gravels. He declared that the city of Los Angeles possesses sole right to the waters. These rights, he explained, date far back to the days of the establishment of the city as a Spanish pueblo. The rights since have been upheld by high court decisions, he declared.

Several years ago Los Angeles sought to safeguard its asserted rights to all of the water in the Los Angeles River channel by filing bills for water consumed by Burbank and Glendale. The bills never have been paid and it is understood that city officials of both Burbank and Glendale have indicated that they will fight any attempt on the part of Los Angeles to enjoin them from the use of the river water.

Breakfast Club to Fete Flyers

Aviatrices who will compete in the National Women's Air Derby will be guests of the Los Angeles Breakfast Club next Wednesday morning when they will get together for the only time prior to the start of the race on the 18th inst., from Clover Field. Other guests are to be officials of the Santa Monica Exchange Club, which sponsors this air derby, and city officials of Santa Monica.

Among the women pilots to be present are Florence L. Barnes, Marjorie Crawford, Marvel Crosson, Amelia Earhart, Ruth Elder, Claire Fahy, Peggy Hall, Lady Mary Heath, May Haizlys, Marcell Huyette, Mrs. Keith Miller, Ruth Mieols, Blanche W. Noyes, Gladys O'Donnell, Phoebe Omlie, Neva Paris, Margaret Perry, Gladys Poole, Thea Rasche, Elinor Smith, Louise M. Thaden, Bobbie Trout, Mary E. Are you simplifying your household duties as much as possible? If you do not own a Conover Electric Dish Washing Machine then the answer is a negative one and you are still a slave to the obnoxious task of washing dishes three times a day. Have you ever seen a Conover Electric Dish Washer in action? Why the way they can wash not only dishes, silver and glasses, but pots and pans, is little short of amazing! . . . and what do you think, you may have one to try out for a whole week—all that is necessary for you to do now that you are interested in this machine (which is procurable in three sizes to suit any sized family) is to write or phone Mr. V. Pardieck, 2027 South Victoria street, EMpire 9056. One trial and you will never be content till you own this machine—that we will wager.

To clean a carpet sweeper, remove brush and clean out all hairs and lint (a cheap wire hairbrush is fine for this;) then rub brush well with a cloth wet in kerosene and let stand in the air till odor is gone; it will then do much better work. To stiffen the bristles of a sweeper brush, or any brush, dip them up and down in hot water to which a little baking soda has been added; dry in the sun.

It would do your heart good to hear the way the good old Bim family, one and all, wax enthusiastic over Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice! They simply couldn't get along without the grape juice it makes—and as for intriguing punches and desserts for the guests they wanted to please, well, it is just as Mrs. Bim told me confidentially, she lays her popularity as a successful hostess to Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice!

Now isn't that a tribute to this worth-while product given us by the Italian Vineyard Company, and are you not as eager as Mrs. Bim to be popular with your friends? Then phone your near-by grocer for a quart or gallon at once, that you, too, may serve all the delicious grape juice you want. In case your grocer can't supply you, here is what you are to do: Phone MUtual 2134—the Italian Vineyard Company's number, and they will take care of your order pronto, sending you at the same time one of their most interesting and ever so worth while booklets known as "Grape Drinks and Desserts," which is exactly what you need most these warm August days.

To clean white shoes, buy oxide of zinc in powder form, put it in a wide-mouthed bottle and fill the bottle with water; apply it with a sponge, and let the shoes dry overnight, repeating the next night if necessary.

No longer need you hesitate about having your most valuable oriental and Chinese rugs cleaned for it is indeed a pleasure to recommend the services of John Bloeser City Steam Carpet Cleaning Works. They will return your rugs throughly cleaned and looking like new! Do give this concern a trial—their phone number is TRinity 4739.

You must have heard about Mayflower Brand of potato chips—but have you tasted them? They are simply scrumptous and one trial will make you a continual customer of that, there is no doubt! Do take note of the address and in case your grocer can't supply you with the Mayflower Brand of Potato Chips, call the Scudder Food Products, ANgelus 6512.

Always frame your photographs as well as other pictures if you would preserve them properly—and always take them to one of Mathews Paint Company's stores to have them framed in the most ultra fashion. Their made frames and their moldings are ever so fashionable, being suited for every kind of portrait, etching or fruit—indeed all pictures will find a suitable frame at Mathews. Now that photographs of brides and graduates are the thing, take in all such likenesses as soon as possible, won't you? Mathews Paint Co. has three convenient locations: One at 1345 S. Any sort of jewelry you want repaired or copied; any stone recut, or polished and reset—all such work take to Mr. Kent at the Peerless Platers, 229½ S. Spring (upstairs.) Thoroughly reliable is his work and modest the charges. Remember he has a very fine stock as well of new jewelry, too.

To remove paint stains from stone floors or oilcloth, rub turpentine well on the stains and then wash them with soap and water.

We will wager you have never before realized what a deal more pleasure is to be derived from a picnic or beach party where the bother of preparing a lunch was eliminated. The "Sur-Val" Box Lunch Company of 603 Mateo street deserves all the credit for taking the drudgery out of such functions. Have you ever tasted better box lunches or sandwiches than they prepare—and at so reasonable a charge? If you haven't tried them yet, do so soon! Their phone number, be reminded, is PAber 1176.

White satin shoes and all white silk garments should be wrapped in blue tissue paper, or in a cloth that has been blued in strong bluing water, to prevent discoloration; the lime in white paper turns them yellow. Slippers of silver or gold should be wrapped in black tissue paper to prevent tarnishing.

Couldn't you send right now to H. E. Simank, 725 W. 9th, the pieces of furniture you have which are in need of reupholstering? To prevent a blister on the heel when shoes slip, rub paraffin, or soap, on the stocking. In a short time the slipping will stop. If slippers do not cling to the feet while dancing, gum a small piece of velveteen and place it inside the back of each heel; or, try a patch of adhesive tape.

STUDIO TO SPEND MILLIONS

Large Sum Set Aside by R.-K.-O. to Enlarge Program and Improve Sound-Stage Facilities

An additional appropriation of $3,000,000 to be used to enlarge this season's program and to amplify studio facilities in Hollywood, was announced yesterday by William Le Baron, vice-president in charge of production of Radio Pictures, following his return from New York.

Le Baron stressed the fact that the new appropriation is not to be used for next season's program and that more money was allotted to produce the present schedule on a more lavish basis in view of the success of the first showing of R.-K.-O. pictures.

Decision for the new appropriation was reached following conferences in the East between David Sarnoff, chairman of the R.-K.-O. board of directors; Hiram S. Brown, president of R.-K.-O. Theaters, Inc., and Joseph I. Schnitzer, president of R.-K.-O. Productions, Inc.

Of the total allotment, according to Le Baron, $1,000,000 is to be expended to enlarge the scope of this year's entertainment program, while the balance of $2,000,000 will go toward enlarging the present R.-K.-O. studio in Hollywood.

Le Baron declared ground was broken yesterday for a new sound stage to be approximately 500x200 feet and ninety feet high, to contain four separate sound chambers, each as large as an ordinary sound stage. It will embrace all of the new construction ideas and provide space enough for four separate companies to work at the same time or be thrown open for one enormous stage for scenes of unusual size.

"In addition Radio Pictures will acquire a 500-acre ranch in San Fernando Valley for the filming of outdoor scenes," Le Baron stated. "The ranch is to be equipped with studio facilities and RCA Photophone sound equipment and the project includes construction of a railroad."

NEW TIP IN FOSTER MURDER

Officers Trail Pair Who Escape Police Raid Here and Flee by Bus to Fresno or Stockton

Search for the two men believed to have been "nervous bandits" who murdered A. Frank Foster, wealthy soap manufacturer, as he stepped into an automobile in front of his San Marino-street apartment July 29, last, has led to northern cities, it was revealed yesterday by Captain of Detectives Cato, in charge of the investigation. Capt. Cato announced that three days ago he dispatched Detective Lieutenants James and Brown to Fresno on what is believed to be reliable information that the killers are in that city.

This movement, according to the officer, resulted from a raid made five days ago on a house at 1416 West Tenth Place, where a gang of hold-up men were understood to be living. Four men were taken in custody at the time, but after questioning three were released, the fourth being returned to Lincoln Heights Jail to complete an unfinished sentence.

Interrogation of the suspects revealed that two others had escaped through a rear door on the night of the raid. These two, it was learned, answered the descriptions of the slayers, as furnished police by Miss Beth Taylor, who was with Foster when he was killed. Detectives checked their movements and learned they had purchased motor-bus tickets to Fresno on the night of the murder.

Later, Capt. Cato learned from a woman tenant in the same house that she had overheard two men plan a trip to Fresno, "as soon as the cops arrest everybody else from here to Seattle." This woman, whose name was withheld, was detailed by the District Attorney's office to accompany James and Brown. An investigator for the District Attorney's office also is in the party.

Not having heard from his men since their departure, Capt. Cato said it is likely they have picked up a clew in Fresno and left there for another city in that vicinity, possibly Stockton.

Police Officer Found Guilty in Bribe Case

Grover Stubbs, Los Angeles police officer, yesterday was convicted by Superior Judge Gans of a charge of bribery in connection with his asserted solicitation and acceptance of $75 while investigating a traffic accident.

According to testimony, Stubbs went to Fred Baumiller of 417 East Ninety-seventh street and told Baumiller he was in a serious predicament because his car had been involved in an accident, but that the matter probably could be smoothed over for $75.

Stubbs denied he asked for a bribe and declared he wanted the money to insure the payment of damages suffered by the other automobile in the accident. Sentence will be imposed Monday.

Search Widens for Slayer of Cafe Operator

Police yesterday continued a systematic search for the unidentified slayer who murdered Gerhardi (Gus) Engell, cafe owner, in the latter's restaurant at 301 South Central avenue Thursday night.

Detectives obtained a good description of the killer who shot Engell in an argument over paying for a cup of coffee, and with this information yesterday searched lodging houses and other resorts.

GIRL LEAVES HOME; UNCLE ASKS SEARCH

Juvenile authorities yesterday were asked to search for Marie Durand, 17 years of age, who was reported to have disappeared on the 3rd inst. from her home at 701 East Seventy-eighth street. The report was made by the girl's uncle, Richard Suesbrick, of the same address, who said he believes she was persuaded to leave by several young men.

SOLOIST TO APPEAR WITH ROBERTS BAND

Eloise Jones, soprano, assisted by Marjorie Wright, accompanist, will be the guest soloist at tomorrow afternoon's Lincoln Park concert by the Harold Roberts Golden State Band. Miss Jones is a member of the university musical organizations group. Another feature of the program will be the appearance of Peter Lewin, xylophone virtuoso. The band will be directed by Charles Phelps.

Today's Bible Text

Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things. Romans II:1.

NOTHING DOING

Man who lost three jobs last month says he now knows how it is to have that fired feeling.

BY WAY OF SUGGESTION

A Princeton professor finds great efficiency in the firefly. He says it burns an oil which replenishes itself and can be burned again. Why doesn't Henry Ford cross his tin bugs with the firefly and give us something that can run forever and make its own head and tail lights?

A GALLON A DAY

It seems to be established by the books that the consumption of gasoline in California now amounts to an average of a gallon a day for every man, woman and child in the State. If baby doesn't get her gallon it's a sign that daddy has had two. A gallon a day keeps all folks away—from home.

ON THE SIDE

Use of ginger ale as an American beverage has increased nearly 100 per cent in ten years, according to the statistician. Possibly this is another of those things that can be blamed upon prohibition. Anyhow, it is said to be a favorite associate gargle with those who are trying to forget prohibition.

IN HIGH STYLE

One of the Detroit Fishers is getting the most luxurious plane yet built in America. It is a fourteen-passenger craft with three motors and will cost more than $100,000. The maximum speed will be 150 miles an hour and it will have a number of special features new to the heavens—mostly to contribute to the comfort and ease of the traveler.

NO NEED OF WORRY

Now the agencies of peace are seeking to eliminate the word "military" from all references to the Citizens' Training camps. The camp is not supposed to be a war drill, but a physical-culture proposition in the interest of the public peace and national defense. If foreigners fear that we are conducting military training camps all over the country we are willing to call them recreational centers or community picnics.

MY OLD NEW JERSEY

For the first time in its history New Jersey is to have a State song. It was given by a grand opera singer at a State Chamber of Commerce banquet the other night and created great enthusiasm. We haven't seen the words, but unless they recognize the Jersey skeeter and the Standard Oil Company the song will fail to do justice to its subject.

ZONING LAWS

It is explained that there are now nearly 800 American cities having zoning ordinances and seventy-five of them are in California. The principle is revolutionary to many minds who still contend that a property owner may do as he likes with his own. But the courts have sustained the zoning laws in almost every instance and the theory of the greatest good to the greatest number has its place as the dominant note in community life. There may be opportunities for graft or blackmail, but in the long run they will be discovered and discounted.

THE WORLD'S DISTURBERS

Recent strike involving a New York cemetery resulted in the postponement of a dozen funerals. An official of the cemetery chauffeurs' union lost his job and his fellows promptly stopped in their tracks and refused to haul the dead or their pallbearers another foot. Not only that but the members of the gravediggers' union threw down their shovels and started a sympathetic strike. As a result nobody could be buried and funerals were turned back. If a weary New Yorker wished to croak he had to wait until the strike was settled. Anyhow, it was an example of ghoulish union methods. They are ready to sacrifice their families and the world for some silly little point involving union prestige.

FRUIT-FLY LOSSES

The duty of the national government to reimburse Florida fruit and vegetable growers for a part of their losses due to the Mediterranean fruit fly and the resultant quarantine is hardly a matter for debate. But the demand now being formulated in that State for 100 per cent compensation is one which, if acceded to, would not prove to the best interests of Florida, the country or even the growers themselves. It is true the situation is in many respects unique; Florida has been visited by a series of calamities calculated to shake the solvency of the most prosperous State and is not at the present time in financial condition to meet all, or any great part, of the customary State share of reparations in such cases. Then, too, the fruit-fly peril is more truly a national peril, threatening widespread disaster, than it is a local danger.

But, there should be no 100 per cent compensation from the nation or the State and nation combined to anybody. The reasons are deep bedded in unfortunate experience, in this and other countries. They may be stated as due, in part, to the fact that in any community there will be a certain proportion of men who would profiteer from the situation.

Years ago the State of New York, faced with the problem of obtaining men to fight forest fires, offered a rate of pay for fire fighters about double the going rate for common labor. The result was an almost immediate outbreak of incendiarism, which was not checked until the Legislature provided for drafting fire fighters at a much lower rate of pay.

There are growers not only in Florida, but everywhere, who would be glad to sell their crops to the government, even if they had to infect them deliberately, to save themselves the trouble of normal marketing. Their proportion is small compared with the whole number; but a single rotten apple will spoil a whole barrel. Upon every grower must be placed enough financial burden to make it very decidedly to his interest to give full co-operation in the eradication of the pest. No such incentive would be present—rather the contrary—on a basis of full compensation.

Then, too, compensation in part only leaves room for error in appraisal. If only 50 per cent or 75 per cent, or whatever percentage is deemed to be fair, is to be paid, the crop has to be very markedly overvalued to let the grower emerge with a profit to which he is not entitled. No such margin exists where the compensation is fixed at 100 per cent.

President Hoover and others in authority at Washington are said to be of the opinion that 50 per cent of the fair value of the crops confiscated is as much a the national government should be called upon to assume. It may be that in view of the special and unusual circumstances, this percentage is too low, or that the national government should make a loan to Florida, without interest or at a low rate, of funds to pay the State's share of compensation.

In the case of the foot-and-mouth epizootic in this State, the nation and State each paid half the compensation for the destroyed herds, but that compensation was by no means 100 per cent or anywhere near it. The loss to stock raisers has been estimated as high as $25,000,000, while the total paid by State and nation was $5,000,000. No claim for 100 per cent compensation was even considered. The California cattle growers understood the situation and bore their great burden with no complaint.

The Federal Farm Board has done well in making available $300,000 to be loaned to co-operatives of Florida for the purchase and installation of disinfection apparatus so that part of the crop may be marketed safely. Whatever is necessary should be provided, in this and other ways. There should be no niggardly stinting of the forces mobilized for war on the fly; this is no time for pinching pennies. But on the other hand it is no time to be making serious strategical mistakes, and 100 per cent compensation for growers falls into this classification.

MUD AND GLORY

No test so completely reveals an individual's real nature as a short sojourn in a summer camp, out in the open, where everyone must chip in and do his share of the chores. Under the most favorable conditions of scenery and weather such camps develop a certain amount of friction and too often its members part not quite such good friends as when they met.

In the two weeks' World Jamboree of the International Boy Scouts, held at Arrowe Park, Cheshire, Eng., 50,000 boys from forty-two nations have set a record in outdoor camping which, it is safe to say, could not have been made outside of the ranks of these perfectly trained organizations.

Nature appears to have done everything it knew how to spoil the success of the big meet. It rained incessantly with the persistence of an English summer in its meanest mood. The camp was turned into a sea of mud. All the causes that make for disgruntlement were actively on the job. The compensations afforded by sunshine and genial surroundings were conspicuous by their absence.

In addition to this, this multitude of high-spirited youths was composed largely of strangers in a strange land. They spoke seventeen different languages. They came from nations that twelve years ago had been the victims of the worst propaganda of hatred and mistrust the world has ever experienced. There were incentives, enough and to spare, to mar the harmony of the projected boy fellowship.

Yet they fraternized perfectly. Under the depressing skies, wallowing through acres of mud, in their sopping-wet uniforms, they displayed a spirit of cheerfulness and a resourcefulness in getting the best out of the worst that would have exalted the finest company of men and women society has ever brought together. In the opening parade they marched their mile course through a veritable cloudburst, without a whimper, with heads up and colors flying.

They did not forget that they were Americans, British, French, German, Japanese, Hungarians, sons of forty-two nations, of forty-two various traditions, customs and standards. But they remembered that they were—first of all—boys. They remembered that they had assembled to represent youth. And not youth only, but the high code of comradeship under which they were marshalled as Boy Scouts of the World.

The Boy Scouts have every reason to be proud of the success they have made of their Arrowe Park Jamboree under circumstances that would have blighted the enjoyment of out-in-the-open camping for the most enthusiastic grown-up vacationist. Those who have watched the actions of our own Boy Scouts in California and know the caliber they acquire under the physical, mental and moral training of their order, can readily realize why they can be counted on to succeed in anything they undertake.

The perfection of their physical training is well set forth in the fact that through that two weeks of incessant rain and chill out of the whole 50,000 there were only 114 hospital cases, a record never achieved by the best of military camps. The joy and cheer they infused into every feature of their camp life speaks volumes for the quality of their minds. The morale of these young soldiers of peace sets an example to all organizations of men, women or children in any part of the world.

The Boy Scouts can get glory out of anything they tackle—even Cheshire mud.

EL PUEBLO

Some one in San Francisco protests in the Chronicle that a correspondent was indiscreet enough to call Los Angeles, "La Ciudad." He goes on further to clear the matter up by saying that our actual name is "El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora, La Reina de Los Angeles."

We lament that anyone should have fallen into error and called us a city. At present we have less than a million and a half inhabitants. Miss Los Angeles is not yet out of her teens. Nor would we have her otherwise. This is her chief charm. She is unspoiled and wholesome. There is nothing jaded nor spent about her.

And she is growing at the rate of about 100,000 a year. Nobody ventures to predict when this will stop. She is not cooped up on an island like New York, nor on a peninsula like San Francisco. Her streets run from the mountains to the sea and are beginning to leap over the ranges. Her hills now offer the finest homesites.

She is young enough to have growing pains. Some neighborhoods yowl with seeming agony over assessments; and then turn around and boast about the tremendous development programs.

Miss Los Angeles may also spend considerable time, like other youngsters, playing. She cannot help it. She feels friendly with the world and will run blocks to show a stranger the way. Welcome is offered to all comers. This is an offense to some; but it is the trustful nature of the child. Youth does many things that shock its elders. It takes on the newest fads in fashions and architecture. Indeed, it may be accused at times of creating some of these vagaries. But it has initiative and will come out right in the end.

We make humble apology for being a mere pueblo. But it is a disease that can be outgrown. And then mountaineers are always calling their peaks hills and flat countries name their molehills mountains. A real city is not abashed at being called a pueblo.

MOSES AS A LEADER

Senator George H. Moses becomes the head of the Republican National Committee so far as the upper house of Congress is concerned. Some valuable scalps are at stake in the next Senatorial campaign and the Republican party does not propose to lose any of its strength if it can be helped. Senator Moses could lead almost anybody out of the wilderness. He knows his politics from the ground up.

THE RADIO CAB

General Motors is represented as putting out a line of taxicabs that are to be equipped with radio. In this way jazz can be made to drown out the click of the meter. But Commissioner Grover Whalen of New York says that these devices may not have room on the streets of his city. He says that there is too much noise now and the idea of putting more of it on wheels and moving it about town does not appeal to him. So there it is. The radio cab is banned.

IT'S A CRUEL WORLD
By James J. Montague

Bisected by the eagle's beak
The jay gives a despairing squeak.

His fate seems cruel, wrong and grim
And so we sympathize with him.

But if the jay were left alive
Unless he ate he could not thrive

And being far from kind and mild
He'd dine upon the robin's child.

And, therefore, bitter words we'd say
About the fierce, rapacious jay.

Yet if the robin's child grew up
Upon an angle worm he'd sup,

Which all the scientists affirm
Is quite a beneficial worm.

Yet doubtless if the worm were spared
Some lesser creature would be scared

When it came writhing through the soil
In search of living, wriggling spoil.

We kindly human folk agree
That things like this ought not to be.

And yet we soon would pass away
Unless we too were beasts of prey.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

RECENTLY this colyum quoted a local tree authority to effect that "California's noblest tree" was a eucalyptus on Robertson Boulevard not far from Pico. But J. C. McCubbin, 1017 West Thirty-sixth street, isn't willing to admit that. He writes:

"When I read your article I lost no time in making a personal investigation. I found a wonderful specimen of the eucalyptus family, but doubt that Luther Burbank, were he still alive, would find occasion to make any correction in a communication he once addressed to me in which, referring to the McCubbin gum tree, growing near Dinuba, he called it 'The most magnificent of all the gum trees I have seen.'"

Try These on Your Contenders

Anyone wishing to enter a tree in this competition may find these measurements interesting. The McCubbin tree, he writes, boasts the following biceps, reach and chest expansion:

Girth at ground, 29 feet 3 inches.

Girth three feet above ground, 21 feet 11 inches.

Spread of boughs, 123 feet.

Height of tree, 131 feet.

This tree, McCubbin says, is one foot five inches greater in girth at the ground than is the Robertson Boulevard tree and one foot one inch greater three feet from the ground. The McCubbin tree is forty years old, or about ten years younger than the Robertson Boulevard tree.

Speaking of Trees—

The "Rim of the World," including Big Bear and Lake Arrowhead, originally was settled by Mormons, who, so that every house in which the faithful lived might be known to others of the sect, set two trees in front of the house, forming a sort of living portal to it. Driving through that area, one still may see many big, old trees in perfectly aligned pairs which were set out for that purpose. And doubtless in many other parts of Southern California a pair of trees standing portal-like before a house signifies a Mormon tradition rather than merely an effort at landscaping or a desire for shade.

A Protected Puncture Vine

Trees are great friends for those who may have them, but where the world is waste even a puncture vine may seem beautiful. According to Dean Van Norman, head of camp and transportation and brother of H. A. Van Norman, a puncture vine has sprung up at the Amboy survey camp of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power which makes the only spot of green in the camp. Engineers coming in from hours of sand and heat are rejoiced by sight of that luxuriant puncture vine and any motorist who might dare to do it violence would find trouble on his hands.

Compulsory Music

I was very fond of music
When a man could walk along
The street and not be smitten
In both ears by rival song—
Ere before each music dealer's
Stood a loud-mouthed radio
Forcing music, willy-nilly,
Down my ears where'er I go.
But I'm getting so I hate it.
Nose it's mixed with honk and clang
And a thousand fretting noises
Which inspire a hearty "Dang!"

I was very fond of music
In the days now out of date
When it wasn't mixed as pickles,
But a man could take it straight,
When jazz from apartment 7
And blues from apartment 9
Didn't squeeze apartment 8's concerto
Till they fairly made it whine.
I was very fond of music
And I might be, as before,
If there weren't so much of it
I can't hear it any more.

Knew Her Punctuation Marks

Anyway, we feel a lot of sympathy for young film stars who have risen to fame from nowhere—especially for the one who, when a guest asked: "Is that period furniture?" looked doubtfully at the crooked legs of the chair in question and said: "It looks more like comma furniture to me."

Quick Results

A reader writes to josh us because three days after we printed an interview with Clara Bow, in which she said she hadn't any boy friend, her engagement was announced. Well, three days is quite a while in Hollywood.

But we can't guarantee any such results to other girls who may want to be interviewed.

Reflection

How often we make sport of other people for being as ignorant as we are.

An Open Door

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This morning's paper prints an article, "Equity Posts Fines Scales." As an outsider with friends on both sides of the case I feel "it is to laugh!"

A few more of Equity's self-important threats to members and nonmembers will soon shove it into the class of poison. Those on the outside will beware of it—those on the inside will squirm to get out, while those members who are being expelled from its ranks will be (and no doubt are) tickled to pieces as well as greatly relieved to be free from such bondage.

The whole Equity performance is a farce and its false premise must eventually defeat its purpose.

But greater than the problem of the producers or Equity is that of the city of Los Angeles. May the angels of our city keep its vision clear—and may the angels of the heavenly realm keep its doors open wide and unshutable. "Behold, I have put before you an open door that no man can shut," declares the Master. He who stood for absolute freedom from oppression.

M. B. WHITE.

Hurts Business

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wonder if the demoralized real estate situation in and around Los Angeles is not largely due to the bus-subdivisionists with their hungry looking barkers that infest Hill street. Certainly it does not impress the visitor that real estate is a very dignified business.

The slogan of these people is "Get the deposit" from the unwary prospect, which, with their high-pressure talk and bulldozing methods, they usually succeed in doing, after they get the prospect on the ground.

On a recent auto trip East at nearly every camp in which we stopped there was nearly always somebody returning home who had plenty to say about the free ride, free lunch and free lectures of these gentry.

It is a disgrace and the people are fools to stand for it.

F. L. HADLEY.

The Case of Young

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As attorney for Mr. E. J. Young, I conducted his defense in the Superior Court at the time of his conviction and prosecuted his appeal therefrom to the District Court of Appeal which resulted in the sustaining of his plea of "former jeopardy."

I am addressing you, not in any spirit of anger or resentment concerning your recent editorial upon this decision of the Court of Appeals, but to invoke your spirit of fair play in the defense of this decision and of the good name of my client. I seek simply to disabuse your mind of the thought that a guilty man has gone unwhipped of justice, or that any such untoward happening has resulted from invoking a technical provision of the law that now has no place in our legal jurisprudence.

The five convictions grew out of two transactions, one by which $3500 was borrowed from the Marine Bank of Santa Monica and the other by which $2000 was borrowed from Duff Willson upon certain collateral security. Neither of the notes was paid at maturity, but each of them was later paid by Mr. Young in full with interest and no one lost a cent in either transaction. Both the officials of the Marine Bank and Duff Willson joined in requesting that probation be granted.

Upon the appeal, it was the earnest contention of the defendant that many prejudicial errors had been committed by the trial court which had prevented his receiving fair and impartial trial.

The appellate court by reason of a well-established and long-continued rule of procedure did not mention or pass on these alleged errors, for the reason that the error in respect to double jeopardy was determinate of the whole case.

Had the trial judge observed the plain requirements of the law in the instant case and not have attempted to interpose his personal desire in lieu of the wisdom of the lawmakers, the present situation would not have arisen. But no, he must show himself mightier than the law itself and remove a juror after the permissible time has gone by and that for a reason that would not have even sustained a challenge of the juror for cause if it had been made at the proper time.

In its final summation, is it not after all safer and better to have specific restraints rather than to trust to the caprices and idiosyncrasies of the individual judges in general, even though an unfortuitous result may sometime occur when the trial judge oversteps the law?

ROYALTY SET EXAMPLE

Members of the royal family of Siam are setting an example to the rest of the nation in the matter of work. They are combating the national vice of idleness. The outstanding example is Prince Mahidol, brother of the King, who has just set up as a practicing physician at Chiengmai, metropolis of Northern Siam. He got his medical training in America. There are sixteen Princes of the royal blood in the various government departments, and another is leading the Boy Scout movement. — [The Pathfinder.

WRITE IT RIGHT

BY BAILEY MILLARD

For months I have had up my sleeve a gentle protest against the tendency of modern educators to remove the ancient landmarks of our good old English language and to permit almost any sort of diction or orthography that careless writers may put forth. Still I have not openly remonstrated when a Columbia professor authorized the free use of "ain't," nor when a leading magazine backed him up in his radical ruling, nor when a prominent writer came out in favor of the split infinitive. Nor have I expressed my horror of the phonetic spelling so generally adopted by advertisers, or the recent proposal of a certain educator to omit grammar from the curricula of our schools and academies.

But here is the last straw: An English bishop writes to a London newspaper suggesting that the old-time careful observation of the rules of spelling no longer be insisted upon. Let the writer spell as he chooses. Too much time is lost in the study of standard orthography. It might better be employed in really useful occupations. So this good bishop holds, and all bad spellers, himself probably included, will echo the cry, "Away with standards!"

And this after all the years that have been devoted to building up our noble English language, which, in my humble opinion, if it be not standardized as to orthography, orthoepy and grammar, could hardly be called a language. Are we going to revert to Chaucerian times, when each writer had his own private system of spelling—a most chaotic and confusing state of orthographic affairs from which the scholars of fifty years ago thought we had safely emerged? True, these scholars were confronted a little later by the advocates of the phonetic system, but the craze did not last, nor should it ever be revived.

About thirty years ago the compilers of an American dictionary which warrants almost any kind of verbal usage employed by loose writers sent a list of phonetically spelled words to a score or more of prominent authors and urged them to pledge themselves to employ them in their writings. Among these words were "thru," "catalog," "surprize," "flxt" and "klst." Several of the authors adopted the list, but their publishers would not accept their spelling, and so they did not see it "thru," but dropped it, as well they might. Theodore Roosevelt said of the plan that "spelling reform," so called, might come slowly and imperceptibly, but that it could not be forced arbitrarily by anybody.

Easy spelling, like easy writing, makes "curst hard reading." One gets an occasional letter from a person practicing his own little system of orthography. Such a writer is like the man in the parade who fancies that everybody is out of step but himself.

Up to a few years ago Turkey, which now uses Roman instead of Arabic letters, had no standard system of spelling. But today in Angora, the capital of the country, if a tradesman or other person displays a sign upon which is a misspelled word he is allowed by the authorities just three days in which to correct it. If at the end of that time he has not obeyed the mandate he is haled into court and fined. Our own courts would be crowded if we had such a law in this country, but sometimes I wish we had, and that it were rigidly enforced. I can eat the well-done doughnut with relish, but I can't swallow the "wel-dun donut" nor the ever so "gud bred."

As to split infinitives and misplaced prepositions, it seems to me that to occasionally divide the verb, as I have just done, is no great crime, nor do I hold with the purist who says that "a preposition should never be used to end a sentence with." George Eliot frequently ended sentences with prepositions, and so have other authors.

Now as to orthoepy: I should like to ask why the people who of high standing should be most familiar with a word are the ones who most often mispronounce it? Why do ninety-nine out of a hundred Cincinnati people call their city "Cincinnatah"? Why do nearly all Missourians refer to their State as "Mizzourah"? Why do they not say "Mizzizippah" as well? I know persons who have lived many years in Los Angeles and yet never harden the "g" in the name.

But loose pronunciation is more readily forgiven than loose spelling. Correct orthography is easily acquired. If the impressionistic spellers among our office stenographers devoted to the dictionary one-hundredth part of the time they employ in facial make-up the majority of them could learn how to spell in a year.

THE HURRY BUG

A traffic observer who is also an observer of human nature remarks that it is the "hurry bug" that causes the most of the accidents. He things it is almost as definite a thing as the hookworm, which makes people unnaturally and insufferably slow. It simply works in the opposite way, developing a mania for speed.

The victims of this mania imagine they have to be always going at maximum velocity. They try to keep their speed regardless of obstacles, laws or other people's rights. So they are always getting smashed up or smashing up somebody else. And what does it get them, even if they escape violent damage? In plunging across town at breakneck speed they may save, if they are lucky, say ten minutes. What do they do with the ten minutes?

They waste it, in all probability, smoking or chatting, to relieve the strain. Or else they plunge just as feverishly into their work, and waste the time saved, and more, by nervous and unwise action.—[Exchange

IN OLDEN TIMES

When Shakespeare wrote his deathless plays, 'twas by a candle's sickly rays, or by a smoky light, which was worse—by far—he write such prose and such verse. He had to use a goose-quill, a weapon that was hard to kill the joy of any bard, yet William labored on and hard and turned out many a so hard to beat that still praises we repeat. Poor fellow had no fountain pen, or typewriting machines were handy then—had to use his cheap old pen and ink that cost a cent a day—poor stuff that—blotted it as he wrote, and doubtless often threw his goat. And while he wrote his thoughts so wise, by day, night, him bussed the flies; and then a vagrant bee would sting him with its stinger, and all the insects then on hand would cluster on his face and neck; for window screens were then unknown, no gates could work alone, but thousand kinds of pests ever his unbidden guests; writing paper William had not, most unquestionably not; pen would stick, the ink would splash, the writer's nerves would go to smash, but William brushed the sweat away and wrote great verses every day. The modern writer heads it off with every comfort that he can please, and all the weapons of his trade are fine as any ever made; he's by himself, he may intrude upon his solitude. No cheap distractions pain and irk as he pursues his noble work; and much I muse why he fails to write such verses and such tales as were done down by Bill the wise among the fiercely bursting fires.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

BAKED MACARONI AND SALMON

Take one-half a pound of cooked macaroni and one large can of salmon, melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add one tablespoonful of the salmon oil, two tablespoonfuls of flour, and blend well, slowly add one and one-half cupfuls of milk, stir until smooth, add a few grains of cayenne pepper, and a seasoning of salt, place a layer of the macaroni in a well-oiled baking dish, then a layer of the salmon, pour over it some of the sauce, and continue until the dish is filled, spread the top with buttered bread crumbs, place in the oven and bake until brown.

LIMA BEANS AND TOMATO SAUCE

Two slices of finely chopped bacon, three tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, one-fourth of a cupful of water, one-half a cupful of thick tomato juice, strained, two cupfuls of cooked lima beans, a seasoning of salt and paprika, cook the onion until tender, in a little water, saute the chopped bacon, add the onion and the water it was cooked in, add the tomato juice, and the beans. Heat thoroughly, season with salt, pepper and serve.

BANANA SNOW WHIP

Three sliced bananas, one-half a cupful of powdered sugar, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, place the mixture in the ice box until thoroughly chilled, then mash and beat until light. Add to the mixture one cupful of stiffly whipped cream, two egg whites that have been beaten until stiff and dry, and one cupful of cocoanut, pour into a serving dish, sprinkle with cocoanut and serve with a custard sauce.

VEAL CHOPS, ITALIAN

Six veal chops, about three-quarters of an inch thick, season with salt and paprika, two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of shortening, one cupful of tomato, one onion, one-half of a bay leaf, two cloves, one-half green pepper finely chopped, trim the chops, mix together the salt, paprika and flour, and pound into the chops, melt the shortening, and brown the chops in it, pour the tomatoes over the meat, if fresh tomatoes are used, four medium sized, and half a cupful of water, in place of the canned tomatoes, add the chopped onion, bay leaf, cloves, and chopped peppers; cover closely, and simmer slowly until the meat is tender.

Blaze Perils Natick Hotel, Old Landmark

Los Angeles' oldest and at one time most fashionable hotel, the Natick House, on First between Spring and Main streets, was threatened with destruction late yesterday when fire broke out in its rubbish-chute and brought thirty-five pieces of fire apparatus scurrying to save the famous old landmark.

The blaze, caused by a lighted match carelessly tossed into the chute, according to fire officials, resulted in an estimated damage of a few hundred dollars, it being confined to the chute itself, but for nearly an hour it tied downtown traffic into a knot.

Apart from its bygone social activities, the Natick House frequently has figured in the news. Fourteen years ago it partially was wrecked by a bomb thrown by an unidentified fanatic. Three persons were killed. About two years ago it was the scene of another fire when a drug-addict spread gasoline about the place, touched a match to it and then ran amuck among the fleeing guests.

LABOR DAY TRAVEL RATES WILL BE CUT

Labor Day will provide unusual opportunities for holiday travel in large part of the West this year as a result of special offering of reduced fares, according to an announcement by the local railroads. Round-trip excursions, effective over many routes in a great expanse of territory, will be sold by Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. The tickets will be authorized between points west of and including Ogden and Salt Lake City, Albuquerque and El Paso, and south of Portland. Sales dates will be the 30th and 31st inst., and September 1 and 2, with return limit of September 4.

Donations for Jewish Hospital Forestall Drive

Interest in the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, which is being erected by the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, was stimulated by the recent announcement of a $100,000 gift by Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Getz. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Baruh made a subscription of $10,000.

While no campaign for funds is being conducted at this time, Mr. Baruh, who is chairman of the finance committee, announces the receipt of the following additional subscriptions: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Isaacs and Max Isaacs, $25,000; Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Goldwater, $20,000; Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Schiff, $10,000.

Besides the subscriptions already made, there will be required about $400,000 to complete and furnish the hospital, which is now being erected on Fountain, Berendo and Catalina avenues, involving an expenditure for land, buildings and equipment of $1,650,000.

The hospital will contain 250 beds, fifty-eight free, and a considerable number of others for semiprivate patients. There also will be a well-equipped out-patient department or clinic and a school of nursing.

MRS. JENKINS BURIED

Funeral of Prominent Manhattan Beach Resident Largely Attended

One hundred members of the Lions' Club with approximately 200 friends and relatives attended the funeral rites of Mrs. Anna Jenkins, wife of Capt. Clarence E. Jenkins, Manhattan Beach, yesterday afternoon at Grace Chapel, Inglewood Park Cemetery. The body was cremated.

Capt. and Mrs. Jenkins, prominent in business and social circles, have been long known throughout Southern California. Mrs. Jenkins died Tuesday last at 58 years of age.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy
author of "Eat Your Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

SNORE AND YOU SLEEP ALONE

When some people are sleeping they make a disturbing, rough, rasping sound through their nose or mouth, which keeps the other members of the family awake and often awakens the snorer, himself. There are probably over a thousand and one different kinds of snorts and sounds made by different snorers, and the unmusical symphony of these sounds on a sleeping car is very disturbing to light sleepers, who toss about all night long waiting for the "bugle blowers" to cease.

The history of snoring is probably as old as the practice of those habits, which have produced catarrhal disorders. It is not likely that Adam and Eve snored as long as they were in the celestial garden, as they probably lived on fruits, nuts and succulent green vegetables. But we learn that after they were put out of the garden, Adam was forced to "earn his bread by the sweat of his brow." That is probably where the trouble first started. Anyway, one of the quickest and easiest ways to quit snoring is to cut out absolutely all starches, such as breads, and live on a cleansing, nonstarchy diet.

Besides the cause from general catarrh of the nose and throat, snoring is often directly caused by the growth of adenoids which obstruct the nasal passages, but even these adenoids are grown from the same irritation which produces nasal catarrh. In these cases the adenoids should be surgically removed, or reduced through a proper dietetic regime.

The noise of snoring is produced mostly by inhaling air through the mouth and thus vibrating the uvula and soft palate. Of course, no one does this when awake, and it is only when the catarrhal subject is asleep that he loses control enough to make the snoring sounds.

In some cases, even after the nasal passages are opened through curing the catarrh of the mucous membranes, the snorer will continue to breathe with the mouth open when he is asleep, and thus continue to snore. This is often due to a habit which he has developed through years of snoring. In these cases it is sometimes advisable to fasten the mouth shut with a bandage until this habit is overcome and the patient develops the correct nose-breathing when asleep.

The quickest relief in the cure of snoring comes from taking a fruit fast for a few days. This is always the quickest way to get a start in the correction of catarrhal disorders. After a few days of the fruit fast the patient should use a careful diet, possibly of the non-starchy vegetables, with small amounts of such proteins as eggs, lean meats, fish and fowl. No strongly starchy foods should be used for some time, and no foods containing large amounts of sugar. Milk and cream should be entirely eliminated from the diet for a considerable period of time, as these foods undoubtedly encourage catarrhal trouble with those who have a sensitive tendency to such disorders.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Water Drinking in Constipation

Question: H. J. writes: "I drink quarts of water a day and still I am constipated. Before moving here, my water drinking habit of eight glasses a day kept me in fine shape."

Answer: I am sure that the drinking of large quantities of water is often one of the causes of constipation and therefore cannot assist in its cure. If you drink more liquid than the body requires, the intestines are discouraged in throwing out their lubricating fluids, and the result apears to be a gradual drying up of the intestinal fluids. To cure constipation, eat plenty of greens, exercise more, and cut down on the starches.

CELERY

Q.: H. G. F. asks: "Is celery good for young children and very old people?"

A.: Well-bleached celery is good for everyone. It never creates any digestive disturbances, and can be used by anyone who is able to use any kind of food at all. Be sure to get the kind that is well bleached, as this bleaching removes certain volatile oils that are irritating to the digestive organs.

SKIN HAS DARKENED

Q.: Jane asks: "Do you know of anything that would cause one's skin to turn from a white to a dark color? In two years my skin has become a dark brown, and I do not mean the popular sun-tanned shade. What can I do to get back a white skin?"

A.: If you are not tanned from the sun, your dark skin is probably caused by some form of liver derangement. If this is so, take a fruit fast and then live on a careful diet. Take special exercises to stimulate your liver. Supplement these exercises by some kind of manipulative treatment over the gall-bladder and liver area.

OUTSTANDING EARS CORRECTED BY OPERATION

Echoes of the recent controversy about outstanding ears are still being heard. We ventured the personal opinion (backed by observation of the laws of nature and by authoritative expressions) that ordinary strapping back of the ear would have little effect on their ultimate shape. That is fixed by nature and heredity, and while bands may prevent the ears from becoming outstanding, they can have little effect on undoing what is a natural form. The following letter again confirms this opinion (which was so heartily deplored by one of my readers because it gave so little hope to sufferers from outstanding ears,) and with this letter we will end the discussion. We can't go on talking about outstanding ears forever.

Mrs. R. L. B. writes: "Having had outstanding ears from birth to 21 years I can write from experience. All the bands in the world will never hold back outstanding ears, for my dear mother tried them all. Besides, the pressure has a tendency to make the child nervous. There is an answer and it is not a difficult one. A slight operation consists in cutting the skin back of the ear and stitching the ear closer to the head. It can be done by any surgeon (not just a plastic surgeon) and is very simple. I had this done twenty-six years ago and suggest it to any mother of a child with outstanding ears, as they are a terrible deformity and can easily develop an inferiority complex in a child so afflicted.

"There is no disadvantage in the operation and the relief from embarrassment is real. Your articles are so interesting and your influence so great that I take the time to write this letter to tell you this."

Answer: I do agree with you. I have heard that this is a very simple and successful operation. Thank you for writing.

Mrs. P. R. W. writes: "Ever since I came from the hospital at eleven days, baby has had a tub bath and has been soaped all over. His head is scrubbed with a tiny brush, but his eyes, ears and mouth are not touched. He has a sunbath daily, beginning with three minutes and which now lasts for one-half hour. He has never worn a bit of wool, not even a band. He is 5 months of age, sits up for all his meals, drinks part of his milk from a cup and rest by bottle. He has cream of wheat, too, and takes three naps daily and sleeps from 7 until morning. He has always had perfect freedom of every muscle and sat alone at 4 months and does a lot of creeping now for a child of 5 months. I enjoy your column so much, as I once studied to be a children's doctor, but married before I finished the work."

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

DEFERRED PUNISHMENT

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Monday evening Nancy came in from play at 9:30, when she should have been in at 6:30. It was a repeated offense and Nancy's mother decided on a punishment severe enough to act as a deterrent.

"Nancy, this is the third time you have disobeyed me. Saturday you'll not go to Evelyn's for the week-end. Maybe that will teach you that you can't walk into the house at any hour you choose."

Next evening Nancy came in late again. "I don't care what you say to me now," said she. "Your going to punish me anyway so I'll just come in whenever I please all this week!"

There must have been a good deal wrong between Nancy and her mother or things would never have come to such a pass. But there is one mistake that the best of us are likely to make. On Monday Nancy's mother decreed a punishment that could not be effective until Saturday.

Monday to Saturday is too long a time for any child to be under the cloud of disapproval and punishment. The impending sentence makes her sullen and resentful. She is going to be punished so she may as well get her money's worth and be as bad as she likes until the whole business is over.

No child, for days at a time, should be thus forced to consider her own naughtiness. The emphasis only tends to make her live up to her bad reputation.

Don't defer your child's punishment. Square the accounts of the day before bed time. Let each morning waken her to a fresh start, the wish to do as she should and to win your approval. Such treatment is more likely to develop willingness to obey than all the justly proportioned but long drawn punishments which you can devise.

Mrs. Eaton Gets Alimony Pending Divorce Hearing

Mrs. Grace Isabel Eaton, who has sued her husband, Harold Eaton, for divorce, was awarded $60 a month pending trial of the case, when she appeared at an alimony hearing in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday. Eaton, wealthy cattleman and son of Fred Eaton, former Mayor of Los Angeles, was awarded the right to take his son, John Harold, 9 years of age, to his Inyo-county ranch for two weeks this summer over the protests of Mrs. Eaton.

"I'm afraid for the boy to travel those mountain roads with his father, who never makes the trip without liquor in the car," said Mrs. Eaton.

Eaton protested that he would put up any guarantee the court demanded that he would not have a bottle in the car. Judge Schauer accepted the defendant's promise.

In addition to her alimony, Mrs. Eaton was given the right to occupy the family home at 336 North Plymouth Boulevard for the time being.

In his answer to the divorce complaint, Eaton denied that he had gone to Mexico and brought back a woman to Los Angeles.

Michigan Society to Retain Picnic Squabble Date

Efforts of the Michigan Association of Southern California to compel the Michigan Society, a rival organization, to defer its picnic, set for September 8 in Sycamore Grove, to some other date because the first-named organization's picnic will be held in the same place September 21, failed yesterday before the Board of Park Commissioners, which declined to request the Michigan Society to change the date of its outing.

President D. M. Parmelee of the Michigan Association complained to the board that the object of the organization's picnic, to create a spirit of co-operation and friendship between former Michigan people, will be nullified by having the picnic dates of the two organizations so close together.

The commissioners held that last spring when a similar situation arose the Michigan Society changed the date of its semiannual picnic for the Michigan Association, and that if the date was to be changed for the September gathering it should be done this time by the Michigan Association. In addition, it was pointed out that the society took out its permit first, on June 26, the permit of the association having been obtained July 16.

The Michigan Association is a member of the Federated State Societies and C. H. Parsons, its secretary, also importuned the board to compel the Michigan Society to change its picnic date, on the ground that the Michigan Association holds it annually on September 21.

The board filed all communications on the subject.

"Mutual" Will Used as Lever in Estate Fray

Because the "courtesy will" of Mrs. Anna E. Bailey was a mutual will, executed by terms of a contract, Herbert Reinmherr, beneficiary to the extent of $20,000 in a contest filed yesterday, insists that it can not be superseded by a will dated six days later, by which Mrs. Bailey left all her money to her son.

The son, Herbert Vernor Bailey, of Helena, Mont., filed a contest to his mother's will favoring Reinmherr on the ground that he was left only $5.

Reinmherr asserts that Mrs. Bailey, who was 80 years of age when she died, had borrowed money from him during the last eight years of her life, during which time he supported her, he says. He had agreed with her that each was to leave a will bequeathing the other their respective estates.

DR. AND MRS. MOORE LEAVE ON VACATION

Dr. Ernest Moore, director of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Mrs. Moore left last night for an outing in the Athabasca River country in Canada. They will be gone from Los Angeles for three weeks. Dr. and Mrs. Moore will go as far as Seattle by water, sailing on the steamer H. F. Alexander. From Seattle they will go north to Vancouver and thence east by rail to Banff, and into Jasper National Park.

THIRD-STREET COST DIVISION APPROVED

Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Third street between Vermont and Western avenues, and abandoned the proceedings for the improvement of La Jolla avenue between Willoughby and Melrose avenues. Jefferson street storm drain, Section 5, was continued until the 26th inst., and hearing protests against the lighting of Angeles Mesa Drive between Fifty-second street and Slauson avenue was continued until October 14.

COST MAP SUBMITTED

The assessment district map for the improvement of One Hundred and Twentieth street between Avalon Boulevard and Western avenue was submitted to Council yesterday by City Engineer Shaw and referred to the Public Works Committee.

BANCROFT STARS IN SEA STORY

Edwina Booth, of "Trader Horn," Due for Surprise; Kenneth McKenna is Lead in "The Three Sisters;" George K. Arthur Goes Into Vaudeville

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

With a new starring contract to which he affixed his signature only yesterday, George Bancroft is now preparing for his fourth all-dialogue stellar role for Paramount.

Bancroft's next is to be "Undersea," an original story written by Jules Furthmann and Charles Furthmann, in which Bancroft takes the part of a sea skipper.

Rowland V. Lee will direct, being his first assignment since his recent return from an extensive vacation trip to Europe.

Bancroft and Lee did their first all-dialogue work together, when one starred in and the other directed "The Wolf of Wall Street," which proved such a sensation throughout the nation.

The star is now finishing work on "The Mighty," under the direction of John Cromwell. His second all-talking vehicle was "Thunderbolt."

No member of the supporting cast of "Undersea" has been selected.

HEROINE OF AFRICAN FILMS SIGNS AGAIN

Edwina Booth, screen actress, has had her salary raised, but it will be almost two months before she finds it out.

While Miss Booth is enacting the leading feminine role in "Trader Horn" in Africa, where W. S. Van Dyke is directing the talking film version of the story, the studio officials at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios are mindful of the brave young lady's interests. yesterday they voted her a new contract with a salary rise attached.

EDWINA BOOTH

News of the contract will be cabled to Genoa and thence carried by mail and finally by packers who will journey into the interior of Africa to bear the good tidings to the actress. She will be in the novel position of having fully eight weeks of accumulated increase before she even learns of her good fortune.

Van Dyke, with Harry Carey, Miss Booth, Duncan Renaldo and their large troupe, are now working in the Belgian Congo. In British East Africa they were allowed to keep their portable radio plant to communicate with the outside world, but as their permit applies only to this district, the radio was sealed when they entered Belgian territory. Hence, all communications come to them at present by native bearers.

El Brendel Signs Again

El Brendel, Swedish comedian who occupies a featured role in "Sunny Side Up," the Fox Movietone musical comedy now taking up the time of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, is in the enviable position of knowing just what he's going to do for the next five years.

Kenneth McKenna in Fox Lead

The suspense is over, and it is all settled as to who will have the romantic male lead in Fox's "The Three Sisters," in which Louise Dresser has the chief feminine role.

KENNETH McKENNA

Kenneth McKenna is a native of this country, but went with his parents to Paris when 6 months of age, and received his early education there. He returned to this country when 14 years of age, and studied in New York, finishing at Columbia University.

The young actor comes of a distinguished family, his father being Leo Mielziner, a noted portrait painter, while his mother is a journalist of note, and his brother Jo a noted painter and scenic artist in New York. Charlotte Cushman, noted actress, was his great aunt.

His first stage experience came in 1919 when he played the male role in "At 9:45." He was afterward associated with the Theater Guild in some of its most successful productions. He became a producer and took the lead in "The Big Pond."

McKenna took part in the World War, and was a sergeant in the Tank Corps.

Norman Kerry to England

Although Norman Kerry was in England recently for only three days, Herbert Wilcox, noted English producer, endeavored to secure his services on the spot for World Wide Films.

The offer still holds, and it is likely that after Kerry plays in "The Phantom of the Opera" for Universal, he will return to England to undertake the new enterprise.

George K. Arthur in Two-a-Day

George K. Arthur is going into vaudeville. His contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has expired, and he is looking for fresh professional worlds to conquer.

GEORGE K. "ARTHUR"

The actor has a single turn written by Al Boasberg. It consists of a monologue and will show bits from his various films.

Before going into the varieties, however, Arthur will take a few months' tour in Europe, leaving New York on the 28th inst., and returning here to open in Chicago with his act, which is booked by the Orpheum-Keith circuit.

June Collyer With Paramount

June Collyer's contract with Fox was not renewed at its expiration, which occurred a week or two ago.

Rumor has it that Miss Collyer is likely to sign with Paramount. She appeared in two pictures recently for that organization, and it is said that her work pleased the organization very much.

The De Sylva, Brown and Henderson musical comedy is the first in which Brendel has appeared on the audible screen, and when Fox Movietone executives took their first look at his work in "The Cock-Eyed World," they tore up his six months' contract and wrote out a new one for five years.

FRIENDSHIP NOTED

Friendship is a rare attribute, and Hollywood boasts of a few, it is said. One of the lasting ones is that between James Gleason and Robert Armstrong. The two met in Milwaukee, when Gleason was struggling with a stock company, and Armstrong on the job as leading man. They produced a play called "One Thursday Night," which afterward proved to be "Is Zat So." Now they are co-starring in "Oh Yeah," a Pathe picture, in which they appear as brakemen.

LINES ESTABLISHED

Council yesterday passed an ordinance establishing setback lines in Fourteenth street between Hobart Boulevard and Oxford avenue. The line on the north side of the street is to be ten feet and on the south side fifteen feet.

EVENING OF BALLET IS PLEASING

Film Music Creates Fine Impression at Hollywood Bowl Concert

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

An evening of ballet at the Hollywood Bowl last night attracted a large audience. Eugene Goossens, who has been associated with ballet in London and America, conducted a varied program of interesting continuities. Beginning with Svendsen's "Paris Carnival," the concert later afforded the very expressive American ballet from Arthur Alexander's film-score, "Paris Bound," with the composer conducting.

Of the purely orchestral numbers, the slow movement from Debussy's admirable quartet was most enjoyable. It is essentially a work for four instruments, but its lovely evanescent harmony becomes limpid tone out of doors and the viola solos of Emile Ferir added beauty to the orchestral performance as it does to the same number in quartet. Goosens conducted this with rare feeling at an unusually slow tempo.

The first Alexander score for film is unpretentious, slangy, clever, dramatic in a modern, sophisticated fashion and very well orchestrated. Arthur Alexander has a maddening talent for writing. It is so naturally expressive and seemingly so easy for him to write well that one is irritated because he does not do more of it. Plenty of people write boring music these days, but too few have ideas. In this film ballet the composer has done rather "Paul Whiteman-ish" things in the way of a musical gentleman and a scholar. Incidentally it is a pleasure to hear Alexander conduct again and the audience expressed its approval unmistakably.

The long-heralded Fokine and Fokina, leaders of the Russian ballet of another period, did not come up to expectations last night. The long pantomime-ballet of Mozart's "Dream of a Marquise" proved unsuitable to the Bowl. Mozart's beautiful music suggested strange things to Fokine, the director. The entrance was badly timed and thus much of the beauty of the ermoline costume of elaborate ornamentation worn by Vera Fokina was not immediately effective. The pantomime was of the kind which requires an intimate concert hall and the repetitions of pirouettes and coquetries grew wearisome, although this famous ballerina is the personification of feminine grace.

The delicacy of the French court scene was unpleasantly contrasted in the denouement of the pantomime story as Fokine imagined it. A bathing scene with various insinuating absurdities and not a little vulgarity, left the audience quite cold. That sort of thing is done so much better in a De Mille comedy.

Mme. Vera Fokina's dance of Rimsky's "Song of India" was a perfect exhibition of toe technique and the lovely grace of the school that Pavlowa made famous in this country a good many years ago. The costume was that of a white-feathered bird. The connection of this choreography with the music of the "Song of India" was not at all clear. Fokine's "Grand pas Espagnole," to the music of Glazounoff, was the conventional gypsy Spanish dance, technically well done, of course, but quite without originality.

Frothy Farce Comes to Town

Thomas Mitchell and Rachel Hartzell
In one of the amusing scenes of "The Little Accident" which has its premiere at the Belasco Theater Monday night.

Chinese Offers Imposing List on Late Bill

With all arrangements completed for "Fox Studio Night" in conjunction with the regular Billion Dollar Midnite Matinee at Grauman's Chinese tonight, the management announces the personal appearance of an imposing list of stars. Added only today to the already long list were the names of L. Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer, composers of "Ramona" and other song hits of recent years.

George Jessel, as master of ceremonies, will present on the stage such well-known Fox stars as George O'Brien, Lois Moran, Sue Carol, Nick Stuart, Dixie Lee, Mary Duncan, David Rollins, Jean Bary and Richard Keen; while the musical-comedy contingent now engaged at Fox will contribute Tom Patricola, Fifi D'Orsay, Marjorie White, Eddie Tierney and Irene Palasty. Hungarian prima donna and dancer, Stepin Fetchit will also be among those present and has promised to give the audience the best of his slow-motion dance routines.

With thirty-odd Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars appearing in the Hollywood Revue now current at the Chinese, and the glittering galaxy of stars assembled by Fox, it appears that Fox Studio Night will probably set a new entertainment standard for the midnight matinees.

Bowl Program Includes Fisk Jubilee Group

Hollywood Bowl tonight will be the scene of a triumphant homecoming of a celebrated coterie of American colored singers from their fourth tour of Europe, where honors were bestowed upon them in many of the capitals.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers will make their debut in Hollywood Bowl with a program of the successful folk songs of their race, interspersed with orchestral selections under direction of Eugene Goossens. Among the latter will be an overture on negro themes by Henry F. Gilbert, himself a negro, whose pantomimic ballet, "Dance at the Place Congo," enjoyed an original presentation at the Metropolitan Operahouse several years ago, and the fifth symphony from Anton Dvorak's celebrated "New World" symphony.

Symbolical of the development and growth in popularity of the singers is the school from which they hail, for all are graduates of Fisk University. They spent two tours abroad, embracing Great Britain, Scotland, Ireland, Germany and Holland, with royalty vieing to shower them with honors.

They also have appeared in America with the great orchestras of Boston, Chicago and Detroit. Their Bowl appearance constitutes signal recognition of these native minstrels on the part of the Southwest. The occasion will be the first of its kind in the history of the Bowl.

Horsemen Will See 'Hottentot' at Warner's

What is said to be one of the most unusual theater parties to attend a motion-picture house since the day of the horseless carriage will be in evidence at Warner Brothers' Theater Monday night. Such enthusiasm has been created among horsemen about the feature picture that is playing there now, "The Hottentot," that DuBrock's Riding Acsdemy have organized a party of 100 to ride into Hollywood on horses, from the stables on Ventura Boulevard, and attend the performance.

The line of march will take the riders over Cahuenga Pass and down on Hollywood Boulevard from Highland avenue to the theater on Wilcox avenue. In this Warner Brothers' Vitaphone production there are many trained horses, the outstanding one being "The Hottentot," which gives quite an outstanding performance in difficult jumps both with and without a rider. Featured in the comedy are Edward Everett Horton and Patsy Ruth Miller, with Edmund Breese, Edward Earle, Stanley Taylor and others.

Hillstreet to Give New Radio Film Premiere

Formal entry of Radio Pictures into the parade of motion-picture attractions takes place today at the Hillstreet with the first presentation of the all-talking musical production, "Half Marriage," featuring Olive Borden.

Radio is the screen trade-mark of the R.-K.-O. company, which stands for Radio-Keith-Orpheum. Produced under the direct supervision of William LeBaron, "Half Marriage" promises a strongly significant note to the forthcoming series of audible Radio features, it is said.

Interpreting the story of modern youth defying conventions are such players as Sally Blane, Ken Murray and his merrymakers, Morgan Farley, Ann Greenway, Hedda Hopper, Richard Tucker and Gus Arnheim's Cocoanut Grove Syncopators. William Cowen directed, with adaptation by Jane Murfin. The melodies, "After the Clouds Roll By" and "It's All of Her," were written by Oscar Levant and Sidney Clare.

"Arabian" Has Novel Theme

Walker Whiteside asserts that "The Arabian" is one of the few modern plays in which there is a father-and-daughter theme. "We have had mother-and-daughter stories in 'The Silver Cord,' 'Mrs. Partridge Presents' and others," asserts the actor, who is appearing at the President as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players, "and we have the mother-and-son theme in 'Madame X,' and even the father-and-son story in 'New Brooms.' But the relationship between a father and daughter seldom has served as the basis of a romantic comedy."

In the play the star has the role of Abd El-Rey, an Arab chieftain, separated from his daughter while she is an infant. The father's longing for the girl and the effort of the daughter, grown to womanhood, to find her father, make up some of the striking incidents.

TRYON PROMOTED

Glenn Tryon, Universal's newest histrionic king, has completed the starring role in "Barnum Was Right," which was made as an all-talking picture. After a week's rest, Tryon is to start work in "Skinner's Dress Suit," which, it is reported, is to be made on an elaborate scale. Tryon's work in "Broadway" has established him as one of the leading box-office magnets, according to Carl Laemmle, Jr., general manager of Universal.

Huston Branch Writes Original for Universal

Picking winners is becoming a fixed habit with Carl Laemmle, Jr., general manager of Universal, it is said. Announcement emanating from his offices yesterday revealed the information that Huston Branch, who, several weeks ago, was selected by Laemmle to write an original story of his own creation, received a large price for the film and dialogue rights to "The Marseillaise" as a result.

So enthused is Laemmle with the returns on his faith in choosing Branch for this difficult assignment that he has made arrangements with Charles Wakefield Cadman, prominent composer, to write music for the play. It is to serve as a starring vehicle for John Boles, who will have innumerable opportunities to again enthrall audiences with his tenor voice.

BROWN ON NEW FILM

One of the longest sets ever built on the Paramount lot is being used by Director Mel Brown during the filming of "The Love Doctor," Richard Dix's last starring vehicle under the Paramount banner. From the "rushes" thus far, this all-talking production should be one of the most hilarious in which Dix has appeared to date, it is reported.

Notables, Will Attend United Artists Event

A list that reads like the "Who's Who in Hollywood" was presented to the United Artists Theater yesterday by Samuel Goldwyn, producer, as the advance group of prominent persons who have purchased tickets from his office for the premiere of Ronald Colman's first talking picture, "Bulldog Drummond."

The Goldwyn office has on hand at the present time orders from Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Vilma Banky, Rod La Rocque, Norma Shearer, Renee Adoree, Ted Lewis, Cecil B. De Mille, Kathleen Clifford, Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Joseph M. Shenck, Joe E. Brown, Ruth Chatterton, Montagu Love, Mae Murray, Lilyan Tashman, Herbert Brenon, Corinne Griffith, Rupert Hughes, Betty Bronson, Edmund Lowe and many others.

Ronald Colman and Joan Bennett, the star and the leading lady of "Bulldog Drummond," will both appear on the stage at the premiere, as well as Lilyan Tashman, Montagu Love and the remainder of the cast. It will mark Colman's first appearance in his career. Harry Richman, noted night club songster and host, will act as master of ceremonies Wednesday.

POPULAR VAUDEVILLE TEAM WILL ARRIVE

Gus Van and Joe Schenk, vaudeville's popular singing comedians, will arrive in Los Angeles Monday evening, Santa Fe. A station reception is being arranged for the pair by Leo Morrison, their personal representative. Before beginning work on the feature picture, which they are to make for M.-G.-M., the headlining team will enjoy a short rest in the house they leased during their last visit here, at which time they played the R.-K.-O. houses. Van and Schenk have appeared in several short subjects for M.-G.-M., but the current screen engagement will mark their debut in the feature field.

DATES CHANGED

Before starting work as leading man opposite Alice White in "Playing Around," which First National is to produce as an all-dialogue production, William Bakewell may essay a featured juvenile role in a Warner Brothers picture. The actual start on Miss White's picture has been set up a week, it is said.

"Arabian" Has Novel Theme

Walker Whiteside asserts that "The Arabian" is one of the few modern plays in which there is a father-and-daughter theme. "We have had mother-and-daughter stories in 'The Silver Cord,' 'Mrs. Partridge Presents' and others," asserts the actor, who is appearing at the President as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players, "and we have the mother-and-son theme in 'Madame X,' and even the father-and-son story in 'New Brooms.' But the relationship between a father and daughter seldom has served as the basis of a romantic comedy."

In the play the star has the role of Abd El-Rey, an Arab chieftain, separated from his daughter while she is an infant. The father's longing for the girl and the effort of the daughter, grown to womanhood, to find her father, make up some of the striking incidents.

TRYON PROMOTED

Glenn Tryon, Universal's newest histrionic king, has completed the starring role in "Barnum Was Right," which was made as an all-talking picture. After a week's rest, Tryon is to start work in "Skinner's Dress Suit," which, it is reported, is to be made on an elaborate scale. Tryon's work in "Broadway" has established him as one of the leading box-office magnets, according to Carl Laemmle, Jr., general manager of Universal.

SCREEN PAIR REUNITED IN 'LUCKY STAR'

Criterion Books Costarring Effort of Farrell, Janet Gaynor

The Fox Criterion Theater has announced that "Showboat" will remain at the theater until the 21st inst. This will allow twelve more days in which to see the Edna Perber talking-singing romance of life and love on the Mississippi.

Meanwhile Fox West Coast Theaters and the Fox studio organizations are endeavoring in co-operation with the Criterion Theater to make the western premiere of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "Lucky Star" a midsummer event of more than ordinary interest.

Fox selected Frank Borzage, who directed Farrell and Gaynor in their two previous hits, to do the direction on "Lucky Star." The combination of the trio in "Lucky Star" proved most successful in New York, where the Gaynor-Farrell-Borzage trinity helped "Lucky Star" break the long-standing "Street Angel" record at the Roxy.

"Lucky Star" also features Guinn Williams, Hedwiga Reicher and a large cast. The story of "Lucky Star" is by Tristram Tupper, scenario by Sonya Levien and dialogue by John Hunter Booth.

Circle Cellist Selected for Solo Concert

An indication of the unusually high standard of artists admitted into Carli Elinor's Fox Carthay Circle concert orchestra, is the news that Alexander Borisoff, 'cellist in the theater musical organization, has been chosen to present a special 'cello concert at Hollywood Bowl during the symphony season.

"The ladies and gentlemen of my orchestra are indeed delighted and pleased beyond measure to have Mr. Borisoff selected for this great honor," states Carli Elinor. "Personally, I consider him one of the three greatest living cellists in the world, and it is most gratifying to see the directors of Hollywood Bowl give recognition to Mr. Borisoff."

Every member of Carli Elinor's Fox Carthay Circle Theater concert orchestra is a graduate of some noted conservatory of music, and the orchestra plays Mr. Elinor's beautiful Indian overture, "Awanahunga," for every performance of Cecil B. De Mille's all-talking film, "Dynamite."

Levy May Book Noted Musical Comedy Here

Robert Levy, producer of "Come Seven," with Evelyn Preer and the Lafayette Players at the Orange Grove Theater, will probably announce in a few days the acquisition on a lease of another downtown theater for an elaborate production of the musical comedy of other days, "In Dahomey," according to a report from the Orange Grove.

"In Dahomey" is said to stand as one of the most elaborate all-colored revues ever staged. It starred the late team of colored comedians, Bert Williams and Clarence Walker. Over seventy-five negroes were in the chorus.

With many colored comedians in Los Angeles and with Evelyn Preer and the rest of the Lafayette artists, "In Dahomey" possibly could be produced on a scale to equal the original, it is said.

Rally for Mae Murray Planned

As a special tribute to Mae Murray, who is returning temporarily to vaudeville, Hollywood Junior Follies, under the direction of Dorothy D. Meredith, will stage a rally this afternoon at the Orpheum Theater. The organization's entire membership is scheduled to participate.

Miss Murray, vacationing between pictures, is presenting her scintillating dances. William Moffa and Cugat's Spanish orchestra assist her. Perry Askam, late star of "The Desert Song," makes his vaudeville debut on the same bill. Other attractions scheduled are Karyl Norman, "Creole Fashion Plate," Charles Irwin, musical comedy comedian; Chas Chase, stage and screen funster; Raymond Bond with Helen Sullivan and company, the Hill Billies, featuring Art Hall and Marie Racko and company.

"Love Duel" to End Mason Run

Ethel Barrymore will end her prosperous Los Angeles season at the Mason Theater today in Lili Hatvany's "The Love Duel," adapted by Zoe Akins.

With "The Kingdom of God" and "The Love Duel," presented here during the actress's four weeks' engagement, patrons have had the opportunity to become acquainted with Miss Barrymore's ambitious project of establishing a repertory company. It is probable that she will not be able to appear locally again for many months.

Stars to Visit Midnight Show

Several noted stars will be guests of honor at the midnight show of "Come Seven," at the Orange Grove Theater tonight. The Lafayette players always attract screen stars, Robert Levy, manager, claims. He states that Charles Chaplin has attended performances given by the Lafayette Players no less than a dozen times.

Curtis Mosby reports that his Blue Serenaders will play several special numbers at both the afternoon performance and the midnight show as an added attraction to "Come Seven."

QUAYLE TO HEAD FLY EXPEDITION

Government Will Send Ship Into Mediterranean

Experts Plan Pest Study Lasting One Year

Armour Loans Special Craft for Scientists' Use

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 9.—Leaving here early next week, Prof. H. J. Quayle of the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station will go to New York, where he will sail for Europe on a year's study and investigation of the Mediterranean fruit fly on behalf of the Federal government. Prof. Quayle will be in charge of an expedition which is traveling in a 5000-ton steamship, which has been specially equipped for botanical and research purposes. He will make his visits of varying lengths in those lands where the insect pest has become established.

WILL SAIL 20TH INST.

The expedition, it is expected, will sail from New York on the 20th inst. En route to the eastern port, Prof. Quayle will visit Washington, where final details will be determined in conference with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and with Dr. Mallat, chief of the division of quarantine and pest control.

Confirmation of the plan to conduct a year's intensive research was received by telegraph from the national capital by the local scientist this morning. The ship in which the scientists will sail is owned by Allison Armour and has been used in botanical research. It has been donated by its owner to the government for use in the fruit fly work.

ITINERARY OUTLINED

Visits are to be made to the Bermuda and the Azores Islands, to Spain and other countries bordering the Mediterranean. The scientists also plan to go to the Palestine region and to skirt the African west coast. Mrs. Quayle will accompany her husband.

Prof. Quayle this week returned from Washington and Florida, where as a member of the committee of seven outstanding authorities on the fruit fly he took a leading part in the formulating and installation of the program of extermination which is being practiced in Florida. The present program, in contrast to the one previously followed by the Federal and State authorities, makes unnecessary the destruction of orchards and present crop in the infested districts.

Coahuila Tribes Will Celebrate Dia de San Luis

COAHUILA, Aug. 8.—The annual celebration on the Coahuila Indian will be held the 21st to 25th, inwill be held the 21st to 25th., inclusive, it was announced today by the committee in charge, consisting of D. Costo, Leo Arenas and Pat Cassero.

Sports of many kinds, with awards for the winners, will entertain the participants and visitors. Horse racing, foot races and rodeo events, such as broncho busting, steer riding and roping contests, are on the program.

Both modern and Indian dances will be held each night with music by Tom Largo's Indian orchestra. The rodeo will be given on the last two days.

Lion Clubs to Greet Leader

UPLAND, Aug. 9.—Lion clubs from the citrus belt, including this city, Ontario, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Colton, Pomona and La Verne, will meet here the evening of the 20th inst., for a dinner in honor of Ray Riley, president of Lions' International.

Riley will make an address. Other guests will be Samuel Carpenter, district - governor, and Dr. L. N. Wells, past district governor. Fred Wilding's Chaffey Little Symphony Orchestra and the Santa Ana male quartet will provide music. The dinner at 7:30 o'clock is to be a stag affair.

WOMEN ORGANIZE

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 9.—The first meeting of the South Bay Business and Professional Women's Club now in the process of organization was held in the offices of Dr. M. L. Kemp last night. Miss E. M. Fitzpatrick is chairman and Mrs. B. C. Hibbets, secretary. About fifty charter members will be enrolled.

PROFFERED BUS LINES ACCEPTED

Santa Barbarans Will be Able to Ride Again But Better Hours are Sought

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 9.—This city will have motor bus transportation not later than Monday, according to terms of the bid of H. A. Spreitz, president of the Spreitz Transportation Company, accepted at a special meeting of the City Council. The vote to give the franchise to the Spreitz company was unanimous, after a conference held behind closed doors prior to the vote in the Council chamber.

Mayor Finley and Councilmen hope to change hours of service. According to the application for the permit, busses are to start operation at 7 a.m. and stop service at 9 p.m.

"I believe the busses should begin operations at 5:30 or 6 o'clock in the morning and run through until 11:30 or 12 at night," declared Mayor Finley. "Many workers are compelled to leave their homes at 6 a.m. or earlier and at night the crowds are not out of the second show until after 10 o'clock."

San Gabriel to Adopt Mode of Mission Period

SAN GABRIEL, Aug. 9.—Plans for capitalizing upon the traditions and objects of historical interest by converting this community into a typical Spanish city during the Mission Play season each year may be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Grace Roest, secretary of the chamber, will visit Santa Barbara during the Old Spanish Days Fiesta next week to study the Santa Barbara plan and to obtain ideas which may be of help here.

Decoration of the city in Old Spanish style would be encouraged under the plan. Prizes would be offered each week for the best Spanish costumes in both men's and women's divisions. Any San Gabriel resident not a member of the Mission Play would be eligible to participate.

Fishing Good Off Hermosa

HERMOSA BEACH, Aug. 9.—Schools of barracuda, bonito, halibut and many other varieties continue to offer the best opportunities in years for the pleasure fishermen visiting the Olympic barge and other live-bait boats going out daily from this resort city.

Not in many seasons has fishing been quite so good here and the huge schools so insistent in lolling about in the waters just a short distance offshore, where they may be seen daily, are splashing about as they chase schools of anchovies and sardines, on which the barracuda, bonito and other game fish live.

All-night service to the Olympic barge Saturday nights offers opportunity for the sport under a blaze of electric lights and for early morning fishing Sundays.

HOME FIGURES MIXED UP AT SAN FERNANDO

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 9.—There is a mix-up in house numbering here which is now being straightened out. This city is a municipality by itself, but a big part of the town lies also in Los Angeles, or what is known as the San Fernando Valley annex to the city of Los Angeles. Not long ago Los Angeles inspectors took off all the numbers of houses on the north side of Fox street and replaced them with the metropolitan numbers. Now the local Council has discovered that the house numbers were right in the first place and must be replaced.

HOME FOR OLD LADIES PLANNED AT TUJUNGA

TUJUNGA, Aug. 9.—A movement has been started here to organize an old ladies' home, following a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty. It is estimated that the site proposed and the first unit of the home will cost about $20,000. It was stated by Attorney C. W. Byrer that for each inmate which the institution plans to receive there must be invested in approved securities not less than $10,000. Leading women in the Tujunga district are interested in the proposed establishment of the home.

POLICE CHIEF DENIES GUILT

Answers Assault Charge of His Predecessor

Elsinore Hears Sequel to Midnight Fisticuffs

Former Official Tells New Story of Dispute

ELSINORE, Aug. 9. — Climaxing fisticuffs that thudded on official Elsinore chins over a period of two days, Chief of Police Robert G. Ward of this city was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kalina here today on a charge of assault and battery, sworn to by former Chief of Police Roy G. Ferrell, as a sequel to the officers' midnight fight in the City Hall Tuesday.

Chief Ward, who surrendered upon hearing when he returned from Los Angeles that a warrant was awaiting him, pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial.

JUSTICE DISQUALIFIED

Because of his association with the city government as clerk, Justice Kalina disqualified himself and announced that he will call in another justice of the peace to sit in the trial. For that reason, no definite date could be given the hearing but it is believed that the trial can be scheduled for some time next week if the time can be arranged with the visiting magistrate. Leonard Difani of Riverside, or H. J. Stahl of Corona may be called upon to preside at the hearing.

Kalina has also disqualified himself in the two cases against Fred Earl with whom Ferrell clashed on a downtown street Wednesday and it is planned to conduct both the trials in one day. Earl is charged with resisting arrest and assault and battery.

SLURS DISCLAIMED

Ferrell today gave a new version of the preliminaries leading up to his bout with the Police Chief Tuesday night, denying that he had made any slurring remarks to Mrs. Ward as she passed him on the street just a few moments prior to the melee.

"I didn't see Mrs. Ward that night," he declared. "I was sitting in front of the City Hall when Ward came up to me and said: 'Are you busy?' When I told him I wasn't he asked me to come into the City Hall. We went in.

"What do you mean by telling around town that I'm associating with women on the edge of town here?' he asked me. I meant just that, I told him. He then hit me and we fought for several moments. When we finished I told him the fight hadn't changed my mind about him and so he went home. As for washing my face and laying me on a bench, that is foolishness. He did nothing of the kind."

Young Speaks at Bell Road Celebration

BELL, Aug. 9.—Twenty-five thousand persons danced tonight on newly paved and lighted Baker avenue, celebrating the opening of this two-mile strip of this city's main thoroughfare.

Gov. Young spoke, congratulating the citizens on this improvement. Mayor A. L. Clarkson launched the ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. by introducing Nancy Drexel, actress, who turned on the new ornamental lights flanking the two-mile stretch. She and the Mayor led the grand march, which ushered in dancing in the streets.

Mayors of other towns who were present were Otto J. Benedict of Huntington Park, Andrew J. Schoby of South Gate and Frank M. Gardner of Maywood. Jack Retlaw headed the celebration committee.

Idle Studio Back in Use

MONROVIA, Aug. 9. — After standing idle more than a year, the former studio of the Victor Adamson Picture Corporation, now known as the Santa Fe studio of Liberty Pictures, Inc., has been remodeled and equipment installed to make sound pictures. Activity is expected to be under way this week, according to Eugene Taylor, Jr., vice-president of Liberty Pictures and director.

The company expects to produce a series of sound cartoons in charge of Thomas White. In addition the studio will produce short talking features, as well as synchronize silent films with sound.

The company has installed a sound-proof room in the rear of the studio. Two portable sound-proof projection rooms also have been constructed.

Flyers Propose Organization

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 9.—Formation of a Santa Barbara chapter of the National Aeronautical Association of the United States is under way among airplane pilots and those interested in aviation here. Fifty members have been listed, it was announced today.

George E. Eisner, local merchant and aviation enthusiast, is heading the group which is to form the branch with authority from the national association. A meeting of all persons interested is planned for the near future. Earl Ovington, commodore of the Santa Barbara Aero Club, has indorsed the movement and has promised the support of the club's membership.

ORANGE COUNTY'S FLYERS IN DERBY

Sacha (Peggy) Hall

SANTA ANA, Aug. 9.—Orange county will have two representatives in the women's airplane derby to Cleveland starting the 18th inst., it was revealed today when the entry of Mrs. Florence Lowe Barnes of Laguna Beach and Pasadena, was forwarded to derby officials. The entry of Miss Sacha (Peggy) Hall had already been made.

Miss Hall took off today for Los Angeles and will fly from there to San Bernardino Friday. She will fly her Travel-Air plane over the entire course and return before the start of the race. Miss Hall's entry is sponsored by the Union Oil Company.

CHURCH BURGLAR ESCAPES

Choir Members Join in Chase Through Darkened Building But Lose Him

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 9.—Chasing a burglar through the dark interior of the First Methodist Church last night, Albert Broad, choir director, and his first soloist, A. H. Waltz, were eluded when the thwarted invader found a door. While the chase lasted, police reported, pews, chairs and other obstructions in the darkness became hurdles.

Broad and Waltz noted a dim light in the church basement, at Arizona avenue and Fourth street, shortly after they had left choir practice. Both dashed into the building, and the burglar promptly extinguished the light. In his haste to escape, he ran into the Sunday-school rooms, his pursuers on his heels. He got away through a side entrance of the building.

That the burglar had concealed himself with the purpose of stealing the silver communion service and other articles, was the police theory. When the choir left, he apparently unlocked the door he used later for his escape, and then proceeded to the burglarizing. Use of a light proved to be his mistake, for Broad and Waltz, after leaving, returned past the church. He is believed to be the same youth who took $5 in pennies from St. Augustine's Episcopal Church early yesterday morning. Rev. Wallace N. Pierson, the rector, met him at the door and was greeted with a friendly "Good morning." Later it was found that one of the penny boxes in the church had been robbed.

PASADENA MANAGER GOES ON VACATION

PASADENA, Aug. 9.—City Manager R. V. Orbison left all his family valuables under lock and key at the City Jail and left on a vacation today. Orbison, who had planned an automobile trip to Lake Tahoe and other Northern California points, was accompanied by his wife and daughter, and expected to be away from the City Hall two weeks. Prof. R. L. Daugherty, chairman of the Board of City Directors, automatically assumed the City Manager's duties.

VALLEY EDITORS GET TOGETHER

Eighteen Cities Represented at Covina Picnic

Unit of State Publishers' Body Suggested

Would Circulate Reports to Member Papers

COVINA, Aug. 9.—Formation of a San Gabriel Valley unit of the California Publishers' Association was discussed here this afternoon, when more than 100 newspaper men of the valley with their families assembled in City Park for a picnic.

C. O. Shoop, editor of the Puente Journal, chairman of arrangements, presided as master of ceremonies. Speeches were made by Mayor George Maxfield, who welcomed the newspaper men, and by local newspaper editors, Henry L. Marshall and George Rinehart.

It was decided that the get together of newspaper men be made an annual event, and that the al fresco sessions of the unit be held in the various cities represented in the association.

Newspaper representatives from eighteen cities in the valley were in attendance.

To bring about a better spirit of co-operation between valley newspapers, it was decided that a news exchange be organized through the California Publishers' Association, and that all copy be released through the association. It was further pointed out that in this manner news concerning development of the valley would be released at one time to the newspapers and by this method would receive a greater volume of publicity.

Street Color Scheme Chosen

MONROVIA, Aug. 9.—A survey among property owners along the section of Foothill Boulevard, recently widened and improved, disclosed that a color scheme of blue and white for traffic signs, was favored ten to one. The new street signs, which will also be installed along Myrtle avenue, will be white letters set in a blue background and will be four inches wide and twenty inches long.

The signs will be placed on light standards, two on each intersection on opposite sides of the street, and placed on Myrtle avenue between Huntington Drive and Foothill Boulevard, and on Foothill Boulevard between Mayflower avenue and Canyon Boulevard, according to Mayor A. J. Little.

Arnold Gets Fellowship

SAN MARINO, Aug. 9.—Dr. Ralph Arnold, Republican leader and geologist, who resides at 1025 Wilson avenue, today received notice of his selection as a Fellow of the California Academy of Sciences. The letter recited that the honor was conferred on the basis of "your great work on the paleontology and stratigraphy of the marine pleistocene at San Pedro, and because of your long and distinguished career as a level-headed man of science, whose contributions have been of high grade."

Dr. Arnold is an alumnus of Throop Polytechnic Institute, forerunner of the California Institute of Technology. He is a personal friend of President Hoover, and was active in the campaign last fall.

ZONE LAW APPROVED

SAN FERNANDO, Aug. 9.—The new zoning ordinance here which establishes seven building zones and regulating the class of buildings to be erected has been approved by the City Council. Maclay avenue, from Hollister to Eighth street, has been designated as a future business district. A map to show the newly created seven zones is being prepared by the city engineer.

AGUA CALIENTE REWARDS PAID

Money-Car Bandits' Arrest Valued at $6000

San Diego Chief Now Faces Task of Division

Officers and Civilians to Share in Payments

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 9.—Police today received two checks totaling $6000 from the Agua Caliente Company as reward money to be divided among officers and citizens responsible for the arrest and conviction of the slayers of the two money-car guards on May 20.

Division of the money will fall upon Chief of Police Arthur Hill, who is confronted with the intricate problem of apportioning it out to Los Angeles as well as San Diego officers and citizens who worked on the case.

In addition one-third of all the reward money given to local police officers goes into the police relief pension fund. This will be taken care of after the entire reward has been distributed.

SHORTAGE IN PICKERS OF COTTON

Thousand Workers Said to be Needed in Fields Around Calipatria

CALIPATRIA, Aug. 9.—Cotton growers are needing 1000 pickers to handle the harvest in this district, according to W. B. Coberly of the Imperial Mill and Ginning Company.

Coberly stated that the local gin turned out seven bales during the past week and the picking would become general in this district within the next two weeks.

In the Imperial Valley of Mexico several ranchers are now picking from volunteer fields, but ginning operations will not be started before the 10th inst., it was stated.

MELON SHIPMENTS TO EXCEED 20,000 CARS

BRAWLEY, Aug. 9.—Although the normal shipping period ended nearly a month ago, cantaloupes are still being harvested in this district, according to the report of Southern Pacific officials today. The season's output, which originally was estimated at 18,000 crates, has now exceeded 19,500 and including truck consignments will total over 20,000 cars, according to estimates made by shippers.

ORANGE COUNTY SEES HUGE ORANGE EXPORT

ORANGE, Aug. 9.—The California Fruit Growers' Exchange, of which the Orange County Fruit Exchange is a unit, expects to export to Europe this summer 1,000,000 cases of Valencia oranges, L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange county unit, announced here today. The fruit will be going forward by refrigerated boats until well into October, he said.

"The associations affiliated with this exchange had exported up to July 31, a total of 62,923 boxes of Valencia oranges, 2414 boxes of grapefruit, and in all probability, before the close of the season will export another 70,000 boxes to Europe. In addition to that we have exported 9430 boxes of Valencias, 175 boxes of lemons and 265 boxes of grapefruit to Honolulu; 2067 boxes to China; 2304 boxes to New Zealand and 215 boxes to Japan," he said.

UPLAND LEMONS BRING HIGH PRICES

UPLAND, Aug. 9.—Back-east folk who are turning to lemonade for a thirst quencher are using a large quantity of Upland lemons and consequently the price on the local fruit is much higher.

According to Earl Johnson, manager of Mountain View Fruit Association, part of a car of lemons shipped east by his company sold for nearly $15 per box in the open market. The price on the car averaged a little more than $14.

These prices are higher than they have been on local lemons in several years.

MILKMAN RUN OVER BY HIS OWN WAGON

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 9.—James L. Nichols, 25 years of age, was run over by his own wagon early today, when the horse attached to it became frightened and ran away. Nichols, a milk-wagon driver, was preparing to embark on his morning deliveries, when the accident happened, at 3095 Nile street, police said. The victim was not thought to be seriously hurt although there is a possibility that he sustained internal injuries when the rear wheel passed over his abdomen. He was taken to his home at 3029 Columbine street.

DIXON CHOSEN FOR EDUCATION BOARD

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 9.—E. S. Dixon last night was elected to fill the vacancy on the Board of Education made by the resignation of W. W. Hodgkins, veteran clerk of the board for twelve years, who recently removed to Ontario. Dixon has long been active in civic affairs here and is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, was the first Toparch of the Sciot Pyramid and chairman of the Boy Scout Court of Honor. He is president of the Centinela Insurance Agency.

WANTED RANCHER GIVES UP

Asserted Assailant of Dry Raider Appears With Eyes and Face Battered

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 9.—Accompanied by an attorney, E. Guy Wadsworth, Oro Grande rancher, accused of attacking Deputy Sheriff J. A. Larson, chief of the county prohibition enforcement squad, with a monkey wrench, walked into the Sheriff's office at noon today and surrendered. He had been hunted for three days on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Wadsworth, both of his eyes blackened and his face bruised, refused to make a statement. His attorney, J. R. Galles, stated that Wadsworth was not guilty.

Meanwhile Larson is at the County Hospital slowly recovering from serious injuries said to have been inflicted when Wadsworth attacked and beat him into unconsciousness with the wrench early Wednesday morning when the officer attempted to search Wadsworth's car. A fight which continued for nearly a half-hour followed, Wadsworth fleeing when a rancher approached the scene, two miles north of the city, on a lonely road.

Rev. O'Neall Quits Pulpit

ALHAMBRA, Aug. 9.—Resignation of Rev. Kelly O'Neall, D.D., pastor of the First Christian Church, was accepted Wednesday night by the church board, John L. Mills, board chairman announced. The resignation becomes effective not later than October 1 and was announced Sunday by Rev. O'Neall.

The pastor tendered his resignation that he might devote more time to his work at the California Christian College. He has accepted a pastorate at the Huntington Park Christ Church, a smaller institution than the Alhambra church, which has a membership of 650 persons. He expects to have more time for his college work under the new plan.

The board expressed regret over the termination of Rev. O'Neall's five-year service. Mr. Mills intimated that no successor had been selected and that the church might be without a permanent pastor for some time.

Street Dips Called Menace

ONTARIO, Aug. 9.—Aroused by accidents to motorists and threats of suits for damages because of deep dips on streets crossing Campus avenue, City Engineer Nugent will recommended to the City Council a program for removal of the dips by repaving streets at the intersections and possibly repaving Campus avenue, a principal east and west thoroughfare.

The dips are there because earlier engineers planned to have storm waters carried off in the deep gutters. Proper removal of the dips will necessitate considerable paving of the streets and Nugent will recommend lowering the crown of Campus avenue at least six inches.

Recently a Long Beach merchant threatened to sue the city for injuries he received by bumping his head on a cross bar of his car while crossing one of the Campus-avenue dips.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED FOR CENTENARIAN

VAN NUYS, Aug. 9.—Funeral services were conducted from the Mexican Methodist Church for Mrs. Cecelia Fernandes, with interment in Oakwood Cemetery. Mrs. Fernandes was said to be 108 years of age, and the oldest person in California. She had only lived in the State a few years, being a native of old Mexico.

LAS TUNAS DRIVE BIDS DUE MONDAY

SAN GABRIEL, Aug. 9.—Bids for the improvement of a six-mile section of East Las Tunas Drive at a cost of $650,000 will be called by the County Board of Supervisors Monday. The improvement is part of the Arrow Highway project. Money for immediate possession has been deposited with the Superior Court. The improvement is to extend for six miles east of San Gabriel Boulevard.

ADDICT HOSPITAL OPPOSED

Redlands School Executives and Business Groups Fight Yucaipa Narcotic Farm Proposal

REDLANDS, Aug. 9.—Though it is reported that F. G. Benson, chairman of a committee appointed by the Governor to select a site for the Federal narcotic addicts farm, is taking back a most favorable report of the Yucaipa site, Redlands interests led by the Chamber of Commerce are opposed to it being established in this section.

The local Rotary Club took stand against the erection of such a hospital or farm in this vicinity, adopting resolution to this effect.

"Smugglers are certain wherever there is a narcotic farm," Dr. J. E. Eytinge declared. "There is the danger of escape. Such a hospital here could be of benefit only to the person who sells the land. Yucaipa would be hurt, as all the land in the vicinity would immediately depreciate in value. It would make of this community an undesirable place in which to live."

Dr. Victor Leroy Duke, president of the University of Redlands, spoke on behalf of his education institution saying that the university board had taken a strong stand against this movement and that the present site of the university would never have been chosen if there had been even the most remote possibility of the erection of a narcotic hospital around here.

Henry Clement, president of Rotary and superintendent of schools here, declared that the shadow of such a hospital near Redlands would immeasurably hurt the attendance at the university. The resolution was moved by Charles H. Clock.

FIREMEN RE-ELECT MYERS

San Francisco Gets 1930 Convention of State Association in Closing Sessions

FULLERTON, Aug. 9.—Capt. W. A. Myers of the Los Angeles Fire Department and president of the California State Firemen's Association was today re-elected to that position without opposition at the closing session of the seventh annual convention here.

A complete ticket of incumbent officers was returned without opposition, including R. E. Thompson of Stockton, first vice-president; W. C. Fox, Santa Ana, second vice-president; T. S. Ward, Red Bluff, third vice-president; A. Olcovich, Redlands, recording secretary, and H. E. Strasser, San Diego, secretary-treasurer.

San Francisco will be the 1930 convention city, it was decided at the morning session. Monterey and Vallejo, chief contenders for the honor, were eliminated in the final balloting.

THOUSAND PRESENT

More than 1000 delegates and visiting firemen had registered for the various sessions of the convention up to noon today and much enthusiasm and many spirited fights on the floor of the convention chamber in the Fox Mission Theater here marked the final sessions today.

President Myers was given an ovation upon his nomination and a second demonstration occurred with every delegate and visiting fireman on his feet when the re-election of the president was formally announced.

Resolutions urging fire prevention, reforestation and range improvement and the adoption of uniform ordinances throughout the State for the control and use of fireworks were adopted at the morning session.

EIGHT-HOUR SHIFT URGED

A resolution placing the convention on record as favoring an eight-hour day for firemen, occasioned considerable discussion, particularly from representatives of the smaller departments, but was approved by the association in a final vote. The resolution carries no legislative suggestions and leaves the matter of application entirely to the local departments, according to their own particular conditions.

Advertising by air and in the convention hall, the city of Long Beach put in a bid for the 1930 convention to be held there.

The convention came to a formal close tonight with the presentation of a premiere showing of Colleen Moore and James Hall in their latest talking picture with Hall and other film stars appearing in person at the Fox Mission Theater. Firemen and their wives were guests of honor at this event.

WILD CAR STARTS GE

Two Injured and Traffic Gets Wi... Gear Fails and Auto Crashes H...

GLENDALE, Aug. 9.—Breaking of the steering gear of the machine driven by M. R. Hatfield, 2637 Blimp street, Los Angeles, struck a fire hydrant at Doran street and San Fernando Road here as a result that a stream of water spouted nearly 200 feet in the air, drenching passing motorists and blocking traffic until the water was turned off by the water department.

Hatfield told Officers Condy and Preston that he was trying to make a left-hand turn when the steering gear failed, and the presence of a second machine also complicated the situation. C. L. Knappenburger, Frankfort, Ind., who was riding with Hatfield, was treated for a three-inch gash on top of the head, received when the car struck the hydrant.

In the second machine, driven by Y. Amaco, 4117 Lexington avenue, Hollywood, Lila Virgil, 5 years of age, was cut on the left temple when Amaco swerved to avoid colliding with Hatfield's car.

BONELLI TO PAY 'MORAL' OBLIGATIONS

Defeated Mayor Candidate Gets Court Authority for Payment of $6403.43

Although William G. Bonelli, defeated candidate at the recent mayoralty election, was absolved by the court of debts incurred by his supporters in the campaign, he appeared in Superior Judge Craig's court yesterday, and asked for a court order permitting him to pay $6403.43 that it has been held legally he doesn't owe.

"Under the law, these bills are uncollectible, but I feel I am morally responsible for them, and I want to pay them, anyway," said Mr. Bonelli. "The money is on deposit in a bank, and when the court adjudicates the accounts, they will be paid."

By having the Superior Court pass on more than 500 claims, Mr. Bonelli, who now is a practicing attorney, will be spared the atrocious task of passing on the validity of each individual claim and will avoid what might turn out to be an embarrassing situation.

In Bonelli's petition, it is stated that the candidate did not personally incur the expenses listed, but that they were authorized by volunteer workers acting for him. As these men had no power of attorney, their authorization did not bind Mr. Bonelli, and suits filed against him in Municipal Court were dismissed.

Judge Craig granted the petition, and ordered the bills paid. Then he permitted Mr. Bonelli to file an amended expense account with the County Recorder, adding to the amount he already had acknowledged as his expenses. Incidentally, Judge Craig's order has the legal effect of releasing him from further responsibility for campaign debts incurred during the race for mayor.

Vacant House Gas Explosion Damages Won

The gas company must pay $438.50 for damages to Harry Penn, 8 years of age, who was injured by a gas explosion when he went into a vacant house looking for a baseball that he had thrown through a window.

The explosion occurred when young Penn struck a match. The defendant, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, contended Penn was a trespasser, and was guilty of contributory negligence.

"FREE MOONEY," SPEAKER'S PLEA

Mass Meeting Urges Pardon for Bombing Convict

Moderate Counsels Upset by Radical's Speech

"Frighten Governor Till He Acts," Shouts Sinclair

Demand that Gov. Young grant an unconditional pardon to Tom Mooney, serving a life term in San Quentin for the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb outrage, was made by a list of speakers at a meeting at Trinity Auditorium last night. The meeting was presided over by Arthur E. Briggs.

The speakers were unanimous in asserting that Mooney was convicted as the result of prejured testimony and several of them expressed confidence that after the Governor has completed his study of the case he will pardon Mooney. Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Call, was one of those who made such a prediction, but he cautioned his listeners that he has no assurance of that nature from the Governor.

TRIAL JUDGE SPEAKS

The lengthiest speech of the evening was made by Judge Franklin A. Griffin, before whom Mooney was tried and convicted, and who sentenced him. Judge Griffin gave a minute history of the Mooney case and told of the happening after the trial which caused him to reach the conviction that it had been a miscarriage of justice.

He asserted that all but one of the State's chief witnesses in the trial have subsequently retracted their testimony and that the testimony of the remaining witness has been thoroughly discredited. He said that as a result of this the case has crumbled away until there remains "not a jot or scintilla of evidence against Mooney."

TIME FOR GOVERNOR

Older followed with a plea for patience to allow the Governor to come to a reasoned decision and then added a statement of confidence as to the eventual decision of the Governor. He said that he understands the Governor will be ready to make his decision within about six weeks.

His plea for patience was echoed by several of the other speakers, none of whom has been identified with radical movements. The final speech of the evening was made by Upton Sinclair and he took an altogether different course from his predecessors, making a typical flaming appeal not to trust a "capitalist politician" but to "make such a noise that you will frighten the Governor."

RADICAL'S IDEAS

"I sat here tonight and listened to one good man after another counseling you to have patience," he said, "and I think it about time you heard from a bad one. I don't want to give the Governor six weeks more; I don't want to give him six days more."

Other speakers included Father Robert E. Lucey, Rev. E. P. Ryland, secretary of the Church Federation; Rabbi Herman Lissauer, Joseph Ford, attorney; Lew Head, J. W. Bunsell, and Ignatius McCarty, who as a member of the secret service of the United States Department of Labor, investigated the case for President Wilson. McCarty told a colorful tale of installing a dictagraph in the office of Dist.-Atty. Fickert of San Francisco, who conducted the Mooney prosecution.

Japanese Navy Vessels to Pay Visit at Port

Announcement of the arrival here of two Japanese warships at Los Angeles Harbor on the morning of the 27th inst. for a friendly visit was made by Tsuichiro Takaoka, acting Japanese Consul, at a dinner at the Hollywood Athletic Club last evening.

The Consul stated that the ships Ashaima and Iwate of the Imperial navy are coming for a brief visit.

POLE-PERCH "RACE" WILL BEGIN TODAY

Marjorie Kerr Practices

Two days and a night atop poles scattered through the Redondo Beach business section is the task upon which seven men and women will embark at 8 o'clock this morning, when the beach city's "Endurance Pole Sitting Contest" starting gun is fired.

From that time until 11 p.m. Sunday the entrants will sit motionless on their lofty perches, with a ten-minute rest every two hours. During this time, according to rules issued by the Redondo Beach Boosters' Association, contestants may not talk or read, eat, or wave or make other motions. They may perform no stunts of any sort. Pillows will not be permitted.

A prize of $100 will be awarded to the winner, or will be divided among as many contestants as still are sitting at 11 o'clock Sunday night.

Among the entrants is "Smiling Jim" J. C. Forrestt, who has no legs, but who believes he can climb his pole and sit there as well as any other contestant. As a special concession the sponsors of the contest have built him a sturdier ladder than those furnished other entrants.

Contestants were busy yesterday practicing for the event and familiarizing themselves with life atop a pole. Among those who were thus engaged when newspaper men visited the scene was Marjorie Kerr, Redondo girl, who is shown in the accompanying picture.

Child Believed Kidnaped While Mother Worked

While her mother was at a studio working in a motion picture, 3-year-old Judy Reisman is believed to have been kidnaped yesterday from her home at 5145 1-4 De Longpre avenue, according to a report made to police of the Hollywood division by Ruth Perrin, a next-door neighbor.

Miss Perrin said that about 12:30 p.m. she saw a handsome, dark-haired woman talking to Judy in front of the house. A moment later the woman lifted the child into an expensive sedan and drove away. Miss Perrin thought nothing of the incident, believing the woman to have been a family friend, until an elderly woman employed by Mrs. Reisman to care for Judy during her absence came from the house, where she had been telephoning, and spread the alarm. Then Miss Perrin reported the disappearance to the police.

HARBOR PILOT IN STATE POST

Capt. "Bob" Judson Picked for San Francisco Job

Third from This Port to be Advanced During Year

Chilean Naval Training Ship Off for Northern Points

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

The excellence of Los Angeles shipmasters as mariners and navigators again was attested yesterday by the appointment of Capt. Robert E. (Bob) Judson to the staff of San Francisco Bar Pilots, a State post by Gov. Young.

Capt. Judson is a resident of San Pedro and has been a municipal pilot at Los Angeles Harbor. His new apointment, which generally is regarded as the highest niche to which a navigator can climb, also is far more remunerative than the post he is leaving.

The appointment comes to a man regarded possibly as one of the most popular and widely-known masters in the American Merchant Marine, with years of experience in the passenger and freighting trade both intercostal and offshore, in the services of the Panama Mail and the old Pacific Mail steamship companies. He has had an enviable reputation both as a navigator and seaman.

The appointment of Capt. Judson to the State's pilot staff is the third to go to Los Angeles masters within the year. Capt. "Bill" Magee of the Lasco liner Harvard received the honor first, followed a few months ago by Capt. Arthur Self of the Lasco liner City of Honolulu.

SOUTH AMERICAN VISITORS DEPART

After almost a week in port the Chilean naval training ship Gen. Baquedano sailed at 2 p.m. yesterday for San Francisco and points north. With its master, Capt. Edguardo Von Schoeders, as interpreter, officers and cadets from the ship were guests of the Chile Steamship Company yesterday morning on a tour of the near-by oil fields and refineries, escorted by J. A. Wilson of the line and H. C. Pickering of the Wickersham shipping offices. The visitors were conducted by H. V. Jordan and B. O'Connor, vice-president of the Texas Oil Company, first to see wells drilled, pumping and flowing at Signal Hill, and afterward through the refinery at Wilmington to watch distillation in its various stages.

Import duties through Los Angeles Harbor were enhanced about $44,000 yesterday on arrival of the British motorship Lycia to discharge 22,000 bags of sugar from Cuba. The duty is in the neighborhood of 2 cents a pound. The vessel has nearly 70,000 bags aboard, the rest, and several hundred tons of salt, being for ports north. The vessel is chartered to the Canadian Transport Company, with Furness, Pacific as local representative.

Two hundred and thirty-five passengers yesterday had been booked for passage to Hawaii on the Lasco Line flagship City of Los Angeles, sailing at noon today, and the addition of several last-minute travelers was expected. Fruits, building materials, potash, asphalt, cement and icehouse cargo will fill the ship's holds.

Among the travelers will be James B. Gist and Herbert H. Smock, vice-presidents of the Security First National Bank, and their wives; Helen M. Laughlin, dean of women at the University of California at Los Angeles; Charles V. Ewan, air transport pilot, Anaheim; Herman C. Bunjes, Los Angeles banker; John E. Wheatley, professor at University of Southern California, and Joseph R. Jones, banker of Alhambra.

Berth 59 in the outer harbor yesterday was temporarily assigned by Port Manager Edwards to the new Hammond-Christenson Line, now inaugurating a freighting service between Los Angeles and North Pacific ports. The service gradually is adding ships and is expected ultimately to have three sailings weekly out of here.

Fourteen plains ponies from the Argentine will arrive on the McCormick steamer West Ivis from Buenos Aires tomorrow morning. They are said to be the first importations for domestic trade use arriving here from South America.

Thirty-nine passengers are due on the Dollar trans-Pacific liner President Taft from the Orient, via San Francisco at noon tomorrow. A large number are returning missionaries, and the ship will carry out many more destined for the Orient Monday. Fifteen hundred tons of cargo will be discharged and a like amount loaded.
